Accreditation Is Continuous Improvement

Cognia defines continuous improvement as "an embedded behavior rooted in an institution's culture that constantly focuses on conditions, processes, and practices to improve teaching and learning." Accreditation is a continuous improvement process that helps an institution improve teaching and learning. Using Cognia's Performance Standards, the institution examines its current effectiveness as well as its capacity and capability to achieve its vision and goals for the future.

Cognia believes all institutions can improve no matter how well they are currently performing. In the same manner that educators are expected to understand the unique needs of every learner and tailor the education experience to drive student success, every institution must be empowered to map out and embrace their unique improvement journey. Cognia expects institutions to use the results and analyses of data from diverse sources to select and implement actions that drive improvement in education quality and student performance. Cognia recognizes that each institution's improvement journey is unique and that we can serve you best by providing key findings specific to your institution.

Around the turn of the 21st century, accreditation transformed its focus and process from a ten-year evaluation focused on the accomplishments of an institution's past decade to a forward-focused process examining what an institution is striving to accomplish in the next five years. Modern accreditation examines the current and future capabilities and capacities of an institution in the context of its mission, purpose and direction. The Standards for Accreditation define how a good institution behaves and provides the criteria to focus improvement efforts that will lead to growing learners, teachers, and leaders.

In reality, modern accreditation is a continuous improvement process. At least every six years, the institution formally engages the Standards for Accreditation to reflect and examine its progress toward its desired future as expressed through its mission, purpose, and strategic direction.

Cognia's purpose-driven, strategic process is the most widely used continuous improvement process in the world.

Cognia Performance Accreditation and the Engagement Review

This report contains the findings of the Engagement Review. The findings of the report are organized in five sections: Assurances, Rating of Analyses, Cognia Performance Standards, Insights from the Review, and a Summary of Findings that includes Noteworthy Practices and Areas for Improvement.

Accreditation is pivotal to leveraging education quality and continuous improvement. Using a set of rigorous research-based standards, the accreditation process examines the whole institution—the program, the cultural context, and the community of stakeholders—to determine how well the parts work together to meet the needs of learners. Through the Cognia Accreditation Process, highly skilled and trained evaluators gather first-hand evidence and information pertinent to evaluating an institution's performance against research-based Cognia Performance Standards. Using these standards, evaluators assess the quality of the learning environment to gain valuable insights and target improvements in teaching and learning as well as the operation of the institution.

To build a comprehensive evaluation of your institution, our experts gain a broad understanding of institution quality through a review of documented evidence, discussions with leadership, and community feedback. Using the standards as a framework, the report provides valuable guidance to help focus your institution's improvement journey.

Assurances

Assurances are requirements that accredited institutions must meet. The assurance statements are based on the type of institution, and the responses are confirmed by the Accreditation Engagement Review. Institutions are expected to meet all assurances and are expected to correct any deficiencies in unmet assurances.

Evaluations of Institution Analyses

Cognia expects institutions to use a systematic process to collect data and information using quality instruments and then analyze and synthesize that information to arrive at findings. From the findings, Cognia expects institutions to develop, prioritize, and implement theories of action that will sustain high-performing areas and lead to improvement in underperforming areas.

Cognia requires institutions to complete analyses on selected data sources. Each analysis is evaluated using rubrics aligned to the main activities within the analysis process.

Performance Standards Evaluation Results

Accreditation is based primarily on the evaluation of evidence that reflects an institution’s ability to meet the expectations as defined by the Cognia Performance Standards. The Performance Standards define the elements of quality that research indicates are present in an effective institution. Accreditation standards provide the guideposts to becoming a better institution. The Engagement Review evaluators apply a four-level rubric to determine the degree to which the institution demonstrates effective practices that reflect the expectations of the standard. The rubric scale is designed to indicate the current performance of the institution.

The rubric is scored from Level 4 to Level 1. Descriptions are provided in the table below.

RATING	LEVEL	DESCRIPTION
★★★★★	4	Demonstrating noteworthy systematic and systemic practices producing clear results that positively impact learners.
★★★★☆	3	Engaging in practices that provide evidence of expected effectiveness that is reflected in the standard.
★★★☆☆	2	Developing or improving practices that provide evidence that effort approaches desired level of effectiveness.
★★☆☆☆	1	Reflecting areas with insufficient evidence and/or limited activity leading toward improvement.

Culture of Learning Standards

A good institution nurtures and sustains a healthy culture for learning. In a healthy culture, learners, parents, and educators feel connected to the purpose and work of the institution as well as behave in alignment with the stated values and norms. The institution also demonstrates evidence that reflects the mission, beliefs, and expectations of the institution (e.g., student work; physical appearance of the institution; participation in institution activities; parents' attendance at institution functions).

