

Jill Broussard: Champion for Education in Pinal County

Jill Broussard has served as Pinal County Superintendent of Schools since November 2011, bringing to the role a deep passion for education and a proven record of leadership. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Elementary Education from Arizona State University and a Master's in Educational Leadership from Northern Arizona University—both earned with distinction. Jill also holds Principal and Superintendent certifications, underscoring her preparedness to lead at the highest levels of educational administration.

Since taking office, Superintendent Broussard has driven transformative initiatives across Pinal County. She launched an innovative educational program within the H.O.P.E. and Esperanza School correctional facilities, reflecting her commitment to equity and second chances. Her collaboration with Justice Sandra Day O'Connor to promote civic engagement highlights her dedication to developing well-rounded, informed citizens.

Jill's influence extends statewide and nationally. She has served on the Arizona State Board of Education, the First Things First Pinal Regional Council, and represents the Western Region on the National Association of Educational Service Agencies. Her work on numerous committees and boards illustrates her unwavering advocacy for educational reform and access.

Beyond her professional achievements, Jill is deeply rooted in her community and family. As a mother of two and a host parent to nine exchange students, she models generosity and global awareness. She also dedicates time as a youth sports coach and Sunday school teacher, reflecting her belief in nurturing the whole child.

In every role—educator, leader, wife, mother, and mentor—Jill Broussard remains focused on elevating education in Pinal County. She firmly believes that the future of our nation depends on the strength of our schools and continues to lead with purpose, vision, and heart.
