

Financial Aid Program

Transforming lives through access to Jesuit education.

1,000

Nearly 1,000 students supported since 1982

26%

of our students currently receive aid

100+

public schools participate in our recruitment efforts

1st Gen

Many scholars are first-generation college students

Building a More Just and Inclusive Future

Colegio San Ignacio de Loyola is a Catholic, Jesuit, college-preparatory school for boys in grades 7–12 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Since its founding in 1952, the outstanding educational experience it offers has been accessible to families from all economic backgrounds, thanks to a robust scholarship program. We believe that rigorous education and spiritual formation are the keys to a brighter future for our students and for Puerto Rico.

In 1982, these efforts were formalized with the establishment of a Financial Aid Fund. Through this fund, scholarships are offered to students who meet all the requirements to study at the school but lack the resources to do so. The scholarship program is funded mainly by direct contributions from donors and has helped nearly one thousand young people over the years. Currently, 26% of CSI's enrolled students benefit from a full or partial scholarship.

We actively recruit talented young people from inner-city public schools and invite them to study at Colegio San Ignacio. Our social worker collaborates with principals and counselors from over 100 elementary schools to identify promising students with limited financial resources. After a rigorous selection process and analysis of their financial need, the chosen students receive a full or partial scholarship. Many scholarship recipients have been the first in their families to attend college. The generosity of donors like you has helped transform their lives and those of their families. Year after year, our graduates are admitted to top universities and stand out for their achievements.

Colegio San Ignacio de Loyola is a registered 501(c)(3) organization, listed in the Official Catholic Directory in the US, and qualifies for tax exemption under Section 1101.01 of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code. Annual gifts of up to $5,000 to CSI qualify for the required Act 60 (former Act 20/22) charitable contribution. No goods or services are received in exchange for gifts to our school, which are tax deductible as allowable by law.

To donate:

Scan QR Code
Visit csi.edu.pr/donations
Mail 1940 Calle Saúco
Urbanización Santa María
San Juan PR 00927

The Jesuit school of Puerto Rico | Men for others