Fall

We began our final year at Riverside full of hope and glory — hope for our football team, and glory in being a "Viking." We cheered our football team on to some memorable victories, and we enjoyed the season to the fullest. (p. 6)

Our units set the pace for us to follow. Spirit abounding, they took to the field at half time to rouse the audience. (p. 14)

But one special half-time commanded our attention more than all the rest; our Homecoming Queen, Kathy Casey, was crowned in October. Her court was composed of the following girls: Leslie Coombs, Princess; Georgene Pisano, Princess; Doreen Woosman, Princess; and Kim Ruthkosky, Princess. (p. 12)

Not to be forgotten is Riverside's golf team. The team had an outstanding season, with a record of 8 wins and 3 losses. Coach Helcoski relied heavily on Senior Roger Kaetzel, and he did not experience disappointment. (p. 4)

In back of every good class stands a good faculty. Though the teachers are usually in the background while the students get all the recognition, good students cannot exist without a good faculty to support and guide them. (p. 22)

It seems fitting to put our Class Prophecy in the fall, since we are making outlines of our future. (p. 34)

Golf

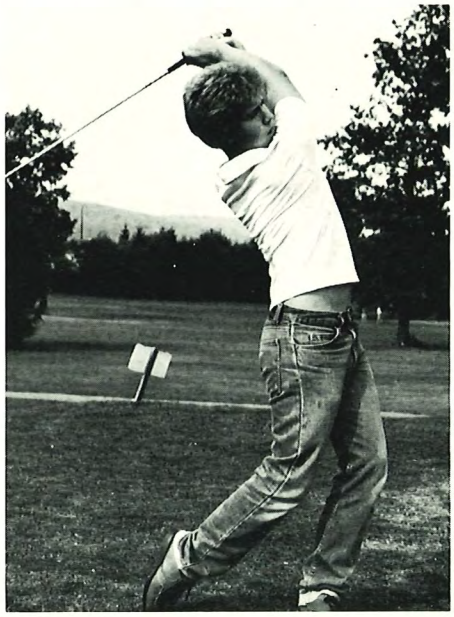

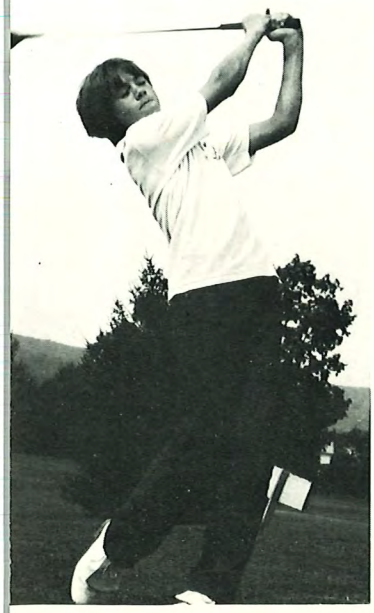

The Viking golf team acquired respected success during their season. Their season record of 8 and 3 was proof of it.

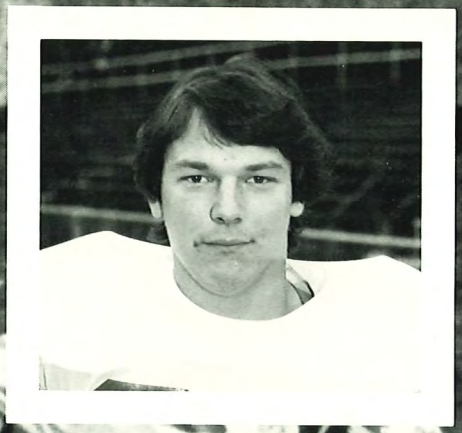

Except for hard-nosed competition such as the Scranton Prep Cavilers, who beat our Vikings by a score of (0-9), and the Bruins of Bishop O'Hara, who defeated the Vikes with a (3-6) final, the Vikes were a formidable team in the Lackawanna League. However, their true talent helped them defeat such teams as:

Old Forge (6½-2½)
Dunmore (7½-1½)
Tech (8-1)
Bishop Hannon (6-3)
Seton Catholic (9-0)
Central (5-4)
and West Side (8-1)

The quarter final victory was captured by Riverside who won with a score of (5½-3½). This qualified them for semi-final action against Scranton Prep, who once again overpowered the Vikes with a score of (2½-6½).

1983 Viking

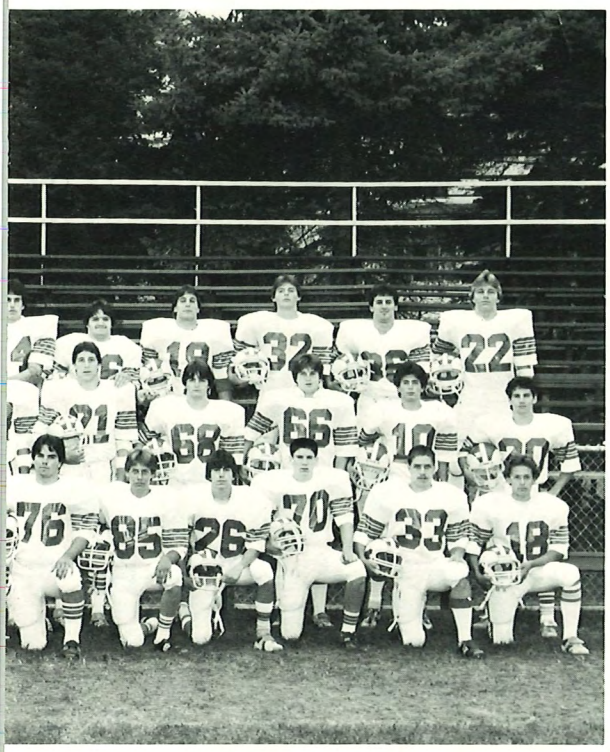

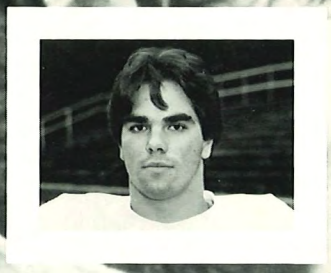

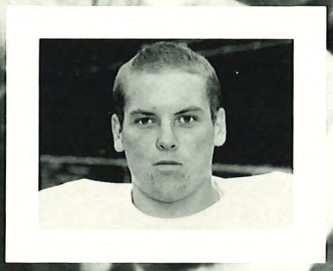

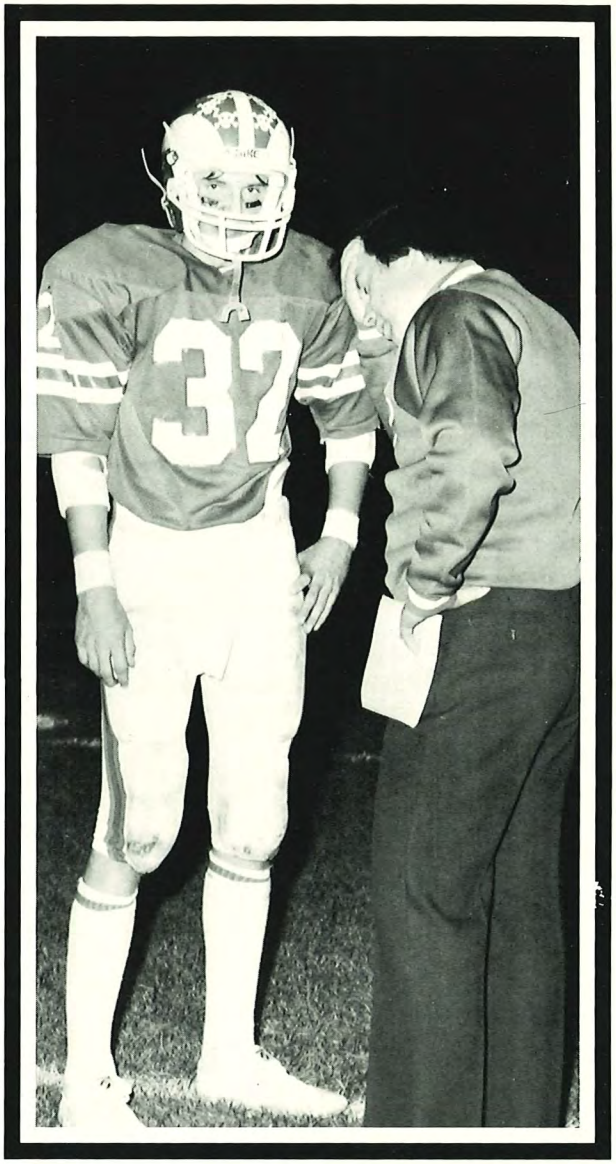

Football

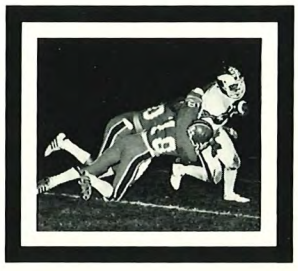

Although the going was rough for our '82 Vikings, who finished the season with a 4-7 record, their spirits were never down when it came time for their next challenge. The season opened with the West Side Invaders who outscored the Vikes (6-0), but in their hearts it was victory #1. The mighty Chiefs of Lakeland provided loss number two beating the Vikes 13-7. The Vikings then traveled to Valley View to meet the Cougars who once again showed them what defeat was by beating them 39-19. The Dunmore Bucks gave new life to the Riverside team as we defeated them by a score of 19-8. Victory number two for the Vikings came by way of the Scranton Tech Red Raiders, who lost the battle 23-6. With Homecoming Night hearts filled with hope, the Vikings just couldn't muster another win and really felt the 36-14 loss given by the Trojans of North Pocono. What was anticipated as an easy win for Riverside by the Abington Comets turned into a forgettable 13-0 loss. Our Vikings did the best they could to overpower the Central Golden Eagles, but the scoreboard revealed otherwise in a 12-0 loss for our Vikes. A night to remember for a long time to come was our victory over the Scranton Prep Cavaliers. We showed them what we've got and it proved to be enough, for the final tally was 15-14. It was a rainy victory, but nevertheless a victory for the Vikes who beat the Spartans of MidValley 21-0. Our Vikings felt the fork of the ruthless Devils, and Devils they were, for they defeated us 12-0. But we kept our spirits up to the end, and we never lost sight of our goal of winning. Although we didn't defeat every team we played, our display of hard work and teamwork proved that we became the winners we set out to be.

Faculty Administration Board of Education

Our school system is a multi-faceted entity — a diverse student population provides the body and character reflected in academic and athletic achievement; supportive personnel maintain the physical machinery of education enabling it to proceed smoothly and efficiently; a responsive board of education evaluates the needs of the system and formulates policies addressed to those needs; a caring administration maintains the standards allowing all to receive a quality of education unattainable just a few short years ago; an experienced, personal faculty guides us along a twisting path that leads from innocence to awareness.

