Section 3.1 Authority and Responsibility of the Governing Board.

(a) All corporate powers of the Corporation conferred by the articles of incorporation, these bylaws, the GNCC, or otherwise, shall be exercised by or under the authority of, and the business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed under the direction of, the Governing Board (collectively referred to as the "Board"; individual Board members shall be referred to as "Director(s)").

Such resignation shall take effect at the time specified in the notice, or if no time is specified, then upon receipt. A resignation need not be accepted to be effective.

Section 3.5 Removal. Any director may be removed with or without cause at any regular or special meeting of the Board, by the affirmative vote of a majority of directors then in office if notice of the purpose of acting upon such removal shall have been given in the notice calling such meeting. When Open Meetings requirements become applicable, all subsequent meetings of the Board shall comply with such laws.

Section 4.2 Special Meetings; Notice. Special meetings of the Board may be called by or at the request of the Chair or a majority of Directors in office at that time. Unless waived as contemplated in Section 5.1, notice of the date, time, place, and purpose of any special meeting of the Governing Board shall be given by the Secretary, in accordance with Section 5.1, at least twenty-four (24) hours before such meeting.

Section 4.3 Annual Meeting.

The Annual Meeting shall be in June of each year starting in 2017, or as otherwise resolved by the Board. Unless otherwise resolved by the Board, elections for directors and officers shall be held at the Annual Meeting.

Section 4.4 Waiver.

Waiver of notice of all meetings of the Board shall be governed by Section 5.1 of these bylaws.

Section 4.5 Quorum. At meetings of the Board, a majority of the directors then in office shall be present to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Once the Corporation is subject to Open Meetings Act requirements, a majority of board members must be present in person to constitute a quorum.

Section 4.6 Vote Required for Action.

Except as otherwise provided in these bylaws, the act of a majority of the directors at the meeting at which a quorum exists shall be the act of the Board.

Section 4.7 Telephone and Similar Meetings. To the full extent permitted by law, Directors may participate in and hold a meeting by means of conference telephone or similar communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can simultaneously hear each other during the meeting. Participation in such a meeting shall constitute presence in person at the meeting to the full extent permitted by law, except where a director participates in the meeting and, at the beginning of the meeting or promptly upon beginning participation, objects to holding the meeting or transacting business at the meeting and does not subsequently vote for or assent to any action taken at the meeting. When applicable, any such meetings shall meet the Open Meetings Act requirements under O.C.G.A. § 50-14-1, et. seq.

Section 4.8 Adjournments. A meeting of the Board, whether or not a quorum is present, may be adjourned by a majority of the directors present to reconvene at a specific time and place. It shall not be necessary to give notice of the reconvened meeting or of the business to be transacted, other than by announcement at the meeting which was adjourned. At any such reconvened meeting at which a quorum is present, any business may be transacted which could have been transacted at a meeting which was adjourned.

Section 4.9 Action by Written Consent

Where permissible under Georgia law, and prior to its meetings being subject to the Open Meetings Act, the Board may take action without a meeting pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 14-3-821 if written consent to the action is signed by a majority of directors. Such consent may be given electronically.

Except as provided in this Article 5, the waiver must be in writing, signed by the director entitled to the notice, and delivered to the Corporation for inclusion in the minutes or filing with the corporate records. A director's attendance at or participation in a meeting waives any required notice to that director of the meeting unless the director at the beginning of the meeting (or promptly upon the director's arrival) objects to holding the meeting or transacting business at the meeting and does not thereafter vote for or assent to action taken at the meeting.

Dear Superintendent Greene:

I understand that the DeKalb County School District will soon be considering a charter petition from the DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning to provide dropout prevention and recovery services to your community.

I am chair of the governing charter board for a charter school in south Fulton County with the same mission, instructional model and management company, Accelerated Learning Solutions, Inc. (ALS Education). We received a unanimous vote of approval by the School Board of Fulton County Schools and are currently renovating a site in south Fulton County. This dropout prevention charter school will be opening in August 2016 to serve up to 600 students.

As a previous DCSD School Board member and chair, I have become aware of all school districts' challenges to serve students who are at risk of dropping out and need an effective alternative.

I believe this charter school instructional model and the management company will bring you, your School Board and students an effective option. I urge you to consider a thorough review and approval of this charter petition and if possible, a visit to one of these schools.

If you would like to discuss the issue or my thoughts on this recommendation, please feel free to contact me by phone or email noted below. Best regards to you and the work of your team to serve students.

