

Northview's Weekly NEWSLETTER

Principal's Update

Northview Familia,

Northview High School was recognized for having the highest average daily attendance among all high schools for the second consecutive month. Thank you for all that you do to ensure that our students are at school every single day. The positive and engaging environment that our teachers create in their classrooms is a huge reason why our students want to be on campus every day.

55 of our parents completed the PIQE parent workshop program this past week. During the 8-weeks of classes, parents learned valuable information regarding high school graduation and the college admissions process. We are hosting a PIQE graduation later this week for them.

We now have three weeks of school left for the semester. Continue to check in with your teachers so that we can finish the year strong. Have a great week, Vikings!

Staff Spotlight

Are you a book connoisseur? Our librarian, Nayely Kirker is the person you want to know! Not only does Nayely keep our beautiful library organized and updated, she also assists with AVID college and financial aid applications. She attends rigorous district trainings to stay updated on how to assist students in a variety of ways. We are so lucky she is so dedicated to student success.

When Nayely is not advising the Chess Club, you can catch her learning Japanese, watching anime, and eating ramen. She has obviously been drawn to the anime influence and for good reason, it is all the rage! Arigato, Mrs. Kirker!