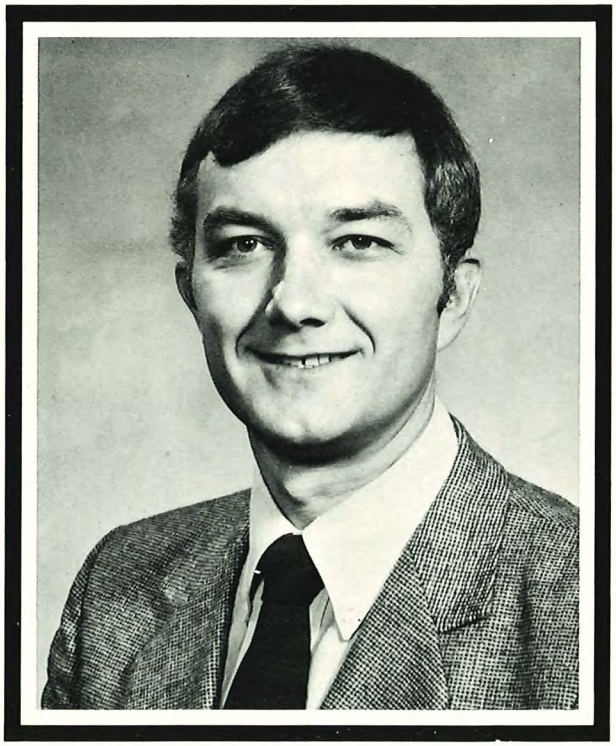

We at Riverside are fortunate in having a system directed by people who understand the value of the educational process and who can relate this understanding to the students who so heavily rely upon their actions and decisions. The Class of 1983 recognizes the degree of dedication exhibited by our directors, administrators, and faculty and realizes that through their commitment and through our relationship with them, the future we hold will be one of hope.

Class

Moderator: The scene is at a health aid center in downtown Scranton, Pa., where two registered nurses are picking up supplies for their hospitals.
Ellen: Paul, Paul Bouselli? The one from Riverside's class of '83.
Paul: Yes, that's right, you do look very familiar. Wait — it's coming to me — wait, Fuller! Ellen Fuller!
Ellen: Gee, I haven't heard anything about you since I read about yours and Marla's wedding in the paper. So how's her business?
Paul: Oh! Her sun tan business. Just great. She owns chains of suntan booths in malls across America.
Ellen: That's fantastic! I bet you're really making the money now. So what did you make of your life, Paul?
Paul: I graduated as a registered nurse and now I run a burn center for people who have over-exposure to the sun. But mostly, I treat Marla's tanned rejects. The clinic's really nice, I have some of Bill Browning's paintings that I picked up at his art gallery.
Ellen: You're kidding! Bill Browning is an artist?
Paul: Sure is. He's done most of the art work in Randy Wolk's playboy clubs on the east coast.
Ellen: I can't believe it, it's like all of these people completed their high school dreams. I read so much about members of our class in the paper.
Paul: I did too. Why just recently, I read about Mike Cikowski winning the all new Moosic 500 with his silver firebird and Sue Brosky placing second with her jeep Cherokee.
Ellen: I saw that in the Times. And you know who was his chief mechanic?
Paul: No, I don't know, who?
Ellen: Wayne Smerdon.
Paul: That's funny, he seemed like the type who wouldn't want to get his hands dirty. Hey, you know who's doing good for himself?
Ellen: No, who?
Paul: Lisa Beyrent.
Ellen: Really, what's she doing?
Paul: When I went up to the Mercy Hospital —
Ellen: Mercy Hospital! I've been working there for 17 years. How come I've never run into you before?
Paul: I don't know, but anyway — getting back to Lisa — she's a Physical Therapist's Assistant there. Also, you remember Robbie Sochovka?
Ellen: Yeh, he used to live a couple houses down from me, but moved when he got drafted for a pro football team.
Paul: Well, yeah, Robbie was injured and Lisa was administering some therapy on him during his stay there. Speaking about medical-related areas, didn't they add a childcare ward onto the Taylor Rehabilitation Center?
Ellen: Yes, Carol Bennett was the head of the Department, but the children drove her to a nervous breakdown.
Paul: Well, who's running the place now?
Ellen: Noreen Bowen was hired to fill in for Carol until she recovers.
Paul: Speaking about children, every time I look at the birth section in the paper, Ellen and Jimmy Pietrosky are having another baby.
Ellen: Yes, a lot of kids got married right after graduation.
Paul: I saw Pam Jones' picture in the paper for Mother's Day and she has 3 beautiful children.
Ellen: Did anyone else get married lately?
Paul: Janet Ogden, Gayle Semian, and Denise Shea got married about 5 years after graduation.
Ellen: After graduation ... that seems so long ago. Everyone had such dreams for their future.
Paul: Yes, Kathy O'Malley didn't know what she wanted to do.
Ellen: What did she finally decide to do?
Paul: Well, I don't know how she did it, but now she is the manager of the WHO and Mrs. Roger Daltry.
Ellen: WoW! Did anyone else make it to the big time?
Paul: Yes, Denise Wastello is now an opera singer at the Metropolitan Opera House.
Ellen: Yeah, and I remember reading in the sports section that Kim Zahornacky became the women's world tennis champion.
Paul: I was watching TV the other night and I was so surprised to see Kim Wandalowski as a Pom Pon girl for the Dallas Cowboys.
Ellen: What about Robyn Horger and Bruce VanLouvender — did they ever make it to the U.S. Ski Team?
Paul: Did they make it! They both won gold medals in the 1996 Olympics.
Ellen: I heard Kim Snyder retired from track and field competition and became a track and field coach.
Paul: Ellen, do you keep up with any sports — I mean pro sports?
Ellen: Yeah, sure. As a matter of fact, I was going to ask you about some of our old classmates and the articles I read about them in various sports sections.
Paul: Well, then, how about names like Dave Beck or Eddie Plisko? And people like Jeff Pry and Jeff Ceccarelli?
Ellen: Yeah, I remember all those guys, what became of them?
Paul: Dave Beck is one of the highest paid point guards in the NBA and Eddie Plisko is a mamager with the New York Yankees. Eddie teaches the players the technique of using the upper body when hitting the baseball.
Ellen: I don't know why that didn't stand out in my mind when I read it.
Paul: I don't either, but you don't even remember Jeff Pry or Jeff Ceccarelli?
Ellen: I remember them, but not what they do.
Paul: Well, Jeff Pry took over Tug McGraw's position on the Philadelphia Phillies and Jeff Ceccarelli was appointed as the new track coach back at our Alma Mater.
Ellen: The only one that I remember who hit it big was Roger Kaetzel by winning the U.S. Open. And the last one out of my memory is John Kapacs. He's the coach of the Olympic Marksmen team. Mark Samsell, I always remembered him as being athletic. I figured he'd be one to play professional sports.
Paul: Nah! He owns a hat store for people with extremely large sizes. What about all of the people who we thought would be the star athletes of tomorrow?
Ellen: Oh, you mean people like Jerry Washo and Paul Panek?
Paul: Yeah, the good old "star athletes."
Ellen: Well, Jerry Washo married Linda Vince and now owns a fashion boutique, and Paul Panek is a graphic designer for Panel Prints which is owned and operated by Tom Mozeleski.
Paul: Did you catch the article in the paper about Nick Carruba, Dave Turner, Vernon Jennings, and Darren Davies?
Ellen: No.
Pual: They were all appointed as recruiters for the Armed Forces in the Northeastern section of Pa.
Ellen: Well, Dave Turner always did like the Army's haircuts.
Paul: Speaking about hair, Karen Peters is a beautician in Hollywood. She styles all of the movie stars' hair.
Ellen: Kim Ruthhowsky should have stuck with being a secretary instead of a beautician.
Paul: Why, what happened?
Ellen: She was coloring Denise Wargo's hair the other day and it didn't exactly come out as planned.
Paul: Why, what color is it now?
Ellen: Orange, and she has been trying for 2 months to change it back to her old color of...
Paul: What is Denise doing now?
Ellen: She's the manager of a secretarial school in Philadelphia.
Paul: Speaking about managing businesses, are there any kids who manage their own businesses?
Ellen: Yes, Suzie Cummings, Karen Gaughan, Suzette Gavigan, and Vicki Snyder own Club 17 and are now giving each other the business. Also, Robin Gable became the new president of the Gibbles Potato Chip company.
Paul: You know, Ellen, I can only think of a few boys who went into business for themselves.
Ellen: Like who?
Paul: Stephen Samsell got rich by patenting his own brand of chewing tobacco. Dave Krieg became a leading manufacturer of duck calls. Lennie Janeski became the owner of the new ice house in Moosic.
Ellen: Figures, he could only be places he thought were cool.
Paul: Paul Hughes runs a chicken farm right off Rocky Glen Road. I think that's where Tom Harrison got his start riding a motorcyle.
Ellen: Tom Harrison, what's he up to?
Paul: He's still in motocross making a big name for himself.
Ellen: I remember him and ah ... Tony, Tony Dubosky, used to talk about motorcycles all the time. What's Tony doing?
Paul: He's getting rich living off his father's business. You know, Ellen, the business almost burned down.
Ellen: Really, what happened?
Paul: I don'k know, but Moosic's new fire chief Chazz Alessi was quick on the scene to prevent any damage.
Ellen: What's going to become of Tony's business?
Paul: I heard that he hired Davis' Construction Company and Wayne made a contract with him to remodel. Have you taken a ride through Taylor lately? I've noticed quite a few changes.
Ellen: I have too.
Paul: Scott Weisenfluh inherited his father's business, now it's Weisenfluh's and Dad. Vince Curmaci opened his own dentist office right where Turkey Hill used to be.
Ellen: Well, at least maybe his business can stay there.
Paul: I know, no one else's did. I stopped in where that J & J Market used to be and I couldn't believe what I saw.
Ellen: Why, what happened?
Paul: I saw Tom Moore behind the register, Rich Murray is in charge of inventory, and Jim Gregory, the owner of it.
Ellen: You're kidding. Well, I guess they just couldn't part with that corner.
Paul: Have you been up Arcaro's lately?
Ellen: No, why?
Paul: Because Kerry Klimas and Julie Lavelle bought it and now have only guys working in the kitchen.
Ellen: What about the Ponderosa in Greenwood? Is it still run by most of our senior class?
Paul: Yes, Jackie Glogowski is the manager, Denise Sheridan is head cook, and Denise Gursky and Debbie Cooper are under the supervision of both of them. Oh, you know who else went into the armed services?
Ellen: Who?
Paul: Bernie Dougherty, but I don't know what became of him.
Ellen: He probably doesn't know what became of himself either. Getting back to Main Street, Mike Seegar opened his own chiropractor service right where Kim Gnall used to live.
Paul: Isn't that some coincidence?
Ellen: Sure is.
Paul: Hey, you remember Eddie Best?
Ellen: Didn't he inherit his father's business?
Paul: Yeah, he did, but it was never on Main Street in Taylor. Remember Joe Schab's gas station?
Ellen: Sure, I used to get gas there all the time.
Paul: Well, Matt Ponas is the head mechanic, Jim Gnall does all the body work, and Lennie Schab is in charge of public relations.
Ellen: Do you remember Richie Powell?
Paul: Remember him — I still have a glare in my eyes. What's he do?
Ellen: He owns a paint store sepcializing in flourescent colors.
Paul: You know who I often wondered about, Ellen?
Ellen: Who?
Paul: Jeff White. But I found out he's doing rather well.
Ellen: What's he doing?
Paul: He's the world's leading manufacturer of yellow sunglasses with a little white frog in the corner of the lens.
Ellen: Well, Jeff was always different.
Paul: The world of fashion, Ellen, how fast it moves.
Ellen: I know what you mean.
Pual: I mean look, Chris Coyne came right out of high school and has been a model for J.C. Penney's ever since.
Ellen: Whatever happened to his sidekick, Ed Hadduck?
Paul: He became a bouncer for an all-female nightclub owned and operated by Jeff Hayes. Jeff has a whole slew of clubs along the east coast.
Ellen: What's going on at old RHS?
Paul: Well, Mary Jane Blackwell took Mr. Nee's job as head of the English Department, Agnes Cesare majored in physical education and came back to be Mr. Adomiak's assistant for baseball, and Kim Gnall is head of the music department and still not married, and when I saw Mr. Febbo he told me Mike Fletcher had become the captain of a professional roller derby team.
Ellen: I heard that there was a new fan club started in the school.
Paul: Oh, really? Who is this fan club in honor of?
Ellen: Mr. D'Amico, of course, and Leslie Coombs and Lisa Harrision are the joint presidents of it.
Paul: Do you remember Stella Owens — the girl who used to deliver the absentees?
Ellen: Yeah, what's she doing now?
Paul: She runs a business that copies absentee sheets for the school districts in Lackawanna Country. Called "Hello Stella."
Ellen: While we're on the subject of printing, Linda Getts has a printing company that specializes in printing coupons for various restaurants.
Paul: Whatever heppened to those two girls who were alwasys drooling over the Valley View boys?
Ellen: Oh, you mean Lynn Banick and Georgene Pisano? They now share an apartment situated in the heart of Valley View.
Paul: You know, Ellen, when I get a chance, I like to go golfing. It's funny, my own cousin, Mike Bouselli being partners with Al Romey and Steve Rachko.
Ellen: What do you mean?