Thank you,

Thomas Bowen, Chair
Georgia High School for Accelerated Learning

Dear Superintendent Greene:

I was a founding member of a Charlotte charter school governing board now serving up to 1,200 students in two schools authorized by the North Carolina State Board of Education. These dropout prevention and dropout recovery high schools, Commonwealth High School and Stewart Creek High School are working closely with Charlotte Mecklenburg School District (CMS) principals to provide students with a non-traditional option for high school graduation.

As a result of the need in Raleigh, North Carolina and the support of North Carolina officials, an identical school and instructional model was approved for Raleigh (Wake County), North Carolina by the State Board of Education to serve similar students who are at-risk of dropping out or have previously dropped out. This school will open to serve students in August 2016.

Our board is working with Accelerated Learning Solutions (ALS Education), the same company managing our dropout prevention schools in Charlotte and the same management company proposed to operate the dropout prevention school in the DeKalb County Schools petition you will be receiving prior to March 17.

I am writing in support of this model and the support it provides our students. I believe it is one of the effective solutions for students who cannot succeed in a traditional public high school. Please consider our experience below when reviewing this charter petition. Our schools:

- are graduating students (Charlotte schools) who would have dropped out and not had a future,
- are partnering, not competing with school district high schools and, as a result, have positive relationships with our school districts,
- provide extensive, in-school social services support and post-secondary coaching to all students,
- are SACS accredited in their first year of operation as a result of ALS Education's District Accreditation by SACS,
- are achieving positive financial results. In addition, there are no profit margins or financial gains for ALS in any school facility leases or financing fees.

I encourage your approval of this petition to serve students – and former students, in DeKalb County.

Thank you and best regards,

Wendell Bullard

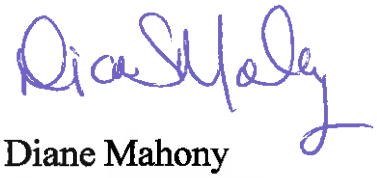
Dear Superintendent Greene:

I am the chair of the governing charter board for five dropout out prevention and recovery charter schools with contracts to serve 2,900 students. We are proud that our schools have been designated by Orange County Public Schools as the exclusive provider of dropout prevention and recovery services for the School District.

I understand that DeKalb County Schools will soon be considering a charter petition from the DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning to provide dropout prevention and recovery services. The school management company proposed in the DeKalb petition is Accelerated Learning Solutions (ALS Education), the same company managing all of our dropout prevention schools in Orlando.

ALS Education has been very effective in managing the schools we govern for the following reasons:



- Our ALS managed dropout prevention schools have offered Orange County Public Schools an effective solution for addressing the dropout challenge in this community. We are providing these students with a different option and, as a result, students are graduating and going on to a successful post-secondary choice.
- ALS schools partner, they do not compete, with our school district high schools. As a result, ALS-managed dropout prevention and recovery schools have a positive, non-adversarial relationship with our school district.
- ALS schools help students who are at-risk of dropping out get back on track, earn a diploma and transition to meaningful post-secondary options. Students who are performing at acceptable levels at their home schools are not recruited; in fact, students are referred by high school principals.

- ALS schools provide extensive, in-school social services support and post-secondary coaching to all students.
- ALS has District Accreditation by AdvancED SACS/CASI. All ALS-managed schools are SACS accredited in their first year of operation.
- All of our ALS-managed schools are achieving positive financial results. An independent auditor to our charter board has consistently issued clean financial audits.
- There are no profit margins or financial gains for ALS in any school facility leases or financing fees.. ALS provides site selection and construction management services free of charge to charter school boards.

For all of the above reasons, I encourage the School District's approval of this petition.

Thank you,

Diane Mahony

Dear Superintendent Greene:

I am a founding member of three Tampa, Florida (Hillsborough County) charter school governing boards now serving up to 1,525 students in three schools authorized by Hillsborough County Public Schools. These dropout prevention and dropout recovery high schools are helping students succeed and graduate with a standard high school diploma. Our graduates now have a future and can support themselves and their families.

Our board is working with Accelerated Learning Solutions (ALS Education), the same school management company proposed to operate the dropout prevention school in a petition you will be receiving next month.

As you and your organization review this petition, please know that our experience with this model and the management company operating our schools has been very positive.

Our schools are graduating students. Since our first graduating class in 2011 we have graduated 272 students who now have opportunities as a result of earning a standard high school diploma. In addition, our schools are partnering, not competing with school district high schools and, as a result, have positive relationships with our school districts.

Importantly, our schools are also:

- providing extensive, in-school social services support and post-secondary coaching to all students, and are
- SACS accredited in their first year of operation as a result of ALS Education's District Accreditation by SACS,

I encourage your approval of this petition to serve students.

