

Equality

By Jayde

What have we learned about people
Other than the fact that they're greedy
Other than the fact that they're rude
Other than the fact that they have many faults
We have learned that people want equality
No matter the age
Color
Race
Or religion
All want to be equal
Which is fair

But what is still left unanswered
What I still wonder
Is why people won't allow equality to happen
They want what they never reach for
Or they reach for too much

And the people of "higher status"

Won't let go of what they didn't earn

They crush the people "below" for no reason

No reason at all