Prophecy

Paul: Somehow they bought Pine Hills Country Club and made it's new location up off Snake Road.
Ellen: Remember one of your best friends, Chico Price?
Paul: Yeah, we still keep in touch.
Ellen: What's he doing?
Paul: He runs a clinic like myself.
Ellen: Oh really, for what?
Paul: After he got his masters in psychology, he opened that clinic to try and make people more perfect in the image of himself. Remember Rich Mozeleski, how he used to walk around always with a frisbee?
Ellen: Rich was always cool.
Paul: He took Mike Albrecht along with him to try and win the National Frisbee Championship in San Francisco, California.
Ellen: Somehow I figured Rich always wanted to get as far away as he could from Moosic.
Paul: And speaking about California, Scott Hurrey left for a job there but his boss, twenty years later said he never reported for work.
Ellen: Yeah, someone said he should have gotten a compass for our Classnight. How about your hometown, Paul? What changes are there in Moosic?
Paul: Bill Levelle took over CB World so if you ever need a radio fixed, you know where not to go.
Ellen: How about Greg Mikuta?
Paul: Oh, he travels all around, he's the promotional manager for the Grateful Dead.
Ellen: How about Mike Lesavage?
Paul: He's the choreographer for Michael Jackson.
Ellen: Some of these people must lead really unique lives.
Paul: You said it! Let me see, some other changes — Bob Heckman now owns that gas station next to where Domiano's used to be.
Ellen: I guess he liked working there.
Paul: And he has Bill McCawley pumping gas for him.
Ellen: Hey, whatever became of Bill Preston?
Paul: The crazy kid who played the guitar?
Ellen: Yeah, him.
Paul: He formed a new group with Ozzie Osbourne called Black Bill Sabbath, while Danny Rhobak's Trucking firm supplies the trucking when Bill's group is touring.
Ellen: Dan did like to play with trucks.
Paul: You konw who else made a name for himself?
Ellen: Have I seen him on TV?
Paul: I don't know about that, but you've gotta remember Jerry Sweeney.
Ellen: Sure, I do. He was the funniest kid in the class.
Paul: Well, now he's even funnier and he writes the whole script for Saturday Night live. He even got Eddie Butcher a job as one of the stage crew on Saturday Night Live.
Ellen: Well, Jerry and Eddie were naturals in their field. Did you see who ran in the last campaign for Mayor of Taylor?
Paul: Yeah, I heard something like Derek Rosetti talked his way right into that office.
Ellen: But I heard Scott Coletti was a key debater for that election.
Paul: But you know politics are all a big game.
Ellen: (Shrug)
Paul: It's funny, I bought a storybook for my daughter from a girl who helps raise money for Russell Cudworth's RIF Program. And after I got done reading it to her, I saw the aughto's name was Mark Buskovitz.
Ellen: Really?
Paul: Yeah, but when you think about it, he was alwasys good at telling stories. I've been watching the papers to see when Kathy Sparacino's movies come out, but I haven't read anything about her fame with pictures.
Ellen: You mean you didn't hear? She went to Purdue for an acting career, but wound up plucking chickens.
Paul: Wow! That's a real change in careers. Did anyone else not accomplish what they wanted?
Ellen: Jackie Cicon and Jackie Chudley still don't know what career they want to pursue, and Sue Loughney is a guru, helping people find a meaning to their lives.
Paul: Wow, I don't believe it!
Ellen: What, what's the matter?
Paul: Look at this magazine! Look who the owner is!
Ellen: Who?
Paul: Lisa Browning. It appears she is doing well in her monthly editions of Browning's Black and Whites.
Ellen: That's great! That's what she always wanted to be.
Paul: Yeah, Lisa Romanko, Janet Moroski, Cindy Holmschek, and Michelle McGinnis finally carried out their ambitions and became registered nurses.
Ellen: I see Kim Rieder doesn't hang out at the Post Office any more.
Paul: Well, after hanging around there for so many years, they finally gave her a job.
Ellen: What about Lisa Gunshore — her partner at the Post Office?
Paul: Oh, she is still collecting signatures from all the people in favor of freeing Charlie Manson.
Ellen: Do you remember Lisa Richards?
Paul: Yeah, the girl who you couldn't hear even when she spoke over the microphone.
Ellen: Well, she is currently in Washington, D.C., violently protesting the second non-acceptance of the equal rights ammendment.
Paul: Whatever happened to your good friend Darlene Kinel?
Ellen: Oh, I haven't seen her in a while. In fact, no one has seen her. Rumor has it she just faded away into thin air. Remember Eddie Coleman?
Paul: He went into the Air Force Academy.
Ellen: What does he do now?
Paul: I have a friend there, and he said that it wasn't Ed's style, and after he finished, he changed careers.
Ellen: What's he doing now?
Paul: Well, rumor has it he teaches a course in penmanship in one of the local high schools in that area. You know, El, there's only one person who took this route.
Ellen: What route? What person?
Paul: Surely, you remember Jeff Maikranz.
Ellen: Yes, why?
Paul: Jeff went to live a hermit's life in the woods and his whereabouts are unknown.
Ellen: Wow! I bet his parents were crushed.
Paul: Actually, they were quite relieved. Remember a long time ago when the air traffic controllers were laid off?
Ellen: Yeah.
Paul: Well, guess who is the head of the new air traffic controllers union.
Ellen: I don't know.
Paul: Mike Lenko, the kid who got his start at the Avoca airport. Remember him, El?
Ellen: Yes, but he was unique in his own way.
Paul: George Fricosky — remember him, Ellen — how he used to repeat himself and talk real fast?
Ellen: I sure do, he always made words sound like they had a different meaning.
Paul: Well, with the millions he made by bringing gambling to the Poconos, he can buy his own language.
Ellen: Well, you'll never guess who his silent partner is.
Paul: Who?
Ellen: Robin Vladika — you know how well they used to get along.
Paul: Remember that kid who used to be his friend, John Madura? He is now the composer for Box-Car Willie.
Ellen: That's an unusual team!
Paul: Do you remember Dave Coolbaugh? Last week it was just discovered that he was still preparing for our next war with Viet Nam.
Ellen: Dave always wanted to be a mercenary. Whatever happened to the kid with the red hair in our class?
Paul: Which one?
Ellen: John Dumbrosky.
Paul: He's the head chef at Charge's Restaurant...
Ellen: SHHH don't say it so loud.
Paul: Why?
Ellen: You might ruin Charge's business.
Paul: Do you remember Willard Hughes and how fast he used to run for our track team?
Ellen: Yes, why, what's he doing?
Paul: Well, he's still running, but for different reasons.
Ellen: Well, that's one way to stay in shape.
Paul: Whatever happened to Kim Brominski — the girl who never said a word in class?
Ellen: Oh, Kim, Kathy Casey, and Doreen Woosman became the first policewomen of Moosic and now patrol Route 502.
Paul: Wow! I would have never expected them to be enforcers of laws.
Ellen: Speaking about law, I heard Leslie Sweet made it through school and is now a paralegal.
Paul: Who did you hear that from?
Ellen: Her long-time friend, Lisa Spiewak told me.
Paul: Where did you see her?
Ellen: She was admitted into the hospital last week for minor burns.
Paul: I know, she was released in my care a couple of days later. I saw Denise Evans' picture in the paper for starting a medical clinic in Bering, Alaska.
Ellen: Oh, I saw Chris Heil's picture plastered all over the front pages of the newspaper.
Paul: Why, what did she do?
Ellen: She won the Pulitzer Prize for the best novel last year.
Paul: It's about time she got recognition for her talented writing.
Ellen: One girl who got a lot of recognition in school was Patty Kloss for J.A.
Paul: What is she up to now?
Ellen: She's an industry sponsor for the J.A. organization in Scranton.
Paul: I wonder how these people beat the system, don't you Ellen?
Ellen: You know, that reminds me of something.
Paul: What's that?
Ellen: Well, you remember Paul Czachor, don't you? Well, he owns his own computer company.
Paul: His own model is the CZACH II, which can talk almost as much as Paul.
Ellen: I thought that would be impossible.
Paul: Lou Dibileo, he was always a shrewd talker.
Ellen: What ever became of Lou and Kimmy? I thought he would never leave her.
Paul: He didn't, Ellen, that's why he's the only brain surgeon in Scranton that lives on welfare.
Ellen: Kimmy got the best of him, I guess.
Paul: You could say that, yeah.
Ellen: How about the kid that always used to walk the halls with earphones on his head?
Paul: Anthony "Bubba" Gisolfi.
Ellen: That's him — "Bubba."
Paul: He opened a business similar to Crazy Eddie's dealing in stereo equipment.
Ellen: He must specialize in selling Sony Walkmans.
Paul: Do you remember the Genova cousins? Always the best in fashion?
Ellen: Yes.
Paul: Well, according to sources, Denise now owns a chain of K-Mart stores across the country, but she changed the name to D-Mart. And Lori opened a dress shop called the "Elite Petite."
Ellen: While we're on the subject of shops, I heard that JoAnn Kolveck and Debbie Lenko own a unisex salon in New York City.
Paul: And Ann Hughes is the owner of the Suburban Publishing Company.
Ellen: What about that crazy girl Robin Hunter? Would you believe she is still saving her money so she could someday buy a McDonald's of her own? Talk about holding onto your dreams...
Paul: About holding onto your dreams ... Christine and Colleen Loftus recently opened their accounting firm in New York, called Lofti Incorporated.
Ellen: Didn't June Obidinski, Joan Logie, and Ann Romanowsky want to be accountants?
Paul: Yes, but June turned out to be the National President of the FBLA with Ann as Vice-President, and Joan is a legal secretary for Jacoby & Meyers Legal Firm. Oh, and quiet Gail Raynak became the new trainer for the Philadelphia Phillies.
Ellen: Do you remember the Home Ec classes?
Paul: Every senior student in that class ruined every meal.
Ellen: I know this is probably hard to believe, but Valerie Shrader is a gourmet cook and Margo Paroby, upon graduating culinary school, received a job at Riverside High School, in the Cafeteria.
Paul: Remember how everyone used to bust Joan O'Donnell?
Ellen: Yes.
Paul: Well, she organized a band called Joan & The Jets and she's making millions!
Ellen: I wonder what became of Martha Miller? We lost touch right after graduation.
Paul: I heard she is a counselor at a clinic for kids who are runaways, delinquents, or drug abusers.
Ellen: I was shopping at the Mall a couple of weeks ago and I ran into Theresa Krulikowski.
Paul: How is she doing?
Ellen: She looks good. She is still happily married and has 4 children.
Paul: Do you remember Donna Donati — the girl who always made bets with the other team?
Ellen: Yes, what did she decide to do with her life?
Paul: She now plays softball on Donley's Cafe.
Ellen: Is that a great accomplishment?
Paul: Are you kidding: That's the leading men's softball team in the United States! I'd be honored to play on a team like that!
Ellen: Didn't Mark Chisdock join the Army?
Paul: No, not Mark. He's still trying to save enough money to buy the Buffalo Bills and move them to Scranton.
Ellen: That's right. He probably still has that Buffalo Bills sweatshirt from 6th grade.
Paul: That was a long time ago.
Ellen: Speaking of time, Paul ... Oh my goodness look what time it is!
Paul: I'll say, I'm 3 hours late for my appointment with Mr. Kryzanowski.
Ellen: Well, what's wrong with him?
Paul: He is suffering from tired feet from keeping the class of 2003 in line.
Ellen: It's been nice seeing you again.
Paul: It's been nice seeing you also. Listen, the hospital is on the way to the clinic. Why don't I give you a ride there.
Ellen: Ok, let's go!

