

Music Scholarship Audition Requirements 13+

13+ Composition

Performance

1 piece on main instrument only – please refer to the set pieces for your appropriate instrument.

Composition portfolio

- 2 contrasting original compositions of any style
- Max length 3 mins per piece
- You may bring these on manuscript paper or on software on a laptop or similar device.
- Please be prepared to either perform your piece or play a recording (which can be from notation software) during the interview
- If you wish to send digital copies of any of your work in advance, please contact us on music@dulwich.org.uk (we can accept files in the following formats: Sibelius, Dorico, Garageband, Logic, PDF, Wav, MP3).

What we are looking for

A technical understanding of harmony, melody, texture and structure used in a creative way to create pieces which flow effectively, have a consistent sense of style and a balance of contrast and repetition.

Composition Technical study

During your warmup you will be given a short composition task to work on in the 20 minutes preparation time. You will be given a short 4 note motif and asked to create a short composition (between 30 secs to 1 minute) to perform to us on the piano or your instrument during the interview. This can be notated in any way you like.

What we are looking for

A creative response to the motif showing a sense of development and character. We are not expecting a finished and fully notated composition.

Aural

We will give you some short aural tests, similar in style to the ABRSM aural for your corresponding grade.

What we are looking for

We want you to be able to show us what you can hear and how you understand the music you hear.

Interview

We will talk to you about your current music making, your musical ambitions, your wider interests and hobbies. We want to find out more about you - there will be no trick questions!

What we are looking for

Our music scholars are passionate and serious about their music making, they enjoy the challenge of the music we work on together and they work closely as a team with each other and with the staff. We are looking for musicians who share that drive, who will fit into our team and who will be role models.
