

Graduating with Global Designation

Emerson Smith and Anaiya Nahar with Alexiya Downer and Abby Bradley

Four graduates from The Bolles Class of 2025 are the first students to do so as Global Scholars.

Abby Bradley, Alexiya Downer, Anaiya Nahar and Emerson Smith completed Bolles' Global Scholar Program, earning global designations on their diplomas and transcripts for completing the program, which culminated with the global capstone – an in-depth research project the scholars completed in their final semester focusing on a global issue and taking action to impact that issue. These capstones were as follows:

- “Rethinking Fast Fashion” (Bradley)
- “Lessons from The Blue Zones” (Downer)
- “Increasing Employment Opportunities for Individuals with Disabilities” (Nahar)
- “Reducing Household Waste with Backyard Hens” (Smith)

Bradley, Downer, Nahar and Smith presented these projects to their family, friends and the Bolles community both on campus and via online portfolios.