Winter

When winter arrived, the snow brought with it the ski club. Otherwise calm and sane people became ski nuts when the first snowflake hit the ground. (p. 38)

In winter sports, boys and girls prove to be big attractions every year. This year's Vikes finished the season with a (9-7) record; the Lady Vikes topped theirs off at 23 wins and 8 losses. (p. 40)

The annual Induction Ceremony of the National Honor Society was held in the High School Auditorium on March 13, 1983. During the candlelight ceremony, new members were inducted by the old members and Mr. Kryzanowski, Vice-Principal. The guest speaker for the evening was Ms. Mary Ellen Keating of Channel 22's Noon Newscene. (p. 28)

Most of the artistically inclined students at Riverside can be found in the Art Club. The Club has become well-known lately for various paintings they have done throughout the school and for their frequent trips to world famous art institutions. (p. 39)

The A.V. Crew is there behind the scenes each time a film projector starts. They are in charge of the films, projectors, and overheads around the school, and they do a lot of work with the annual spring productions. (p. 39)

The senior-sponsored Valentine's Day Dance was a big success. It was held on February 13 in the high school cafeteria, and music was provided by Rock 107. (p. 49)

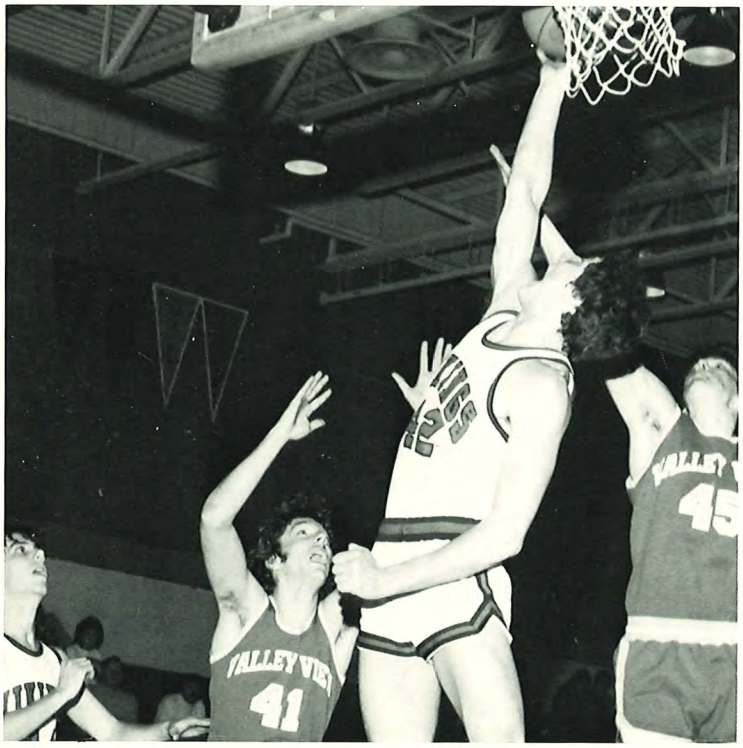

Everyone knows that Vo-Tech students are going to a different school to learn a trade, but most people don't realize just how hard they work to do it. They receive a lot of training and they have the advantage over students who spend the whole day at Riverside because they get invaluable "on-the-job" experience as well. (p. 65) Winter seems to be the middle of the school year, when things are both relaxed and into full-swing. In the middle of the school itself, agewise, are the underclassmen. They function as a class in basically the same way the seniors do; they elect officers and representatives. Unlike seniors, however, they don't get individual portraits put into the yearbook; their pictures are taken in homeroom arrangements. (p. 72)

Riverside's strong points are not all situated in the athletic departments. Various students earned awards for their scholastic achievements throughout the year, and they deserve recognition for this. (p. 82)

As we got deeper and deeper into our final year, we found ourselves looking more and more into our past. It has been said that the past provides a key to the future, and if our own past offers any suggestions to us, we will find them in our class history. (p. 90)

Girls Basketball

Our Lady Vikes once again this year proved to be an outstanding team with the help of fine coaching by Tom Nageli. They compiled a 23-8 record, including their exhibition schedule.

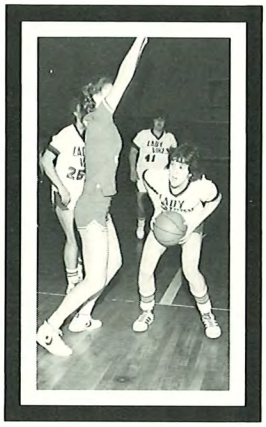

They beat nearly every team that they played and their record stands as follows:

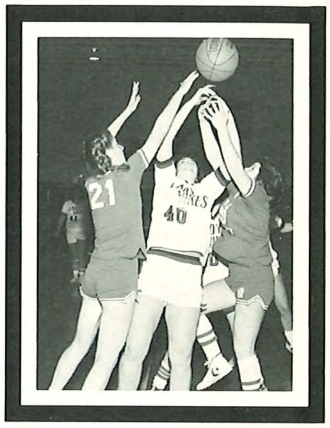

Riverside	53	Bishop O'Hara	46	Riverside	53	Lakeland	22
Riverside	43	Valley View	39	Riverside	60	MidValley	41
Riverside	48	Lakeland	18	Riverside	59	Sacred Heart	35
Riverside	66	MidValley	63	Riverside	43	Carbondale	45
Riverside	62	Sacred Heart	28	Riverside	67	Honesdale	44
Riverside	47	Carbondale	49	Riverside	53	Old Forge	38
Riverside	57	Honesdale	50	Riverside	87	Meyers	51
Riverside	62	Old Forge	30	Riverside	52	Lake Lehman	50
Riverside	48	Bishop O'Hara	60	Riverside	46	Valley View	44
Riverside	41	Bishop O'hara	54	Riverside	61	Mount Carmel	48
Riverside	46	Valley View	44	Riverside	51	Wallenpaupack	52

The Vikes saw playoff action this year, beginning with Meyers, whom they beat 81-51. They then went on to defeat Lake Lehman (52-50), Valley View (46-44), and Mount Carmel (61-48) before feeling the bitter sting of defeat themselves as they fell one point short of victory at the hands of Wallenpaupack.

