FIND YOURSELF Here

NORTH SPRINGS LITERARY ARTS MAGNET

Discover your voice and unlock your potential through storytelling, design, and media production.

The Literary Arts Magnet develops real-world writing, editing, and publishing skills across journalism, visual storytelling, and creative expression. Whether you're reporting school news, designing a national award-winning yearbook, or curating original student writing, you'll gain the experience and confidence to thrive in creative, communication, and media careers.

Are you ready to express yourself, lead your peers, and build a professional portfolio while still in high school? Our Literary Arts Magnet is for high-achieving students like you who are passionate about writing, design, and storytelling.

This pathway prepares students with critical thinking, collaboration, and creative communication skills that translate directly into 21st-century careers.

Yearbook – Design. Document. Lead.

Step into the fast-paced world of media publishing as you produce a full-color, professional-grade yearbook. Students plan coverage, take photos, write stories, and design layouts using Adobe software. From sports to student life, you'll create a lasting legacy while learning how to manage deadlines, conduct interviews, and tell powerful stories through both text and visuals.

Skills Gained: Graphic design, project management, photojournalism, editorial writing, and branding.

Career Pathways: Graphic Designer, Creative Director, Photographer, Publisher, Social Media Manager, Marketing Strategist, Business Manager.

Newspaper – Real News. Real Experience.

Join the student press and become the voice of the school. Newspaper students pitch stories, research, interview, write, and publish articles that inform, challenge, and connect the student body. You'll work in a newsroom and use industry tools and style guides while developing leadership, editorial, and digital publishing skills.

Skills Gained: News writing, research, media ethics, collaboration, public speaking.

Career Pathways: Journalist, PR Specialist, Communications Officer, Editor, Broadcast Producer, Content Creator.

Learn about our many exciting Magnet and other opportunities for students and discover how to FIND YOURSELF at North Springs:

FIND YOURSELF Here

NORTH SPRINGS LITERARY ARTS MAGNET

Literary Magazine – Curate. Create. Celebrate.

Celebrate creative expression and diverse voices through poetry, short fiction, visual art, and photography. Literary Magazine students select submissions, peer edit, and design an annual print publication that highlights the artistic talents of the student body. You'll build your confidence as a writer, editor, and creative thinker.

Skills Gained: Editorial review, creative writing, layout design, peer collaboration.

Career Pathways: Author, Copy Editor, Publisher, Arts Administrator, Teacher, Creative Strategist.

Real-World Ready

Our Literary Arts students graduate with published work, leadership experience, and digital portfolios they can take to college or into creative industries. Whether you are interested in journalism, media production, advertising, or the arts, this program sets you apart.

Find Yourself at North Springs!
Discover Your Potential & Benefit From...

- Award-winning publications recognized at the state and national level.
- Opportunities to attend journalism and design conferences.
- Hands-on learning in real editorial teams.
- Emphasis on student voice, leadership, and professional responsibility.

Choosing the Literary Arts Magnet means joining a vibrant, creative, and collaborative community. Your ideas matter. Your voice is heard. And your work gets published.

Ready to ignite your curiosity?
Enroll in our Literary Arts Magnet Program today!

Learn about our many exciting Magnet and other opportunities for students and discover how to FIND YOURSELF at North Springs: