

FREE COURSE: Applying to College 101

- Are you getting ready to apply to college?
- Are you trying to understand where to even begin?
- Are you looking for videos, resources, or workbooks to help you stay informed and organized during your application process?

At Penn, we believe higher education can benefit everyone, and we want to help you along your college admissions journey. Together with our friends at Heights Philadelphia, we've designed a course for all high school students across the nation—like you—who are interested in pursuing a college education. This course is designed to give you access to resources, tools, and insider tips to help you pave your own pathway to college. In it, we'll walk you through the different components of college applications, how to approach them, and how to evaluate different schools to determine if they're right for you.

This course is free and has no time limit or grades. Complete the entire course or explore one specific module. It exists to support you. We hope you find it useful, and encourage you to move at your own pace. You do not need to be interested in applying to Penn to participate!
