a. April- Perseverance

Jonathan Sommers (Jonny)	Camryn Dilligard	Salih Ozkan
Jonny has many struggles in his every day adventures that he has to overcome. This year, Jonny has shown huge growth in managing his frustration to keep trying at any activities presented to him. Mainly, Jonny has shown perseverance with learning to use his communication device. He will has taken repeated guidance to learn where all the icons are that show what he is trying to say. Jonny has worked so incredibly hard this year. He started the year being unable to identify his name. He can now identify his name without any kind of model even when there are other "J" names around. Despite all of his struggles, Jonny NEVER gives up. When I think of "Perseverance", I picture Jonny as the model student for this. If at first we don't understand what he is communicating, Jonny perseveres until he can accurately express himself. When given a new task or skill to learn, Jonny keeps trying and no longer becomes frustrated and just keeps trying until he is successful. I couldn't be more proud of how hard he has worked and how much GRIT he shows each day!	Camryn is a special young man. I've never had a student quite like Cam in my 12 years of teaching and I sure am glad I got to be his 3rd grade teacher. Cam is thoughtful, introspective, kind, and hard working, but blink...and you'd miss it. You would miss just how determined he is. How smart he is. How reflective, resilient, and observant he can be. How even when he struggles to master a concept in class, he NEVER gives up. Sometimes he doesn't ask for help right away, and instead continues to works through it, learning from mistakes in a way that only Camryn can. And it's incredible to witness! Once he gets it, it's stuck for good! It truly is so special and unique and I am glad I had the privilege to learn from such a resilient and determined young man.	Salih has met the challenges of 6th grade with good success. I appreciate his efforts in class to always be part of our class discussions. Salih asks questions to help his understanding of anything that we do.
Ryan Townsend	Alex Radie	Springe Parks
When Ryan came to first grade and had difficulty using his words and used his emotions instead. Throughout first grade Ryan has learned to use his words and share how he feels to get his message across. Even when things are hard or when he is upset he still pushes through. I am very proud of his progress!	Alex is a kind and social boy 4th grader, who is showing increased awareness of the abilities of others. Despite his learning difference, and we all have learning differences, he is making noticeable progress by showing up and giving his all. He comes to school ready to learn from his teachers and related staff. He has that "I want to do it" attitude that makes him a pleasure with which to work.	Springe has been very diligent about performing well on all assignments. Springe has shown excellent progress in Social Studies.
