

Argos Community Schools Names Megan Huys as New Elementary Principal

With Elementary Principal Kerry Johnson transitioning to her new role as Superintendent, Argos Community Schools is pleased to announce the promotion of Assistant Principal Megan Huys to Elementary Principal.

With over a decade of service to Argos Community Schools, Huys has held multiple roles, including high school science teacher, testing coordinator, and assistant principal. Her extensive experience within the district has given her a strong understanding of its needs and a clear vision for fostering academic growth and a supportive school culture. A graduate of Montana State University, she has also pursued graduate coursework at Ball State University and Indiana University. This combination of academic preparation and practical leadership experience equips her to lead with both confidence and compassion.

"I am truly excited to lead Argos Elementary," said Megan. "The school holds a special place in my heart—not only as an educator but also as a parent. With my own children currently attending Argos, I see firsthand the importance of fostering a vibrant, caring, and academically strong environment. I look forward to working alongside our amazing staff and families to help every student reach their full potential."

As she transitions to the role of principal, Megan remains focused on strengthening academic achievement and enhancing the school culture—ensuring that every child feels connected, challenged, and supported.

Argos Community Schools congratulates Megan Huys on this well-earned promotion. The district looks forward to the continued growth and success of Argos Elementary under her guidance.
