The Fargo Public Schools students listed below have been awarded the North Dakota Seal of Biliteracy by being judged proficient in a language other than English. Proficiency is assessed by an outside evaluator using the ACTFL Assessment of Performance toward Proficiency in Languages (AAPPL) for French, German, and Spanish and the ACTFL Latin Interpretive Reading Assessment (ALIRA) for Latin. Gold Seals of Biliteracy are awarded when students are rated at the Intermediate High Level and Silver Seals of Biliteracy are awarded when students are rated at the Intermediate Low Level.

The NDSB was established to recognize students and provide an identifier of this accomplishment for employers and post-secondary institutions. The NDSB serves to inspire the implementation of biliteracy programs and pathways of language development in districts across the state and help districts demonstrate value in diversity/culture.

Each student will receive a physical foil seal on their high school diploma, a certificate from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and an identifier on the student's eTranscript.

"We are thrilled to participate in the Global Seal of Biliteracy at Fargo Public Schools, it greatly enhances our students' future educational and professional opportunities," Davies High School French teacher Jill Bergren said. "Not only will they be awarded an official Seal of Biliteracy in North Dakota, but they will cross state and national boundaries, as the Global Seal connects their accomplishments to the global community. The Global Seal also allows our students to continue earning language credentials as they pursue language learning and improve their language skills at the post-secondary level and beyond."