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the governmental activities, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the Commonwealth High School, as of and for the year ended June 30, 2015, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise the Commonwealth High School's basic financial statements as listed in the table of contents.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinions

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the respective financial position of the governmental activities, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the Commonwealth High School as of June 30, 2015, and the respective changes in financial position and, where applicable, cash flows thereof for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Other Matters

Required Supplementary Information

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that the Management's Discussion and Analysis on pages 3 through 10 be presented to supplement the basic financial statements. Such information, although not a part of the basic financial statements, is required by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board who considers it to be an essential part of financial reporting for placing the basic financial statements in an appropriate operational, economic, or historical context. We have applied certain limited procedures to the required supplementary information in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which consisted of inquiries of management about the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audit of the basic financial statements. We do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the information because the limited procedures do not provide us with sufficient evidence to express an opinion or provide any assurance.

Supplementary and Other Information

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming opinions on the financial statements that collectively comprise the Commonwealth High School's basic financial statements. The budgetary schedules, as well as the accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal and State Awards, as required by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations, and the State Single Audit Implementation Act are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the basic financial statements.

The budgetary schedules, as well as the accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal and State Awards is the responsibility of management and were derived from and relate directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the basic financial statements. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the basic financial statements or to the basic financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the budgetary schedules and the accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal and State Awards are fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the basic financial statements as a whole.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our reports dated October 23, 2015 on our consideration of Commonwealth High School's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of these reports is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. Those reports are an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering Commonwealth High School's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

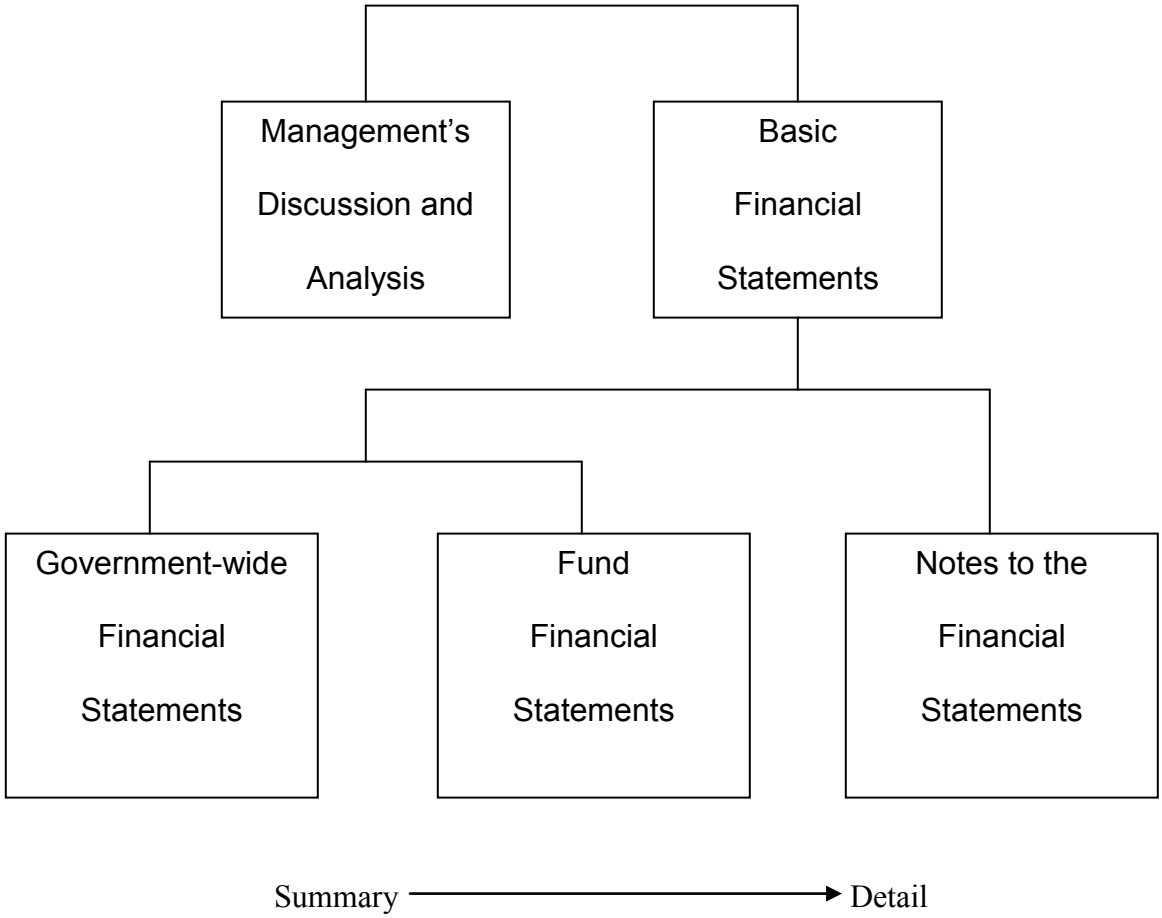
MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Management's Discussion and Analysis
Commonwealth High School
June 30, 2015

As management of the Commonwealth High School (the 'School"), we offer readers of the School's financial statements this narrative overview and analysis of the financial activities of the School for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2015. We encourage readers to read the information presented here in conjunction with additional information that we have furnished in the School's financial statements which follow this narrative.

