

Willard Public Schools will develop leaders and lifelong learners who demonstrate the durable skills of:

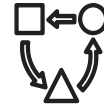

Communication is sharing ideas clearly and kindly in different ways like talking, writing, or using body language.

Willard Tigers show this by listening carefully, asking thoughtful questions, and making sure everyone feels heard.

A problem-solver is curious about new ideas, has a mindset for overcoming challenges, and works hard to find meaningful solutions.

Willard Tigers show this by exploring different approaches, gaining insight from setbacks, and making changes until they find a solution that works.

Adaptability is meeting challenges through flexibility, openness to feedback, and collaboration in finding solutions.

Willard Tigers show this by adjusting to unexpected changes, listening to others' ideas, and working together to find the best answers.

Empathy is mindful awareness of others' unique feelings and experiences in order to build deep connections.

Willard Tigers show this by caring for others, seeking to understand their experiences, and considering different perspectives.

Perseverance is keeping a positive attitude when facing problems, learning from mistakes, and not giving up until the goal is achieved.

Willard Tigers show this by staying focused on their goals, pushing through challenges, and growing from failures.

Integrity is consistently behaving in an honest and ethical manner and taking ownership for one's actions.

Willard Tigers show this by keeping commitments, giving their best effort, and treating others with respect.