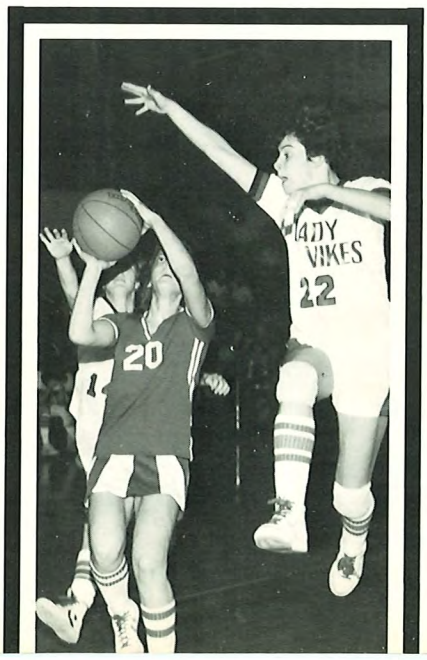

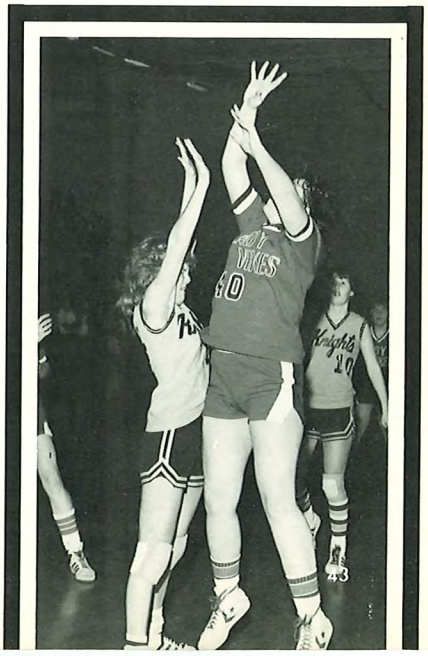

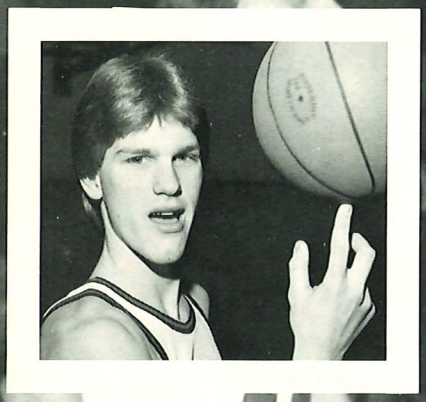

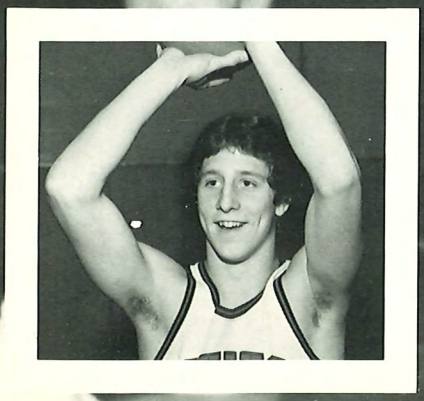

1983 Bo

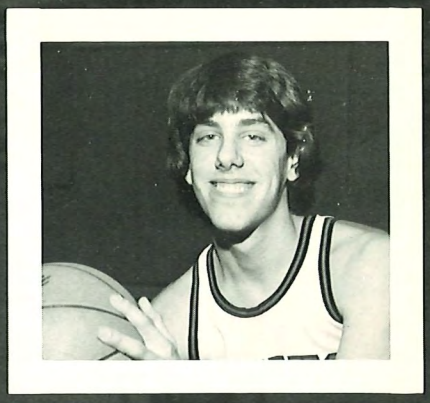

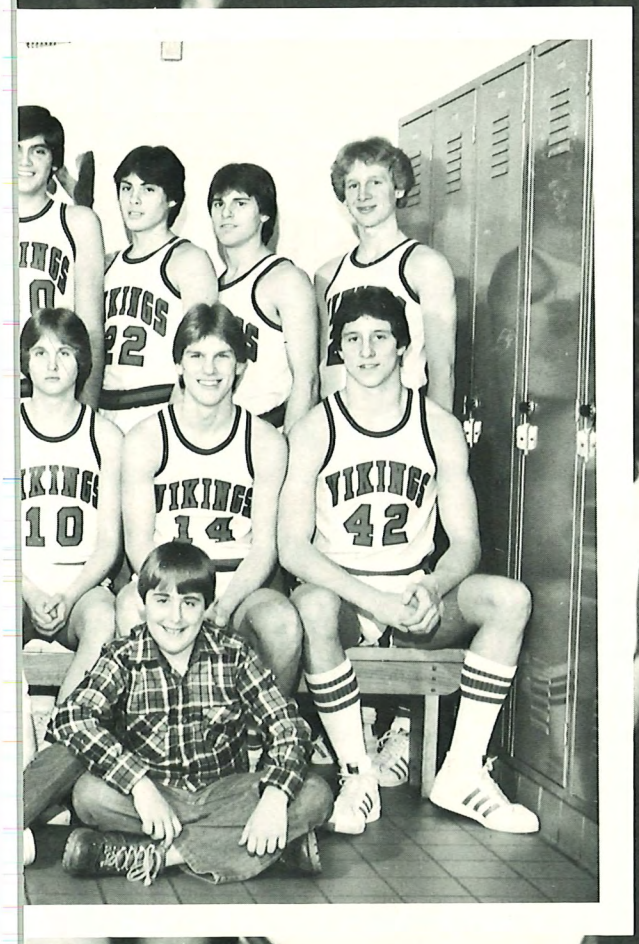

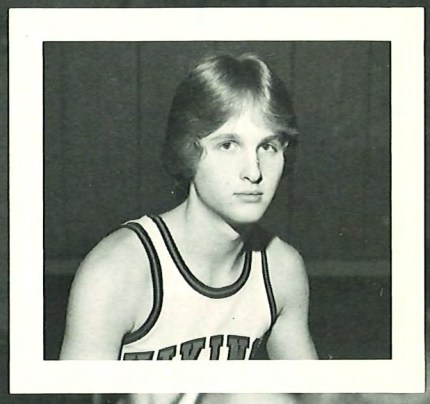

Basketball

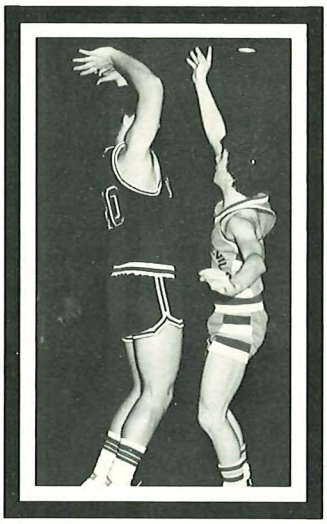

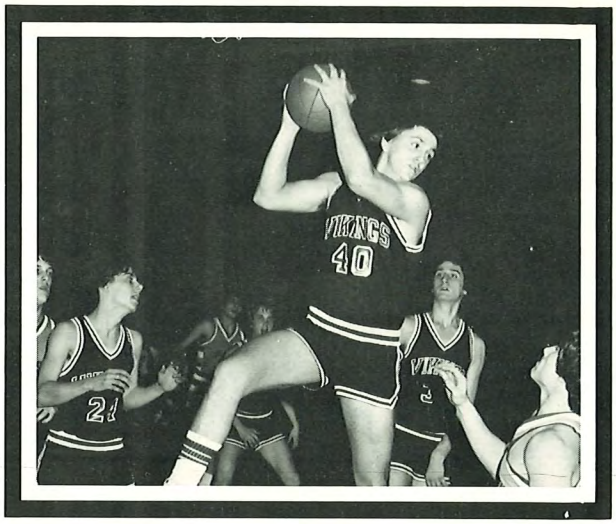

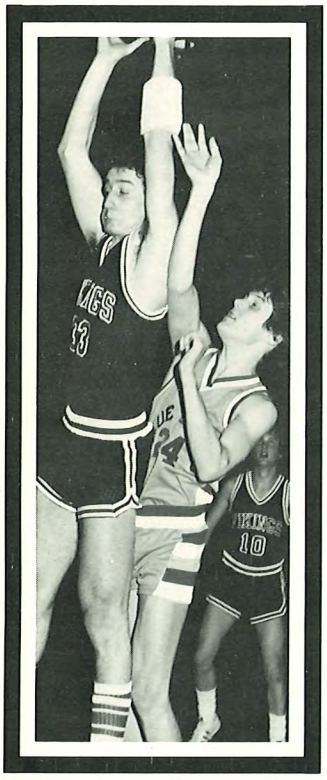

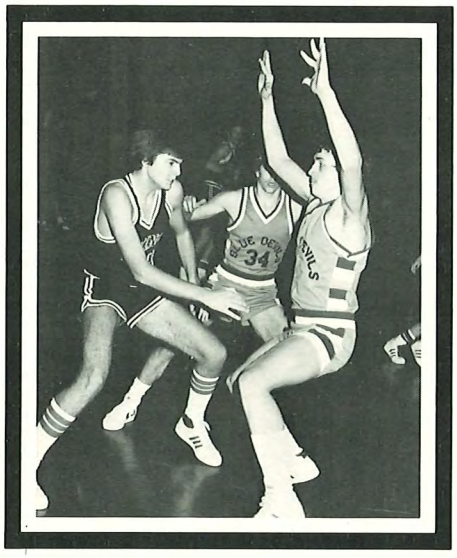

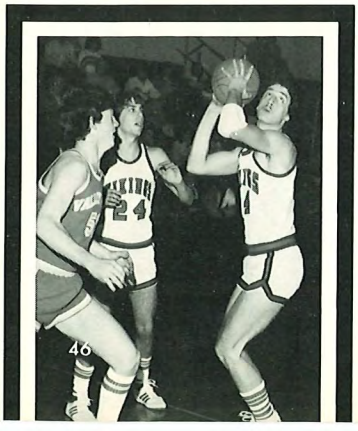

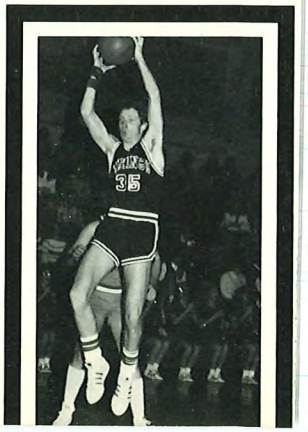

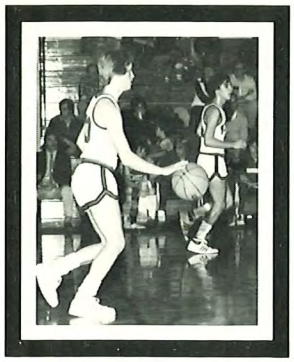

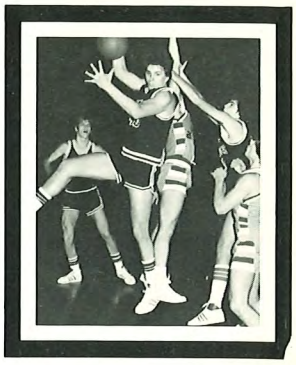

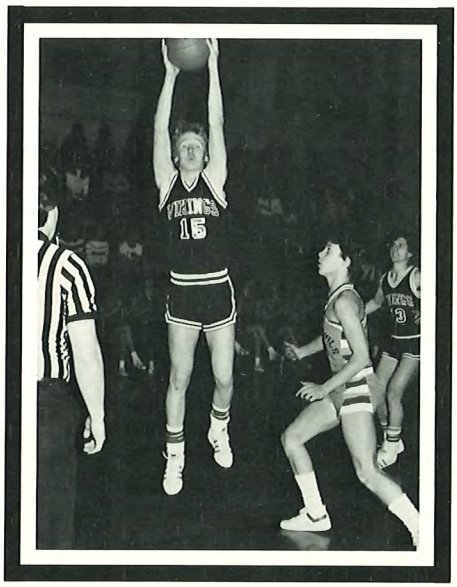

The boys basketball team which won the Abington Tournament against both the West Scranton Invaders and the Abington Heights Comets with respective scores of (61-58) and (42-33) later found their season a long one. They compiled a first half record of five wins and three losses and wound up with a 4-4 second half record.

