Exploring Your Child's Profile

Discover your child's interests and goals

- In your child's profile you will be able to see all the work they've done in Xello. If there's no information in a certain section, it means that your child has not started or completed the activity yet.
- You can explore each section to learn new information about your child. You will notice a tip box at the top of each page that gives you some information about that section.

Exploring the Student Experience

Explore the student portal for yourself

To get a better understanding of the platform to support your child, you can try Xello for yourself!

On the dashboard, select your child's grade/school to explore. You will be able to take assessments, try a lesson, explore careers and much more.

Conversation Starters

Xello is a great tool to use to start future planning conversations with your child. Some questions you can ask based on your child's profile include:

- Did any of your career matches surprise you?
- What do you like and dislike about X career?
- What made you decide to take X and Y course?
- I see you're considering doing an apprenticeship after high school. Have you talked to any local companies yet?