Keys to Culture of Learning

A healthy culture is evident where:

- Stakeholders are actively engaged and supportive of the institution's mission
- Learners' academic and non-academic needs and interests are the focal point
- Stakeholders are included and supported

Leadership for Learning Standards

The ability of a leader to provide leadership for learning is a key attribute of a good institution. Leaders who engage in their own learning while tangibly supporting the learning process for learners and teachers have a significant positive impact on the success of others. The expectations are embedded in the culture of the institution, reflected by learners', teachers', and leaders' behaviors and attitudes toward learning.

Network Comparison for Engagement of Learning Standards

Growth in Learning Standards

A good institution positively impacts learners throughout their journey of learning. A positive impact on the learner is reflected in readiness to engage in and preparedness for the next transition in their learning. Growth in learning is also reflected in learners' ability to meet expectations in knowledge and skill acquisition.

Keys to Growth in Learning

Growth is evident when

- Learners possess non-academic skills that ensure readiness to learn
- Learners' academic achievement reflects preparedness to learn
- Learners attain knowledge and skills necessary to achieve goals for learning

Insights from the Review

The evaluators engaged in professional discussions and deliberations about the effectiveness of the processes, programs, and practices within the institution to arrive at the findings of the report. Guided by evidence, the evaluators arrived at findings that will inform your institution's continuous improvement efforts. The findings are aligned to research-based criteria designed to improve student learning and organizational effectiveness.

The findings are organized into narratives around four Key Characteristics critical to the success of any educational institution: culture of learning, leadership for learning, engagement of learning, and growth in learning. The narratives also provide the next steps to guide your institution's improvement journey in its efforts to improve the quality of educational opportunities for all learners. The feedback provided in this Accreditation Engagement Review Report will assist your institution in reflecting on its current improvement efforts and adapting and adjusting your plans to continuously strive for improvement.

Culture of Learning

Middleton High School students' well-being is at the heart of the institution's guiding principles, such as mission, purpose, and beliefs. The mission statement at Middleton High School states that they are "to provide an exceptional education for all students in a safe and supportive environment that fosters respect, perseverance, accountability, and lifelong learning." The drive is to ensure that every student is college and/or career-ready. The school has made great strides in the creation, development, and support of an impactful experience for learners where they experience curriculum and instruction that emphasizes the value of diverse backgrounds and abilities, as well as providing a safe environment that promotes growth. The school's vision is to support all students in achieving their fullest potential through collaboration among staff, students, parents, and the community. During all interviews with stakeholders, it was stated that the close and tight-knit community constantly has the best interest of their students in every decision that the institution makes. The curriculum director plays a crucial role in professional development and curriculum alignment. Each department has its own curriculum, allowing for flexibility and customization. A committee of stakeholders is in place to adopt/review the new curriculum for each content area, the committee is composed of 50% parents and 50% school staff. The school has seen the positive impact of this mission in terms of improved ISAT scores, higher graduation rates, and overall intellectual growth among students, as documented in their Idaho state report card. During discussions with the staff and administration and review of the evidence it is apparent that there is a need to implement a collaborative model. It is suggested that the institution has designated time built into the teacher's schedule that will allow them to collaborate on topics that focus on current learning, lesson planning, formative/summative assessments, student social and emotional behavior, and lesson objectives aligned to the standards.

Leadership for Learning

The administration has created and maintained institutional structures and processes that support learners and staff members in both stable and changing environments. The administration at this institution has changed multiple times over the past six years. The current administration has been a team for one year. Through these changes, the administration has managed to keep morale high and gain the acceptance of the staff, parents, and students. One staff member stated, "They were happy with the new administration because we are now working as a team." The high school administration works in conjunction with the district leaders to create a strategic plan and continuous improvement process (CIP) that supports the staff members in developing, communicating, implementing, and adjusting the continuous improvement process that directly supports the learning of all the students. Professional development toward these goals is done constantly during the six dedicated days during the school year. Leadership meets consistently as a team on a bi-monthly basis. The addition of the position of teacher leader within the building now gives the teachers a voice in decision-making on school issues. Teacher leaders meet with the school administration bi-weekly to make decisions for the school in tandem with the administration. Leadership has an excellent track record of keeping staff. Over the past two hiring cycles 93% of the staff has remained, with most having to replace retiring staff members. A new initiative this school year for staff members is to improve the learners' experiences and needs. The school has adopted an instructional philosophy of Launch, Explore, Close to every lesson. During meetings, staff have discussions around continuous improvement of how to present lessons. The administration is trying to implement proven techniques for teachers to have the biggest impact on student learning. It is recommended that the administration develops a more structured approach to how teachers will target the individual learners' experiences and needs.