Financial Highlights

- The School is managed by Accelerated Learning Solutions, Inc. through a management agreement.



- The School's total revenues were $1,773,395, principally from state and local funding and a management company contribution. The School's expenses for the year ended June 30, 2015 were $1,773,395.

Overview of the Financial Statements

This discussion and analysis is intended to serve as an introduction to School's basic financial statements. The School's basic financial statements consist of three components; 1) government-wide financial statements, 2) fund financial statements, and 3) notes to the financial statements (see Figure 1). The basic financial statements present two different views of the School through the use of government-wide statements and fund financial statements. In addition to the basic financial statements, this report contains other supplemental information that will enhance the reader's understanding of the financial condition of the School.

Required Components of Annual Financial Report

Basic Financial Statements

The first two statements (Exhibits 1 and 2) in the basic financial statements are the Government-wide Financial Statements. They provide both short and long-term information about the School's financial status.

The next statements (Exhibits 3 through 5) are Fund Financial Statements. These statements focus on the activities of the individual parts of the School's government. These statements provide more detail than the government-wide statements. There are two parts to the Fund Financial Statements: 1) the governmental funds statements; and 2) the proprietary fund statements.

The next section of the basic financial statements is the notes. The notes to the financial statements explain in detail some of the data contained in those statements. After the notes, supplemental information is provided to show details about the School's individual funds. Budgetary information for the School also can be found in this section of the statements.

Government-wide Financial Statements

The government-wide financial statements are designed to provide the reader with a broad overview of the School's finances, similar in format to a financial statement of a private-sector business. The government-wide statements provide short and long-term information about the School's financial status as a whole.

The two government-wide statements report the School's net position and how they have changed. Net position is the difference between the School's total assets and total liabilities and deferred inflows of resources. Measuring net position is one way to gauge the School's financial condition.

The government-wide statements are divided into two categories: 1) governmental activities; and 2) business-type activities. The governmental activities include most of the School's basic functions such as instructional services and business services. State, county, and federal funds provide virtually all of the funding for these functions. The government-wide financial statements are Exhibits 1 and 2 of this report.

Fund Financial Statements

The fund financial statements provide a more detailed look at the School's most significant activities. A fund is a grouping of related accounts that is used to maintain control over resources that have been segregated for specific activities or objectives. The School, like all other governmental entities in North Carolina, uses fund accounting to ensure and reflect compliance (or non-compliance) with finance-related legal requirements, such as the North Carolina General Statutes or the School's budget ordinance. All of the funds of the School can be divided into two categories: governmental funds and proprietary funds.

Governmental Funds – Governmental funds are used to account for those functions reported as governmental activities in the government-wide financial statements. Most of the School's basic services are accounted for in governmental funds. These funds focus on how assets can readily be converted into cash flow in and out, and what monies are left at year-end that will be available for spending in the next year. Governmental funds are reported using an accounting method called modified accrual accounting that provides a short-term spending focus. As a result, the governmental fund financial statements give the reader a detailed short-term view that helps him or her determine if there are more or less financial resources available to finance the School's programs. The relationship between governmental activities (reported in the Statement of Net Position and the Statement of Activities) and governmental funds is described in a reconciliation that is a part of the fund financial statements.

The School adopts an annual budget, although it is not required to do so by the General Statutes. Because the budget is not legally required by the Statutes, the budgetary comparison statements are not included in the basic financial statements, but are part of the supplemental statements and schedules that follow the notes. The budget is a legally adopted document that incorporates input from the faculty, management, and the Board of Directors of the School in determining what activities will be pursued and what services will be provided by the School during the year. It also authorizes the School to obtain funds from identified sources to finance these current period activities. The budgetary statement provided for each of the funds demonstrates how well the School has complied with the budget ordinance and whether or not the School has succeeded in providing the services as planned when the budget was adopted.

Notes to the Financial Statements – The notes provide additional information that is essential to a full understanding of the data provided in the government-wide and fund financial statements. The notes to the financial statements begin on page 14 of this report.

Government-Wide Financial Analysis

As noted earlier, net position may, over time, serve as one useful indicator of a school's financial condition. The assets of the School equaled the liabilities as of June 30, 2015. This was the first year of operations of the School. The School's net position was zero for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2015, the first year of operations.

