The Evolution of Therapy

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY SERVICES

TalkPath Live's signature brand of occupational teletherapy is different — because we're a different kind of teletherapy company. As an education-based organization, we're dedicated solely to student success, focused on interactive complexity to promote attainment of IEP goals and objectives. We achieve success for students by designing meaningful and purposeful activities aligned with their interests to keep them engaged throughout sessions; by collaborating with school staff to facilitate carryover into the classroom environment; and by fully supporting our highly trained OTs so that they, in turn, can fully support their assigned students as they create individualized treatment plans using our vast array of quality, vetted therapeutic resources and adhere to state-specific guidelines. We skillfully and comprehensively provide outcomes-directed pediatric occupational therapy — in early intervention, preschool, and K–12 settings — to address these common deficits:

- ✓ Fine motor delays
- ✓ Handwriting difficulties
- ✓ Use of fine motor tools (e.g., scissors, glue stick)
- ✓ Sensory processing disorder/delays

OUR GUIDING MISSION

Advancing independence in the school environment

- ✓ Self-regulation & coping skills
- ✓ Visual motor delays
- ✓ Executive functioning difficulties
- ✓ Self-care skills (e.g., washing hands, tying shoes, buttoning or zippering attire)

Sample Tools Used

TPL's OTs have access to a broad and diverse repository of teaching tools that bring the therapy space right to the student, just as effectively as in-person therapy. These include but are not limited to:

- Therapy-targeted apps

- Screen-sharing
- Online whiteboard to practice motor skills
- "First/Then" charts, visual schedules, and similar visual aids
- Speech-to-text and editing software
- Basic supplies provided by the school (lined paper, pencil, clay, ruler, clothespins, etc.)
