School Use of Student Photos, Names and Works

The Upper Adams School District prints student photos, names and/or works in publications including, but not limited to, newsletters, calendars, yearbooks, event programs as well as on the Upper Adams School District website, and/or through communication platforms like Class Dojo or SeeSaw. We feel it is important to communicate student successes experienced as part of their education. However, we are also aware such information may be viewed by others throughout our community, our nation and our world.

Accordingly, we ask parents/guardians for permission for your student to be included in the types of publications listed above. This form will become a part of your student's record and will be referred to should questions arise as to your preference regarding this matter. You may change your preference at any time by updating your form in the school office.

Please note: The District will consider consent has been given to utilize photos, names and/or works of students in publications and on the website if this form has not been signed and received from a parent/guardian indicating otherwise.
