Pittsburgh Public Schools Program Impact 2024/25 School Year

Data from Pittsburgh Public Schools shows the program is making a difference—fewer than 5% of drivers are repeat offenders. But with over 10,000 stop-arm violations, there's still work to do, as each one poses a real threat to student safety.

This school year, the district will continue partnering with BusPatrol to prioritize safety through community education, public awareness, and data-driven decisions—like adjusting bus stops and addressing high-risk areas—to help make roads safer for every child, every day.
