Expectation and Code of Professional Conduct for Visiting Nursing Staff

ECISD welcomes professional nursing staff who accompany and care for frail and medically compromised students. It is because of these additional services that our students can attend school. While in our buildings and in our classrooms, we ask that you adhere to the following expectations and code of conduct.

1. Please respect all students/patients, families and colleagues. We have a diverse population representative of our community. We believe in the inherent worth of all students regardless of their mental and physical capacity.
2. Your primary commitment is to the student/patient you serve as a nursing staff member of your agency. We welcome your participation in the student's activities, even those that are educational in nature. The classroom teacher will direct activities aimed at the student's progress. Please participate at whatever level you are comfortable.
3. Please resolve issues and problems that come up with those directly in the classroom. The school nurse of the campus, the classroom teacher, and the campus principal are all good resources to you as well. The school nurse will be asked to monitor all nursing activities on campus and report issues of concern. There is a strong expectation that most problems will be resolved at the classroom level. We ask that you communicate concerns and resolve to have good communication with those in the classroom.
4. You are requested to abide by a strict code of privacy pertaining to student/patient information. Please do not tell others about the behaviors or conditions of other students who are classmates of your client. You may hear about personal and confidential health information and you are expected to keep these issues private. As always, if you see abuse or something that concerns the safety of a student, please report that to the school nurse or the campus principal immediately.
5. Cell phone use in the classroom is strictly prohibited unless conveying medical issue/concern to outside medical support.
6. Private Duty Nurses are required to sign in and out of the campus front office daily.

Violations of these expectations may result in ECISD asking you not to return to our campuses. We will work with your agency nursing leaders to resolve issues that arise. Your name and signature below indicate your good faith effort to abide by this code of professional conduct while at ECISD.