The first half action went as follows:

Riverside	56	vs	Lakeland	65
Riverside	43	vs	MidValley	41
Riverside	58	vs	Sacred Heart	43
Riverside	61	vs	Carbondale	62
Riverside	61	vs	Honesdale	56
Riverside	55	vs	Old Forge	50
Riverside	50	vs	Bishop O'Hara	60
Riverside	64	vs	ValleyView	58

Second half scores were:

Riverside	60	vs	Lakeland	63
Riverside	67	vs	MidValley	63
Riverside	63	vs	Sacred Heart	75
Riverside	49	vs	Carbondale	50
Riverside	81	vs	Honesdale	72
Riverside	54	vs	Old Forge	49
Riverside	50	vs	Bishop O'Hara	60
Riverside	67	vs	ValleyView	63

The computer age has arrived — and so have Riverside's new "Apple Computers." Students can be found at the keyboard of the latest computers in Mr. D'Amico's room. Programming these machines is a skill which takes a lot of practice and instruction to learn, but Riverside's computer trainees now have a better understanding of the world into which they'll plunge after graduation.

This year five of Riverside's top students participated in the Scholastic Bowl. Members of the team included Lisa Richards, Robyn Horger, Mike Lesavage, Marla George, and George Fricovsky.

This year one of Riverside's students, Eddie Coleman received a scholarship valued at ($25,000) to the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Two of Riverside's most active seniors were chosen for 1983's Mayor's Prayer Breakfast. In attendance were Mike Lesavage and Gayle Semian. Both Mike and Gayle were also given the National Scholar Athlete Award at the Class Day ceremonies.

Chris Heil was named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Competition ranking her in the top 99 and one half percentile of students across the country.

Also, the Gertrude-Francis Award annually given to the top ranking Taylor student was presented to Marla George.

This year at the Class Day ceremonies, the Jewelcor Award annually presented to the valedictorian of the class was given to Lisa Richards. She was also the recipient of the Louis Serafini-Hank Eranish Award for academic achievement.

This year's recipients of the Riverside Education Association Awards were Vince Curmaci and George Fricovsky.

The National Honor Society offered a special award that was based upon the ideals of the Honor Society and upon the qualities that one needs to be elected into the society. The award was presented to Honor Society president, Mike Lesavage.

Also, the Scranton Elk's Club named Linda Vince as Riverside's "Student of the Month" for 1983.

The Kleback-Procik Award annually given to the class salutatorian was presented to Robyn Horger.

Membership awards are annually presented at Class Day ceremonies to recognize student achievements within the various clubs and organizations sponsored by the school.

Class

Scene: Working as a cook in a restaurant.
Gayle: This food tastes horrible. Let me see the book.
Vince: What's your problem?
Gayle: This food is terrible, whoever taught you how to . . . VINCE CURMACI? (laughing)
Vince: That's right and you're Gayle Semian. I still recognize you after 10 years.
Gayle: Well I'd recognize Mrs. Herman's cooking anywhere, and this is it!
Vince: Oh, it can't be as bad as that.
Gayle: Well, it's almost as bad as her famous "Surfburgers" in 7th grade.
Vince: 7th grade? Wasn't that the year we were struck with terror?
Gayle: Which terror? The terror of being in a new school or the "A" team?
Vince: The "A" team?
Gayle: Yes, the team of teachers headed by Mr. Armillay who brought terror into the eyes of all 7th graders.
Vince: Mr. Armillay sure didn't help out with our 7th grade jitters, did he?
Gayle: I'll say, you never knew what you'd get hit with in his class, an eraser or a garbage can.
Vince: In fact, I was a victim of the eraser throw on the first day of class when I got hit in the side of the head.
Gayle: It's funny now, but remember how we all shook in there?
Vince: Was that from fear or the open windows in the middle of winter?
Gayle: Well, it wasn't the open windows that made us forget our locker coms.
Vince: No, it was the yelling of that mean dude Mr. "T" Lisowski screaming "Lockers only during 2nd period and before and after lunch."
Gayle: That wasn't the only screaming we heard in 7th grade.
Vince: Oh! You mean in Mrs. Hapstack's music class.
Gayle: Yes, I'll never forget her yelling at Chico and the boys playing "Old MacDonald" on their flutes.
Vince: Well, that wasn't half as bad as when she screamed it's Alma Mater not Alma Mother.
Gayle: There were a lot of changes in 7th grade.
Vince: That's for sure, we had our first real gym class and our first group shower.
Gayle: Group shower?
Vince: Yes, it sure was embarrassing to be the only boy in 7th grade with hair on his chest.
Gayle: Well, the girls didn't have to worry about group showers. In fact, I'll bet you boys never knew that we didn't even take showers.
Vince: Gayle, believe me, we knew, we knew!!
Gayle: Anyway, we were quickly in 8th grade.
Vince: And that's when "Animal" took over.
Gayle: Not only did he push you guys around but he also picked on us girls.
Vince: He used to bang us off the lockers almost every day.
Gayle: Yes, some of us started to look as bad as our pottery projects in Mrs. Nicosia's class.
Vince: But nothing was as bad as the eighth grade girls cooking in Home Ec. Class.
Gayle: I'll never forget Sue Brosky's french toast that looked like scrambled eggs.
Vince: And how about your chocolate chip cookies?
Gayle: What about them?
Vince: Well, we had to use a hammer in shop just to break them apart.
Gayle: Apart? That's one thing the Loftus twins never were in 9th grade.
Vince: They were so close I couldn't even tell the difference between them.
Gayle: While you were trying to find the difference between the Loftuses, the rest of the class was trying to find their way between the pails of water in the halls.
Vince: The pails weren't the only obstacles we faced in 9th grade.
Vince: I was deathly afraid of getting hit with a flying body every time I passed Mr. Butcher's class.
Gayle: Getting hit with one, I always thought you were going to be one!
Vince: Gayle, you crumb!!! (hand motion)
Gayle: Crummy sure wasn't the word to describe our freshman basketball team. That's the year they won the Northern Division Championship.
Vince: And remember how the football players, led by Mike Mavich and Paul Bouselli, won the hearts of the cheerleaders with their famous cheer:
Our team is red hot
A boom boom (pssst!)
I mean our team is really hot
A boom boom (pssst!)
Gayle: 9th grade was really a great year.
Vince: But I was so glad to become a sophomore and have the privilege of pushing the 7th graders around.
Gayle: Those poor 7th graders really took a beating.
Vince: But not as bad as the beating we took from Mr. Heating's notes.
Gayle: They were so long I thought they'd never end.
Vince: And a lot of us met our end when Mr. K would say, "Gayle, you are approaching the dog house, watch it or else."
Gayle: And remember the lines he gave Miss Sklaney?
Vince: I wonder if he ever got a date with her.
Gayle: I wonder if he's still wearing his Pumas.
Vince: I don't think so, I saw him riding around in a Mercedes.
Gayle: How did he manage that?
Vince: I heard that he and George Fricovsky struck it rich. They bet on all the 10-1 odds.
Gayle: Well, I'll bet that Mr. Pettinato is still screaming "WAIT" to all the sophomores in driver's ed.
Vince: That's what he should have screamed before Vicki Snyder smashed the new driver's ed. car.
Gayle: What a way to crash into our junior year.
Vince: Yea, our junior year really was a riot.
Gayle: Oh! Now I remember, that was the time the Riverside Vo-techs caused a riot with the North Pocono Vo-techs.
Vince: Boy! Things really got out of hand. I even heard they had to call the police force just to pull Tuz, the animal, Turner off the pile.
Gayle: Things also got out of hand during the selection of Miss Viking.
Vince: You mean when someone in the cafe thought that Kim Ruthkowsky needed a milk shampoo.

