March Madness Book Bracket
This month, Blairwood Elementary students participated in our very own March Madness Book Bracket! Just like the basketball tournament, books went head-to-head as students read, discussed, and voted for their favorites.

Each week, we narrowed down the top contenders until one book was crowned champion! This friendly competition sparked excitement around reading and helped students discover new authors and genres while building literacy skills in a fun, interactive way.

The winner is: I'm Sorry You Got Mad by Kyle Lukoff

SCHOOL FIELD TRIP!!!

University of Dayton Women's Basketball Game

Blairwood students got a front-row seat to inspiration at the University of Dayton Women's Basketball Game! Cheering alongside other young fans, students witnessed athletic excellence, teamwork, and school spirit in action. This field trip gave them a glimpse of college life and reminded them that hard work—both in the classroom and on the court—can lead to exciting opportunities in the future.

Boonshoft Planetarium Visit

Our young explorers were over the moon during the Boonshoft Planetarium visit! The traveling planetarium brought the wonders of space right into our school, allowing students to experience stars, planets, and constellations in a dynamic, immersive setting.

Students learned about Earth's place in the solar system and how astronomers use science to explore the universe. It was a truly "out of this world" experience that connected directly to our science curriculum!
