Medicine Research Day 2025

Audio	Video
Our Internal Medicine Research Day is basically an event that was started by our seniors.	Lady in striped shirt presenting research in front of poster pan to man in blue jacket also presenting in front of a poster
And we have been organizing it every year.	Man in brown suit jacket at podium in auditorium
So it's a very proud moment of us	Faculty in white coats seated in auditorium listening to presention to carry that legacy forward. Basically, people from	Man with beard and glasses using hand motions to describe research poster to a man in green scrubs different level of trainings, including medical students,	Medical student in white coat discussing research poster with a judge residents from Internal Medicine departments, and all the fellows from	Woman with glasses and long hair pulled back talks about her poster different specialty in Internal Medicine, they basically submit	Man at podium in auditorium with title of presentation on screen behind him their research work and the hard work that they did over the year,	Group of residents seated in auditorium which includes case reports, case studies,	Row of posters with various topics original studies and clinical trials.	Resident with stethoscope around his neck discussing research poster with a judge
So during the day, we started with our oral presentations.	Female resident at podium in auditorium presenting to a group seated
And after the oral presentations,	Audience in auditorium
we had a keynote presentation by our visiting guest speaker.	Guest speaker at podium
And after that, we started with the poster presentations.	Groups of presenters stand in front of 2 rows of posters discussing research
In total we had about 63 submissions	Man in turban discusses poster with department chairman and out of those five were selected for oral presentation	Man at podium in front of audience in auditorium and rest of them were selected for the poster presentations.	Man points at poster as he discusses research
A lot of these presentations are going to be shared at	Presenter at podium in front of large audience national and international platforms.	Group of 4 women in scrubs seated in audience

So I think it's going to make us proud in terms of	Resident at podium in auditorium
LSU representing ourself at various platforms. Research plays a big role	Female resident describes research poster to faculty judge in healthcare. It makes sure that we are still	Medical student gestures to poster animatedly practicing evidence based medicine.	Student explaining research poster to faculty And we are providing the best care to our patients	Female resident talks with faculty judge with the up to date medical treatment that's going on.	Man in burgundy jacket gestures to poster Engaging in research from early on keeps us on track and help us provide the best patient care. I would say.	Man in black scrubs in front of a purple background with LSU Health Shreveport printed on in Text: Karan Sachdeva, MD PGY-3, Internal Medicine Research Committee
And I'm really thankful to all my program administration, our coordinators,	Guest speaker at podium in auditorium with title of presentation behind him our faculty mentors, and program leadership	Resident talks with program director in front of poster to help us organize the research day.	Resident gestures to faculty judge And I'm thankful to all the participants who	Resident talks with two other residents about his research submitted their research work and helped us make this happen.	Group of participants, faculty, and organizers
