

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

AI in K-12 Education: Teaching in Practice is a two-day, in-person conference designed to help educators bring artificial intelligence into their classrooms with confidence and purpose. The program features a mix of hands-on workshops, panels, seminars, and informal networking opportunities tailored to K-12 school settings.

More sessions and speakers will be added in the coming weeks.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3RD – FOUNDATIONS AND DIALOGUE

9:00 AM – Opening Keynote

Educating for the Age of AI

Charles Fadel, Founder, Center for Curriculum Redesign

9:45 AM – Interactive Workshop

Topic and presenters TBA

10:45 AM – Break

Refreshments and Networking Opportunity

11:00 AM – Panel Discussion

AI in Education – From Learning to Practice

With Mathieu Beau, Brice Challamel, Dan Bi Kim, Pascal Vallet, and others

11:45 AM – Networking Lunch & Lunch and Learn

An opportunity to connect informally with workshop leaders

1:15 PM – Interactive Workshop II

In-depth breakout sessions on key themes in AI and education

3:15 PM – Break

Refreshments and Networking Opportunity

4:30 PM – Poster Session & Social Reception

Refreshments, conversation, and participant-led posters

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4TH – APPLICATION & REFLECTION

8:00 AM – Breakfast and Networking

Coffee and light refreshments served.

8:30 AM – Seminar

Educating for the Age of AI (Part II)

Charles Fadel, Founder, Center for Curriculum Redesign

9:30 AM – Break

Refreshments and Networking Opportunity

9:45 AM – Interactive Workshop III

Topics and presenters TBA

10:45 PM – Break

Refreshments and Networking Opportunity

11:00 PM – Closing Remarks

Speaker TBA

11:30 PM – Lunch Break

Catered lunch and networking opportunity

Afternoon (Optional) – Guided Visit to the MIT Museum

Group tour of MIT's interactive museum exploring science, innovation, and AI