History

Gayle: That milk sure gave Mrs. Herman a great idea.
Vince: I remember, her huge 3-D sign, "The Shakes Are Here."
Gayle: Not only were the shakes here but the fog was here in Chemistry class.
Vince: Do you mean the fog that was caused by the experiment in class or the fog that Mr. Aulisio kept his students in?
Gayle: Wasn't Mr. Aulisio the head of all those ski trips to Vermont?
Vince: How could I forget those trips and the lasting relationships that were formed among good friends.
Gayle: You must mean the everlasting friendship between Ellen Fuller and Crusty Cudworth.
Vince: I heard that she still has the photographs of the two of them together with her head on his shoulder.
Gayle: If there is one photograph I would love to have it would have been a picture of the expression on Mr. Hyduchak's face during our Washington trip.
Vince: I remember, he needed to ask directions to Arlington Cemetery and went running down the street yelling Miss, Oh Miss, can you help me?
Gayle: Only when the Miss turned around, it was a long haired, bearded delivery boy.
Vince: And Father Hyduchak slithered embarrassingly back to the bus only to face further humiliation from all our laughter.
Gayle: We also had a lot of laughs on all the trips we took with the girl's basketball team.
Vince: That team was the greatest we have ever had, reaching the state finals before losing to a much taller Brentwood team by a total of just 3 points.
Gayle: Speaking of points, weren't there some kids who always tried to get extra points in class?
Vince: Yes,led by Linda Vince and her scrub points.
Gayle: And Ed Haduck would always tell her "Scrub on me."
Vince: Another famous saying was "In your face" started by Tom Moz. You do remember Tom don't you Gayle?
Gayle: (Pause) I'll never forget the great things that happened in our senior year.
Vince: That was when the football players really got involved in the pep rallies.
Gayle: Yea! The team had to have pep with Chris, Jeff, Louis, and Robbie leading the cheers.
Vince: I heard they all got scholarships to Penn State.
Gayle: To play for Paterno?
Vince: No, to join the Pom Pom unit.
Gayle: Well all our seniors joined together to decorate the halls.
Vince: We did do a superb job didn't we?
Gayle: That's when Denise Shea led a group of kids in the bunny hop.
Vince: And there wasn't a person in sight without a piece of tape, in memory of our old mascot spud.
Gayle: Memories of homecoming are something Cathy Casey will always cherish.
Vince: Yea, wasn't she crowned Homecoming Queen that year? What an excellent choice.
Gayle: But Paul Panek's choice to go to the dance that night sure wasn't excellent.
Vince: And Mr. Migal's shoes were never quite the same.
Gayle: Speaking of shoes, the girl's basketball team had big shoes to fill after losing 4 seniors.
Vince: But you, Kathy McGrail, and Sue Brosky did the job by leading the team to the District II Championship and proving the critics wrong.
Gayle: Dave Beck didn't prove the critics wrong though, he made the first team all-stars and led the northern league in scoring.
Vince: Yea, but the rest of the team made more points on the bus after the games on the way home.
Gayle: Home was the one place our salutatorian, Robyn Morger, had in mind when she left school early and got caught by Mr. Mryzanowski.
Vince: Something like when Miss Caswell got caught off guard in New York City and was punched in the eye?
Gayle: Yea, and everyone's eyes were on the boy's track team when they won their first meet in 5 years.
Vince: Kathy Sparacino was sure eyed by most of the audience in her lead performance in the Spring Production — Hello Dolly. (Sing)
Gayle: Hello Dolly was one of the best performances our pianist, Kim Gnall, gave her senior year.
Vince: She played so well that she received many awards and much recognition for her talent.
Gayle: Talent was one thing our FBLA members didn't lack.
Vince: June Obidinski sure spurred our school on by winning two consecutive state awards at Lancaster.
Gayle: Miss Willis and Miss Stampien sure missed June.
Vince: But like D'Amic used to say "HAIR" today, gone tomorrow.
Gayle: May sure was a busy month with everyone getting ready for the prom.
Vince: Yes, it was all worth it though, because everyone looked just like the theme, "Wonderful Tonight."
Gayle: Especially Lori Genova as she was crowned Prom Queen.
Vince: Do you think she was embarrassed when I kept yelling, stand up Lori, as she danced?
Gayle: No, Lori could take a joke, but the fire in the girl's lav was no joke.
Vince: The only thing funny about it was Miss Skalaney yelling FIRE, FIRE that is flame, heat, and light caused by burning.
Gayle: Oh Vince! That's how she spoke in our 10th grade College Board Verbal Class.
Vince: No, I mean it, she really talks like that!
Gayle: Well there was a lot of yelling going on at Class Night.
Vince: That wasn't yelling, that was Lisa Browning's laugh.
Gayle: Wasn't it something like this? (Lisa's laugh)
Vince: That's it, now I remember.
Gayle: Well one ditty I'll never forget is the one about Louie Dibileo and his mirror.
Vince: Well I'll never forget the hit of the evening when everyone went "WACKERS" over David Kreig.
Gayle: And soon after Class Night we were finishing our regular classes in high school.
Vince: Poor Mrs. Lud was so disappointed in losing her favorite student, "Manura."
Gayle: I heard she acted like a "MAD DOG" for days.
Vince: Days, it seemed like months that we were practicing our singing for graduation.
Gayle: But before we knew it we were singing like pros.
Vince: And finally we graduated, the class of 1983.
Gayle: It seems like only yesterday, that we were all together, enjoying the easy years of being in school.
Vince: Yes, they were easy years compared to the working world. Our teachers told us it would get tougher but we never believed them.
Gayle: Vince, it sure was great seeing you again after all these years and talking about old times in Riverside.
Vince: I wish we could all get together again but I know it will never happen.
Gayle: One other thing I know will never happen is that I'll never eat here again.
Vince: Are you sure? Next week we are featuring "VIKING BURGERS"!!!

SPRING

Springtime arrived, and with it, the dreaded "spring fever" and "senioritis." Seniors, however calm and controlled they had been during their previous three years at Riverside Sr. High, went beserk. They really enjoyed their year to the fullest. (p. 94)

The "Passing of the Sword" dinner/dance was held at Genetti's Manor on March 20, 1983, and this gave senior unit members a chance to relax and receive the praise of the newly elected unit members, while giving the newly chosen unit heads a chance to celebrate their titles. (p. 132)

"Hello Dolly," this year's spring production, was held April 29, and 30, 1983. It was an excellent show, and the audience certainly agreed. (p. 134)

The All Honors Banquet is the celebration traditionally set aside to honor those students who have won letters in various areas of school competition. This year, it was held on May 18, in the cafeteria. (p. 136)

"Wonderful Tonight" was the theme of this year's prom, and it certainly lived up to its name. Held May 13 at the Woodlands Inn in Wilkes-Barre, it provided a chance for juniors and seniors to share a night of fun and good times. (p. 138)

Class night — the night when everyone's own special quirks and mannerisms are remembered was held May 20 in Gennetti Manor in Dickson City. It gave seniors a last chance to be together in a comfortable atmosphere with no duties other than to sit back, relax, and enjoy. (p. 142)

Seniors have their own special "all honors" day — Class Day. During Class Day activities, seniors are recognized for their various awards and achievements throughout the year. Also, on this day the special "senior awards" that everyone looks forward to are presented. (p. 142)

Graduation, the last official act of the class of '83, took place June 10, 1983 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium. It was a night of rejoicing, yet also a night of tears, for freedom comes only at a price, and the price you pay for the freedom of graduation is knowing that, no matter how sure you are that you will stay close to your friends, your seasons together have passed. (p. 146)

Riverside's baseball team had a great season supported by players like Jeff Pry who proved to have one of the best seasons of any area baseball player. The team played well-rounded baseball, with a defensive strategy which was matched by its offensive attack. They finished the season with a 3-7 record. Coach Bednash was very pleased with this, especially since he recognized 1983 as a "building" season.

This year was marked with outstanding defense and great pitching for our Lady Vikes. But the downfall came with their offense. This year was one small step for the Lady Vikes, but one large leap for next year. The season record was 3-6. The highlight of the season was placing two Lady Vikes on the Lakawanna League Southern Division All-Star Team. These outstanding players were Kathy McGrail and Mari Flynn. Team action went as follows:

1983

Riverside	4	Old Forge	1
Riverside	5	North Pocono	4
Riverside	0	Old Forge	5
Riverside	10	Bishop Hannan	12
Riverside	4	North Pocono	5
Riverside	3	Bishop O'hara	20
Riverside	2	Old Forge	1
Riverside	4	Bishop O'hara	5
Riverside	2	North Pocono	3
Riverside	2	Bishop O'Hara	10
Riverside	2	Bishop Hanna	7
Riverside	1	Bishop Hannan	10

Boy

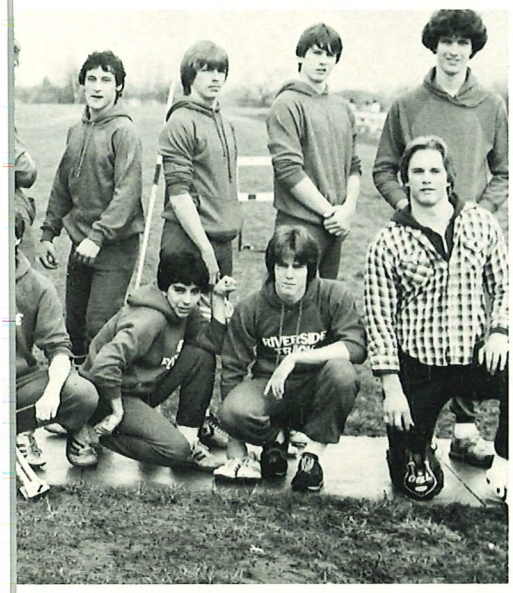

The Boys Track team had their best season in years. Their strong sense of competitiveness led to wins against such teams as Honesdale (84-57) and Carbondale (85-56). With the many good returning athletes, the Vikes hope to do much better next year.

RHS

The girls' track team started off with high hopes this season, but soon found their competition to be stiffer than they expected. Despite practicing for many long, hard hours, they only managed to keep close to,but not overtake, their opponents. Scores from the year's meets were as follows:

Riverside	52	West Side	89
Riverside	35	Central	106
Riverside	24	North Pocono	117
Riverside	17	Carbondale	124
Riverside	47	Lakeland	93
Riverside	32	Honesdale	109
Riverside	49	Tech	92
Riverside	23	Abington	114
Riverside	87	Dunmore	54

The team finished their year in full gear by beating Dunmore, 87-54.

Yearbook Staff

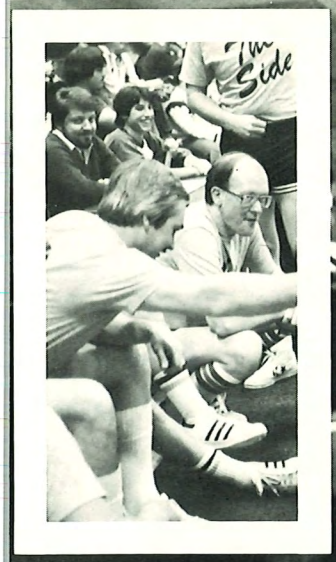

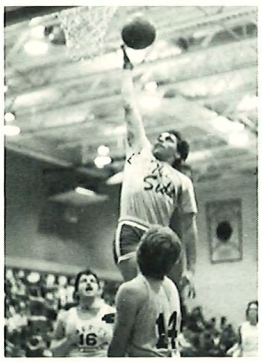

Yearbook

Mr. Joyce, yearbook advisor, is an extremely dedicated individual who spends his free time and energy coordinating a yearbook staff which is conscientious and at the same time, creative. This year's staff, the "dedicated few" was just that. Together we started "from scratch" to produce a yearbook which will be a remembrance of every important event which took place in our senior year. We also held a patron drive and had a "Vikes" sweat-shirt sale. And surely no one can forget the faculty vs. the Instabuckets game! All in all, it was a busy and productive year, and we are using this space to "pat ourselves on the back" for our hard work and dedication.

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America is a National student organization for students enrolled in business education programs. In Pennsylvania the FBLA is organized on three levels — state, regional, and local. Activities and projects are guided by the purposes set forth by the FBLA national chapter.

FBLA activities complement, supplement, enrich, and strengthen the business education instructional program. The total FBLA program is very much co-curricular in addition to being a vital extracurricular activity in school. When school dismisses in June for summer vacation, FBLA continues. The annual state leadership workshop is held each August for three days or more at Elizabethtown College in Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania. Here plans are made for the following school year's program.

Membership drives are conducted in September, dues are submitted to state and national offices in October, American Education Week is observed in November, fund raising begins in December, and preparation for the competitive events schedule is emphasized from January to July.