Financial Analysis of the School's Funds

As noted earlier, the School uses fund accounting to ensure and demonstrate compliance with finance-related legal requirements.

Governmental Funds. The focus of the School's governmental funds is to provide information on near-term inflows, outflows, and balances of usable resources. Such information is useful in assessing the School's financing requirements. Specifically, unassigned fund balance can be a useful measure of a government's net resources available for spending at the end of the fiscal year.

The general fund is the chief operating fund of the School. At the end of the current fiscal year, unassigned fund balance of the General Fund was $0, while total fund balance was also $0

At June 30, 2015, the governmental funds of the School reported a combined fund balance of $0.

Capital Asset and Debt Administration

Capital assets. The School had no capital assets for the year ended June 30, 2015.

Long-term Debt. The School had no long term debt obligation for the year ended June 30, 2015.

Economic Factors

The following key economic indicators reflect the growth and prosperity of the School:

- Overall state and local funding per student will increase by approximately 1% in FY 2016 as compared to FY 2015. The management company will continue to deliver services despite revenue shortfalls.

- All these factors were considered in preparing the FY 2016 budget.

I. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The accounting policies Commonwealth High School (the "School") conform to generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") as applicable to governments. Charter schools are established by non-profit entities. Because of the authority of the State Board of Education ("SBE") to unilaterally abolish a school with all the assets reverting to a local education agency, the charter schools in North Carolina follow the governmental reporting model, as used by local education agencies. The following is a summary of the more significant accounting policies:

A) Reporting Entity

Commonwealth High School is a public school operated by a non-profit corporation, serving approximately 224 students. The School operates under an approved charter received from the SBE, and applied for under the provisions of General Statute (G.S.) 115C-238.29B. G.S. 115C-238.29F(f)(1) states that a charter school shall be subject to the audit requirements adopted by the SBE, which includes the audit requirements established by G.S. 115C-447 of the School Budget and Fiscal Control Act (SBFCA). G.S. 115C-447 also requires financial statements to be prepared in accordance with GAAP.

B) Basis of Presentation

Government-wide Statements*: The statement of net position and the statement of activities display information about the School. These statements include the financial activities of the overall government. Eliminations have been made to minimize the double counting of internal activities. These statements distinguish between the governmental and business-type activities of the School. Governmental activities generally are financed through intergovernmental revenues, and other non-exchange transactions. Business-type activities are financed in whole or in part by fees charged to external parties. The School has no business-type activities.

The statement of activities presents a comparison between direct expenses and program revenues for the different business-type activities of the School and for each function of the School's governmental activities. Direct expenses are those that are specifically associated with a program or function and, therefore, are clearly identifiable to a particular function. Indirect expense allocations that have been made in the funds have been reversed for the statement of activities. Program revenues include (a) fees and charges paid by the recipients of goods or services offered by the programs and (b) grants and contributions that are restricted to meeting the operational or capital requirements of a particular program. Revenues that are not classified as program revenues are presented as general revenues.

Fund Financial Statements*: The fund financial statements provide information about the School's funds. Separate statements for each fund category – governmental and proprietary – are presented. The emphasis of fund financial statements is on major governmental and enterprise funds, each displayed in a separate column. All remaining governmental funds are reported as non-major funds.

I. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

B) Basis of Presentation (Continued)

The School reports the following major governmental funds:

General Fund: The General Fund is the general operating fund of the School. The General Fund accounts for all financial resources except those that are required to be accounted for in another fund.

State Public School Fund: The State Public School Fund includes appropriations from the Department of Public Instruction for current operating needs of the School and is reported as a special revenue fund.

C) Measurement Focus and Basis of Accounting

Government-wide and Proprietary Fund Financial Statements. The government-wide financial statements are reported using the economic resources measurement focus. The government-wide and financial statements are reported using the accrual basis of accounting. Revenues are recorded when earned and expenses are recorded at the time liabilities are incurred, regardless of when the related cash flows take place. Non-exchange transactions, in which the School gives (or receives) value without directly receiving (or giving) equal value in exchange, include grants and donations. Revenue from grants and donations is recognized in the fiscal year in which all eligibility requirements have been satisfied.

Governmental Fund Financial Statements. Governmental funds are reported using the current financial resources measurement focus and the modified accrual basis of accounting. Under this method, revenues are recognized when measurable and available. The School considers all revenues reported in the governmental funds to be available if the revenues are collected within sixty days after year-end. These could include federal, State, and county grants, and some charges for services. Expenditures are recorded when the related fund liability is incurred, except for principal and interest on general long-term debt, claims and judgments, and compensated absences, which are recognized as expenditures to the extent they have matured. General capital asset acquisitions are reported as expenditures in governmental funds. Proceeds of general long-term debt and acquisitions under capital leases are reported as other financing sources.