Engagement of Learning

Middleton High School has made great strides in the creation, development, and support for an impactful experience for learners who are in an environment that fosters lifelong skills including creativity, curiosity, risk-taking, collaboration, and design thinking. Leaders work closely with dual credit course teachers to provide opportunities for students. The institution works with colleges and universities through the Idaho Digital Learning Alliance to ensure that the courses that are offered to the students are worthy of earning both high school and college credits. In the 2022-23 school year, a total of 1,770 dual courses were taken, earning students a total of 5,713 college credits. The school also offers career and technical education (CTE) courses allowing students to graduate with a CTE diploma with a few students earning trade certificates to be employment-ready upon graduation. Some of the CTE offerings include welding, carpentry, business, agriculture, veterinarian sciences, and culinary. Learners are engaged and have high expectations in their learning. This is apparent through standardized test scores, which are well above the state average. The graduation rate has been increasing over the past three years, with a high of 97% in 2022. The institution offers many clubs to explore individual employment, life skills, or diverse interests. Clubs include but are not limited to the Gay and Straight Alliance, FFA, Future Hispanic Leaders of America, Drama Club, Mountain Biking Club, Spanish Club, and Teens Making a Difference Club. Students can create clubs through a documented process to support unique learning needs and interests. Students have been successful in adding new clubs; robotics, Star Wars, and Bible Club. Through the review of evidence and discussion with the administration, there is a lack of higher-level classes. It is suggested that the institution add more challenging opportunities for students to stretch and expand their learning potential.

Growth in Learning

Leaders regularly evaluate instructional programs and organizational conditions to improve instruction and advance learning. An abundance of student achievement data was gathered and analyzed for the student performance analysis. The school utilizes ISAT, the state standardized test, SAT, the national standardized test, and other data to gauge the learning and growth of the students. Middleton High School exceeds the ISAT state averages for proficiency. The students and teachers stated that because of the size of the school, no student would fall through the cracks. If a student needs help, either the student or the teacher will request to work together as a team to promote student growth. Learners' diverse academic and non-academic needs are identified and effectively addressed through appropriate interventions. Staff members attend IEP and 504 meetings for students and make accommodations to allow them to succeed. The school believes that it is not only the job of the educator to instruct, but to ensure the well-being of the whole student; the staff embraces this expectation. The high participation rates and success in career technical programs and other activities are evidence of the growth of non-academic skills that allow students to be successful in college and/or careers. Administration uses Danielson's Framework as a tool to evaluate and guide teachers in their classroom instruction. At the beginning of the school year, teachers complete an Individual Professional Learning Plan (IPLP) to set their own goals that align with Danielson's Framework. These goals and classroom observations are reviewed multiple times throughout the year to give suggestions on how to improve the delivery of the curriculum. The goals and observations are the evidence utilized to complete the teacher's annual appraisal report. It is suggested that the institution implement a system to track data on students who are struggling academically and those who need and receive interventions. Then, staff is encouraged to discuss and document the results during weekly collaborations to assess the effectiveness of the interventions.

Summary of Findings

The review process focused on establishing evidence of effective practice and performance of the institution in relation to the accreditation standards.

Areas for Improvement

Using the information collected and reviewed, the evaluator identified the following Areas for Improvement that will help the institution improve. The Areas for Improvement will be revisited when the institution conducts Cognia's Progress Report.

1	Develop and implement time in the teacher's weekly schedule to allow for collaboration.
	Standard 5    Standard 25
RATIONALE	If teachers have time to collaborate, then they can improve their abilities to assist better and serve their students.
2	Research and implement proven practices that will guide professional staff members in the continuous improvement process, which is focused on students' experiences and needs.
	Standard 7
RATIONALE	If the administration is knowledgeable in highly effective practices, then they will be able to educate their staff on techniques to increase content delivery.
3	Incorporate higher-level classes to challenge students.
	Standard 21
RATIONALE	If students are challenged academically, then the opportunities for students will expand and enhance their learning potential.

Accreditation Status and Index of Education Quality®

Cognia will review the results of the Accreditation Engagement Review to make a final determination concerning the accreditation status of your institution based on these findings. Cognia provides the Index of Education Quality (IEQ) as a holistic measure of overall performance.

Your Institution's IEQ	SCORE	DESCRIPTION
317	Below 220	An IEQ score below 220 indicates that the institution has several Areas for Improvement and should focus their improvement efforts on those areas and the related Standards and/or Assurances. The institution will be required to present evidence of improvement to Cognia within one year through a Progress Monitoring Review. Additional Progress Reports may be required if satisfactory improvement is not achieved.
Cognia's IEQ Network Average: 253	220 - 300	An IEQ in the range of 220-300 suggests the institution has some Areas for Improvement and may include one or more Noteworthy Practices. Institutions must address the Areas for Improvement and provide evidence of actions taken and results to Cognia in a required Progress Report due three years following the review. Additional progress monitoring may be required if satisfactory improvement is not achieved.
	Above 300	An IEQ above 300 indicates the institution meets Cognia's expectations for accreditation that include one or more Areas for Improvement and may include one or more Noteworthy Practices. Institutions must address the Areas for Improvement and provide evidence of actions taken and results to Cognia in a required Progress Report due three years following the review. Additional progress monitoring may be required if satisfactory progress is not achieved.
