The campus leadership team met regularly to look at data MAP, STAAR and reading levels. PLC meetings consisted of not only looking at student work, small groups were reviewed and identified areas of need to close the learning gap.

Going into the 2024-2025 year, we will continue to meet in PLC with content coaches and analyze data on student growth using resources:

Student Learning Strengths

Teachers at Furneaux used student data and student work to determine small group/differentiated instruction. Small group tutor worked with students in small group. Groups were fluid and students were exited based on need and student data.

Problem Statements Identifying Student Learning Needs

Problem Statement 1 (Prioritized): Based on formative assessments and MAP the number of approaches and meets needs to increase.

Root Cause: Our campus has seen an increase in the number of students newly enrolled in the school that have a limited time in consistent instruction.

Problem Statement 2 (Prioritized): We are seeing an increase of emergent bilingual students at our campus.

Root Cause: Creation of our new comer program at our campus in 23-24.

Problem Statement 3 (Prioritized): We saw a decrease in student performance in ELAR from 3rd to 4th grade.

Root Cause: Failure to consistently engage in PLC and the instructional coaching cycle.

Problem Statement 4 (Prioritized): In some grade levels and classrooms, student survey data suggests that high student outcomes and student perceptions differ.

Root Cause: Building student perseverance and a growth mindset continue to be a challenge.

School Processes & Programs

School Processes & Programs Summary

All programs and processes at Furneaux revolve around the 4 guiding questions in PLC.

- What do we want all students to know and be able to do?
- How will we know if they learn it?
- How will we respond when some students do not learn?
- How will we extend the learning for students who are already proficient?

These questions allow for a way to differentiate.

In PLC looking at standards and establishing the essentials that all students need to know answers the first question. Content coaches help teachers with this work weekly.

Data and anecdotal notes (progress monitoring) guides discussions and the work in weekly PLC. Teachers maintain data and "move students up or down the continuum of Does not meet, approaches, meets, masters. Several sources of data drive decisions: Reading levels, IStation, MAP, DCF, common formative assessments help us to answer the question how do we know if they learned it.

In our weekly PLC and our BOY, MOY and EOY SNAP team meetings the questions of how we will respond when some students do not learn it and how we extend the learning for students who are already proficient. Content coaches, sped teachers/staff, IF/dyslexia interventionist, GT specialist, counselor, admin participate to provide different supports to be utilized in and beyond the classroom.

School Processes & Programs Strengths

Everyone has the approach or now what, there is always more work to be done to get students to the next milestone wherever that may be for that individual student. There is a belief on campus that all students are capable, goal setting is important to the work, including parents in what they can do (struggles and successes) is critical, celebrating successes, and building on that is vital. Key members of the organization have attended PLC at work training during the summer and lead training to campus. Teachers have the philosophy of "we", not me, they welcome coaching and feedback to improve their practice.

Problem Statements Identifying School Processes & Programs Needs

Problem Statement 1 (Prioritized): We saw a decrease in student performance in ELAR from 3rd to 4th grade.

Root Cause: Failure to consistently engage in PLC and the instructional coaching cycle.

A comprehensive needs assessment is conducted on an annual basis. Multiple data sources are used from various stakeholders (parents, administrators, teachers, and community members) via surveys, meeting participation, etc. The areas of assessment include demographics, student achievement, school processes and programs, and perceptions. The school-wide focus is on academic student achievement as measured by growth throughout the school year.

2.1: Campus Improvement Plan developed with appropriate stakeholders

A campus improvement plan is developed based on the comprehensive needs assessment findings. The plan is monitored throughout the year and adjustments are made to support the goals outlined in the CIP. Copies of the CIP are posted on the district's website and are shared with various stakeholders during meetings where adequate notice of meeting dates and participation is welcomed and encouraged.