Under the terms of grant agreements, the School funds certain programs by a combination of specific cost-reimbursement grants and general revenues. Thus, when program expenses are incurred, there is both restricted and unrestricted net position available to finance the program. It is the School's policy to first apply cost-reimbursement grant resources to such programs, and then general revenues.

I. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

D) Budgetary Data

Annual budgets are adopted for all funds, on a school wide basis. All budgets are prepared using the modified accrual basis of accounting.

The governing board has voluntarily established the policy, as a sound business practice, that expenditures may not exceed appropriations, for all of the School's funds, based on the adopted budget and subsequent amendments. During the year, two amendments to the original budget were necessary. The budget presented in the supplemental data represents the budget of the School at June 30, 2015.

E) Assets, Liabilities, Deferred Outflows and Inflows of Resources and Fund Equity

1. Deposits and Investments

All deposits of the School are made in a local bank. The accounts are FDIC insured. Also, the School may establish time deposit accounts such as NOW and SuperNOW accounts, money market accounts, and certificates of deposit. .

2. Cash and Cash Equivalents

The School pools money from several funds to facilitate disbursement and investment and to maximize investment income. Therefore, all cash and investments are essentially demand deposits and are considered cash and cash equivalents.

3. Capital Assets

The School's capital assets are recorded at original cost. Donated assets are listed at their estimated fair value at the date of donation. The total of these estimates is not considered large enough that any errors would be material when capital assets are considered as a whole.

It is the policy of the School to capitalize all capital assets costing more than $1,000 with an estimated useful life of three or more years. All depreciable assets are depreciated using the straight-line method of depreciation. The cost of normal maintenance and repairs that do not add to the value of the asset or materially extend asset lives are not capitalized. The School does not own any capital assets at June 30, 2015.

4. Deferred Outflows/Inflows of Resources

In addition to assets, the statement of financial position will sometimes report a separate section for deferred outflows of resources. This separate financial statement element, Deferred Outflows of Resources, represents a consumption of net position that applies to a future period and so will not be recognized as an expense or expenditure until then. The School has no items that meet this criterion. In addition to liabilities, the statement of financial position will sometimes report a separate section for deferred inflows of resources. This separate financial statement element, Deferred Inflows of Resources, represents an acquisition of net position that applies to a future period and so will not be recognized as revenue until then. The School has no items that meet this criterion.

5. Net Position/Fund Balances

Net Position
Net position in the government-wide financial statements are classified as net investment in capital assets, net of related debt; restricted; and unrestricted. Restricted net position represent constraints on resources that are either externally imposed by creditors, grantors, contributors, or laws or regulations of other governments or imposed by law through State statute.

Fund Balance
In the governmental fund financial statements, fund balance is composed of two classifications designed to disclose the hierarchy of constraints placed on how fund balance can be spent.

The governmental fund types classify fund balance as follows:

Nonspendable Fund Balance – This classification includes amounts that cannot be spent because they are either (a) not in spendable form or (b) legally or contractually required to be maintained intact.

Restricted Fund Balance – This classification includes amounts that are restricted to specific purposes externally imposed by creditors or imposed by law.

Committed Fund Balance – The portion of fund balance that can only be used for specific purpose imposed by majority vote of School's governing body (highest level of decision-making authority). Any changes or removal of the specific purpose requires majority action by the governing bodies that approved the original action.

Assigned fund balance – The portion of fund balance that the School intends to use for specific purposes.

Unassigned Fund Balance – The portion of fund balance that has not been assigned to another fund or restricted, committed, or assigned to specific purposes within the General Fund.

The School has a revenue spending policy that provides guidance for programs with multiple revenue sources. The School will use resources in the following hierarchy: bond proceeds, federal funds, State funds, local non-board of education funds, board of education funds. For purposes of fund balance classification, expenditures are to be spent from restricted fund balance first, followed in-order by committed fund balance, assigned fund balance, and lastly unassigned fund balance. The Board of Directors has the authority to deviate from this policy if it is in the best interest of the School.

6. Reconciliation of Government-wide and Fund Financial Statements

The governmental fund balance sheet includes a reconciliation between for governmental funds' total fund balance and governmental activities' net position as reported in the government-wide statement of net position. There is no net adjustment.

