Tell us about your experience.

If you are a parent of a student receiving special education services, the Idaho Department of Education wants your feedback.

The Parent Involvement Survey is your chance to give input about how well your student's school has involved you in their education. If you receive a Parent Involvement Survey from the Department through email or mail, please take a few minutes to complete the survey.

Keep an eye out, surveys will be sent out during the first week of June from the address noreply@experience.idaho.gov.

Your input can help improve parent involvement in Idaho.
