Student Services Words of Wellness

Problems with your grades and schoolwork don't resolve themselves. They won't go away if you ignore them. Your teachers want you to be successful and want you to pass. Reach out to them for help or reach out to your student services team and ask them to help make that connection for you. Take action.

Today, We Learn

Did you know that the Jewish day actually starts at sundown? So this evening at sundown is the beginning of Yom HaShoah, the day of remembrance for the holocaust. In Israel, a siren will be blown. At that time. Everyone, no matter what they are doing, will stop...pause...for one minute in honor of those lost in the holocaust. Even cars on the freeways will stop in observance of Yom HaShoah

Today, you might be filling bags of rice in one of your classes. Every piece of rice represents one human life lost at the hands of Hitler and his regime. Tomorrow, we will take a look at the many bags of rice filled and consider the number of lives lost in the holocaust. Thank you for your time and attention.