F) Revenues, Expenditures, and Expenses

1. Funding

Commonwealth High School is funded by the State Board of Education, receiving (i) an amount equal to the average per pupil allocation for the average daily membership (ADM) from the local school administrative unit allotments in which the School is located (i.e. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools) for each child attending the School except for the allocation for children with special needs and (ii) an additional amount for each child attending the School who is a child with special needs [G.S. 115C-238.29H(a)]. Additionally, the appropriate local school administrative unit(s) transfers to the School, for each student who resides in the local administrative unit and attends the charter school, an amount equal to the per pupil local current expense appropriation to the respective local school administrative unit for the fiscal year. [G.S. 115C-238.29H(b)]. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 2015, Commonwealth High School received funding from the Board of Education for Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools and Cabarrus County.

Furthermore, Commonwealth High School has received donations of cash and/or equipment from private organizations. The cash is available to be used throughout the year for the School's various programs and activities.

2. Reconciliation of Government-wide and Fund Financial Statements

The governmental fund statement of revenues, expenditures, and changes in fund balance is followed by reconciliation between the change in governmental funds' fund balance and the change in governmental activities' net position as reported on the government-wide statement of activities. There was no net difference.

G) Use of Estimates and Assumption

Management uses estimates and assumptions in preparing financial statements. Those estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities, and the reported revenues and expenditures.

II. DETAIL NOTES ON ALL FUNDS

A) Assets

1. Deposits

At June 30, 2015, the School had deposits with banks and savings and loans with a carrying amount of $2,922. The bank balance with the financial institution was $2,922 all of which was covered by federal depository insurance. The School does not have a deposit policy for custodial credit risk.

B) Liabilities

1. Risk Management

The School is exposed to various risks of losses related to torts; theft of, damage to, and destruction of assets; errors and omissions; injuries to employees; and natural disasters. The School maintains general liability and errors and omissions insurance coverage of $1 million per occurrence with a commercial carrier.

The School carries commercial coverage for all other risks of loss. There have been no significant reductions in insurance coverage in the prior year and claims have not exceeded coverage in any of the past two fiscal years.

The School has elected not to carry flood insurance because the School is not in an area of the State that has been mapped and designated an “A” area (an area close to a river, lake, or stream) by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The School carries a crime policy in which fidelity bond coverage of $1,000,000 is included for all its employees.

C) Fund Balance

The School has a revenue spending policy that provides guidance for programs with multiple revenue sources. The School will use resources in the following hierarchy: bond proceeds, federal funds, State funds, and local funds. For purposes of fund balance classification, expenditures are to be spent from restricted fund balance first, followed in-order by committed fund balance, assigned fund balance, and lastly unassigned fund balance. The Board of Directors has the authority to deviate from this policy if it is in the best interest of the School.

The following schedule provides management and citizens with information on the portion of General fund balance that is available for appropriation.

III. MANAGEMENT AND EDUCATION CONTRACTS

Management Contract

The School has entered into a contractual agreement with Accelerated Learning Solutions, Inc., a Tennessee Corporation ("ALS" or the "Company"), to provide management and consulting services to the School. The management agreement commenced March 12, 2014 until terminated by either party. Under the terms of the agreement, the School is charged fees for services of 97% of qualified gross revenue, as defined in the management agreement. Qualified gross revenues exclude grant funds obtained by the School independently and without the assistance of ALS, student fees, PTA/PTO income, any state or federal funding that is meant to be a reimbursement of expenditures on a dollar for dollar basis, funds used to pay School expenses or to repay ALS for School expenses advanced by ALS and refunds or discounts received under the E-rate program for any goods or services purchased by ALS or by the School with funds advanced by ALS, which refunds and discounts shall belong to ALS.

In return for the fees, ALS shall be responsible for providing the educational model, salaries for personnel, curriculum materials, textbooks, management and consulting services in the areas of financial operations, facility and equipment procurement and maintenance, curriculum assessment and evaluation, technology and operational support, human resources and student recruitment.

The contract may be terminated by the School for non-renewal of the charter with the School Board and for breaches of contract terms which have not been cured within ninety days of written notice at the time of the contract breach. The contract may be terminated by ALS for fiscal year operating deficits, failure to pay fees due to ALS, material changes in federal or state funding, or other material breaches of the contract terms by the School which have not been cured within ninety days of written notice at the time of the contract breach.