Members of FBLA learn how to engage in business enterprise, how to direct the affairs of a group, and how to compete honorably in competitive events. These activities help prepare students to be better employees. For the most part, FBLA activities relate to the present and future needs of the students and are related directly to the subject matter of the business education program. Pennsylvania FBLA members number 10,600 nationwide.

Passing of the Sword

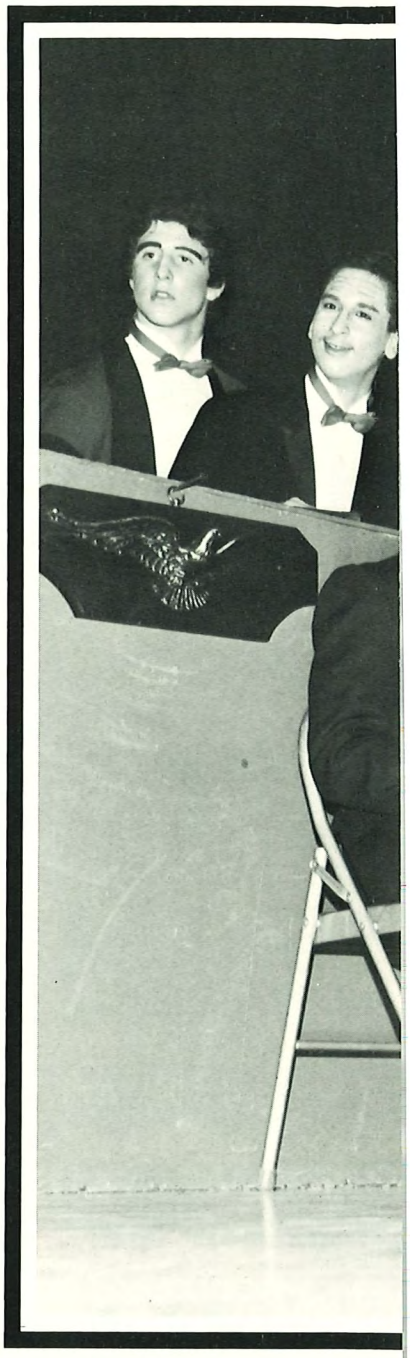

The unit members are honored for their hard work and dedication at the Passing of the Sword dinner/dance each year. The newly chosen unit captains are given their titles by the old captains, and Miss Viking is announced. Music for this year's banquet, which was held on March 20, at Genetti's, was provided by Dark Star.

Hello Dolly

"Hello Dolly!" was this year's spring production at Riverside. It was held April 29th and 30th, 1982 in the auditorium. The play was under the direction of Miss Betty Jane Caswell and Mrs. Carol Hapstack. Choreography was by Bill Canjar. It was a fine show both nights, and the cast and crew received standing ovations.

All Honors Banquet

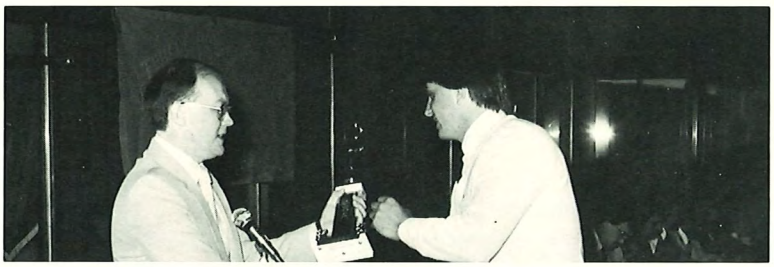

The All Honors Banquet was held May 18, 1983, in the cafeteria. Selected students were given awards for their achievements throughout the school year. Parents and teachers also attended, and senior letter winners were given jackets or sweaters. Guest speaker for the evening was Jim Miller.

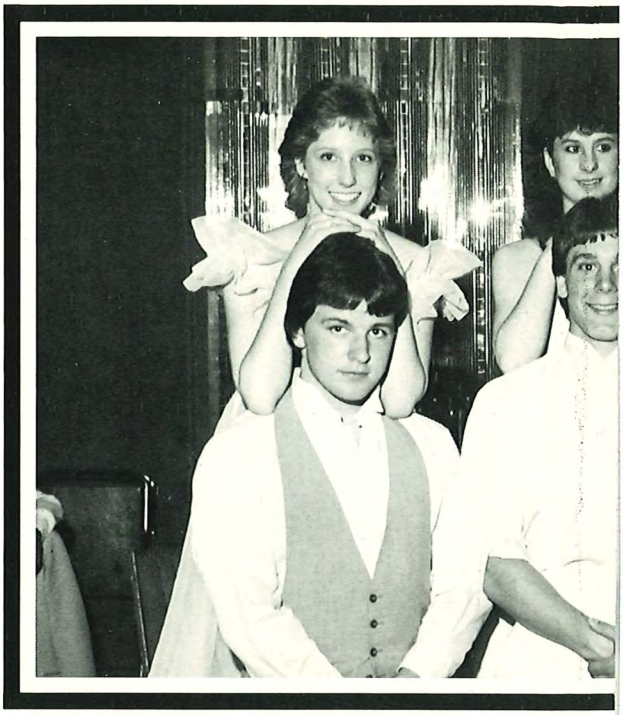

Wonderful Tonight

''Wonderful Tonight" — May 13 1983 — was the theme of this year's prom held at the Woodlands Inn in Wilkes-Barre. The group Eddie Day -n- TNT provided the music, and everyone had a great time. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the prom queen and the announcement of her court.

Class Night

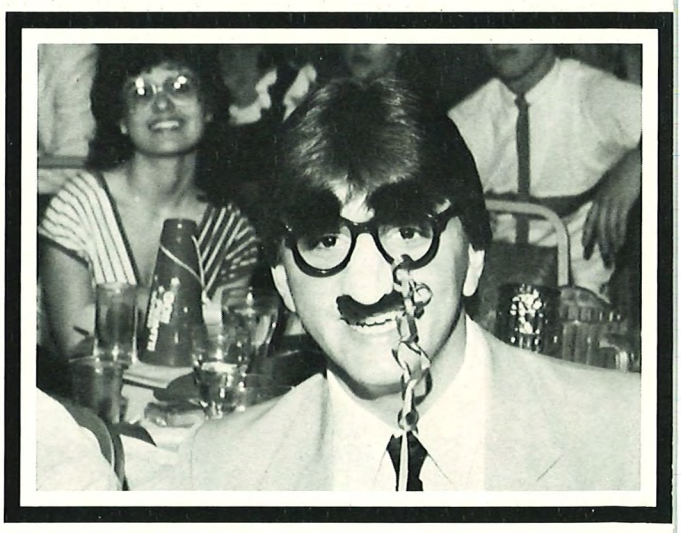

Class Night

Class Night for the Class of '83 was held May 20, 1983, in Genetti Manor, Dickson City. It was one of the last chances for the seniors to get together as a class, and the Ditti Committee made sure that it was an enjoyable evening for everybody.

Class Day

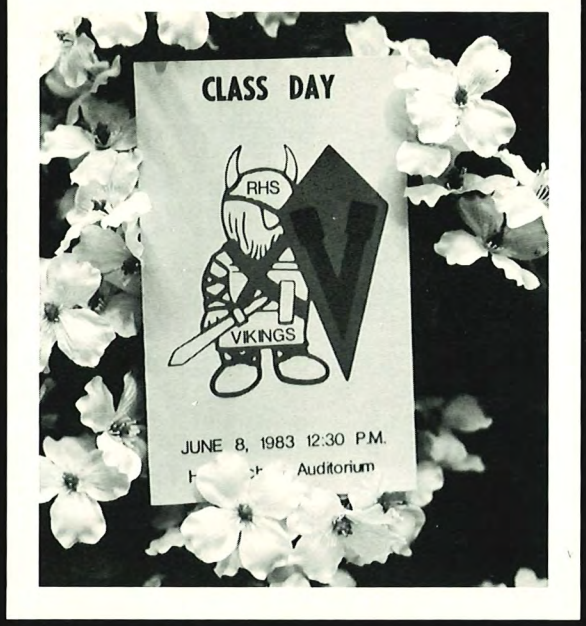

When the senior year is nearing an end, seniors began to look forward to Class Day. This is the time when seniors are recognized for their skills and achievements. Seniors who have won awards such as "most friendly" (which were determined by their fellow classmates) are also recognized that day. Parents, friends, and faculty are also invited to attend.

Graduation

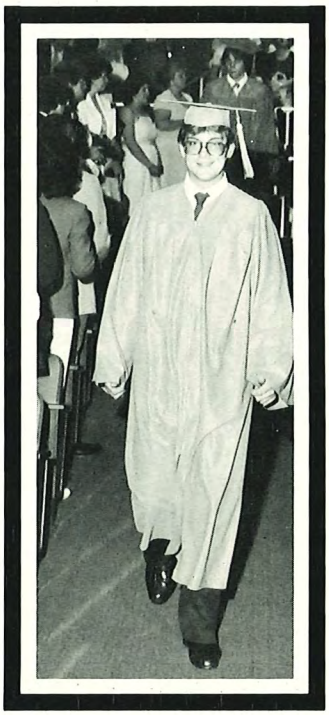

Commencement exercises were held June 10, 1983, at 8:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The Senior Class was together for the final time as a high school class, and they said goodbye to friends that night in anticipation of a full life spent in constant personal growth.

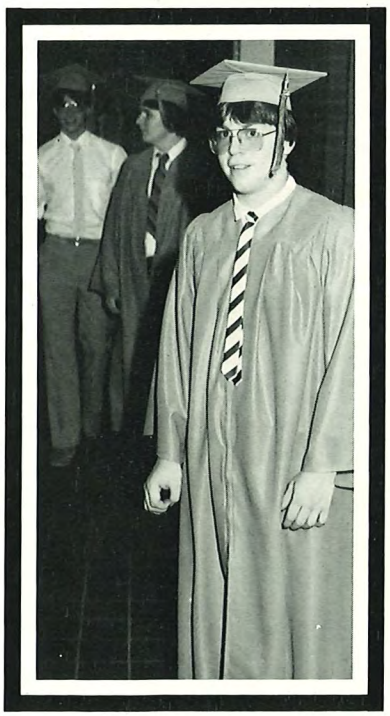

The top four ranked seniors gave commencement addresses on this year's topic, the Commission's Report on Education. The speakers were: Lisa Richards, Valedictorian, whose topic was "A Challenge to Parents;" Robyn Horger, Salutatorian, who spoke generally about the report and gave opening remarks; Michael Lesavage, 3rd honors, whose speech was titled "A Challenge to Faculty and Administration;" and Marla George, 4th honors, who gave "A Challenge to Students."
