Course Overview

Becoming a Better Writer- South

This course is for students who are hoping to expand their skills as writers and for students who are strong writers interested in sharing their skills with other writers as tutors in our Writing Center. The course creates a 'lab school' environment that helps writers examine real-world models and writing purposes and helps tutors engage in real-world revision conversations. Writers and tutors both will engage in the writing process and will be further immersed in skills that will ask them to fit purpose and audience across as variety of writing modes.
