

Middle School Vacation Assignments

Grade	Subject	ISBN	Title	Author
6	Portuguese	978-85-4180-760-9	O rapaz que não era de Liverpool	Caio Ritter
	Humanities	Over the vacation, we encourage you to read, read, read! Please continue with your independent reading goals from 5th grade by choosing one book to enjoy during the vacation. Your book can be of any genre, and it should be a “just right” book: neither too easy nor too hard for you to enjoy. On the first day of school, please bring your favorite vacation book to class. We can't wait to hear about your reading “tastes” when we meet in August! Please email alicia.mota@graded.br if you have any questions. If you need some inspiration for choosing a book to read, you might try this list of recommendations from the American Library Association; these recommendations from the Association for Library Services to Children, or this brief article with some recommendations for Young Adult Literature from National Public Radio.

Grade	Subject	ISBN	Title	Author
7	Portuguese	9788516123734	Luna Clara e Apolo Onze	Adriana Falcão
	Humanities	Your assignment is to read at least one book during this time. Any books that you choose are expected to be in English and at your independent reading level, which means that they are not too easy, nor are they too hard for you. They can be either fiction or nonfiction texts. Electronic books are welcome. On the first day of school, please bring your favorite vacation book to class. Please email christopher.lockhart@graded.br if you have questions. If you need some inspiration for choosing a book to read, you might try this list of recommendations from the American Library Association; these recommendations from the Association for Library Services to Children, or this brief article with some recommendations for Young Adult Literature from National Public Radio.

Grade	Subject	ISBN	Title	Author
8	Portuguese	978-85-56520-30-2	Aos 7 e aos 40	João Carrascoza
	Humanities	Your assignment is to read at least two books during this time. Please choose fiction or non-fiction books that you have not read before. The books that you choose are expected to be in English and at your independent reading level, which means that they are not too easy, nor are they too hard for you. Electronic books are welcome. On the first day of school, please bring your favorite vacation book to class. Please email christopher.lockhart@graded.br if you have questions. If you need some inspiration for choosing a book to read, you might try this list of recommendations from the American Library Association; these recommendations from the Association for Library Services to Children, or this brief article with some recommendations for Young Adult Literature from National Public Radio.		