Upon termination of the agreement, the School has the right to have all real and personal property leases related to the School assigned to and assumed by the School, as long as the lease permits assignment. The School also has the right to purchase all personal property and leasehold improvements owned by the Company and used exclusively or primarily in connection with School operations at the asset's "net book value", which shall be calculated based on the straight line method of depreciation. The useful lives assigned for this calculation are three (3) years for computers and software and five (5) years for furniture, fixtures, leasehold improvements, equipment and phone. There are no terms specified in the agreement for this purchase option. Assets with an original cost of $1,678,585 and a net book value of $1,367,401 as of June 30, 2015 have been identified by the Company to be used exclusively or primarily in connection with School operations. Activity related to capital assets used by the School for the year ended June 30, 2015 was as follows:

	Capital Assets	Accumulated Depreciation	Net Book Value
Leasehold improvements	$ 1,200,461	$ 199,577	$ 1,000,884
Computer equipment	176,793	47,306	129,487
Furniture and fixtures	159,920	26,020	133,900
Equipment	3,181	504	2,677

Software	132,648	36,847	95,801
	$ 1,678,585	$ 311,184	$ 1,367,401

For the year ended June 30, 2015, the Company provided to the School its resources and management services as outlined in the Management Agreement. The amount charged by the Company is $1,663,810 representing the 97% management fee, and is comprised of identifiable direct functional expenses/expenditures of $1,457,636, indirect management company expenses/expenditures of $260,600, less a management contribution of $47,368. The management company also voluntarily contributed an additional $10,459 to the School during the year which is also recorded in revenue – contribution from management company.

All employees are employees of the management company and benefits are its responsibility. Management company employees may participate in a defined contribution plan that is qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code. Participants may contribute a portion of their compensation subject to a maximum annual deferral contribution. The School made no matching contributions to the plan for the year ended June 30, 2015. The School provides no post-retirement benefits to retired employees.

Due to Management Company

Due to management company for approximately $126,593 is included in the accompanying financial statements. The amount due is related to the management contract, as detailed above. This liability represents the amount invoiced by the management company in June 2015 but not paid until July 2015 for 97% of qualified gross revenue, as defined above.

III. MANAGEMENT AND EDUCATION CONTRACTS (CONTINUED)

Operating Lease

The Management Company entered into a lease agreement for the facilities of the School, which expires August 31, 2019. The lease requires monthly payments of $8,333 plus property taxes and insurance through the term of the lease. The lease contains four renewal options for one additional five year term each. The first five year option requires monthly payments of $9,167 plus property taxes and insurance, the second five year option requires monthly payments of $10,083 plus property taxes and insurance, the third five year option requires monthly payments of $11,092 plus property taxes and insurance, and the fourth five year option requires monthly payments of $12,201 plus property taxes and insurance. Total expense in connection with the facility lease amounted to approximately $79,717 for the year ended June 30, 2015.

Future minimum lease payments, including the annual increases are as follows:

Year Ended June 30:
2016	$ 99,996
2017	99,996
2018	99,996
2019	99,996
2020	16,666
Total	$ 416,650

IV. SUMMARY DISCLOSURE OF SIGNIFICANT CONTINGENCIES

Federal and State Assisted Programs

The School has received proceeds from several federal and State grants. Periodic audits of these grants are required and certain costs may be questioned as not being appropriate expenditures under the grant agreements. Such audits could result in the refund of grant monies to the grantor agencies. Management believes that any required refunds will be immaterial. No provision has been made in the accompanying financial statements for the refund of grant monies.

V. CONCENTRATIONS AND DEPENDENCE ON MANAGEMENT COMPANY

The School has no employees and owns certain computer and equipment used by students. Instead, the Company supplies the educational model, all employees and substantially all management services to the School. The Company owns nearly all the capital assets used by the School and controls the facility lease. In addition, the Company researches, negotiates, arranges for, and manages all purchases, including insurance, supplies, etc. Substantially all of the School's accounting transactions, except for some minor local expenses, are managed and controlled by the Company through a single integrated accounting system.

Since the School receives all of its administrative and management support from the Company, a reduction in the levels of administrative and management support would have a significant effect on the School's activities and it may not be able to continue in its present form.

VI. INCOME TAXES

The School qualifies as a tax-exempt organization under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3), and is therefore, exempt from income taxes. Accordingly, no tax provision has been made in the accompanying financial statements. Additionally, no uncertain tax positions have been made requiring disclosure in the related notes to the financial statements. There are two tax years, 2013 and 2014, open for examination by tax authorities.

VII. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management has evaluated subsequent events to the date of the financial statements in determining the accounting for and disclosure of transactions and events that affect the financial statements. Subsequent events have been evaluated through October 23, 2015 which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

Independent Auditors' Report On Internal Control Over Financial Reporting And On Compliance And Other Matters Based On An Audit Of Financial Statements Performed In Accordance With Government Auditing Standards

To the Board of Directors
Commonwealth High School
Charlotte, North Carolina

We have audited, in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to the financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, the financial statements of the governmental activities, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of Commonwealth High School, as of and for the year ended June 30, 2015, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise Commonwealth High School's basic financial statements, and have issued our report thereon dated October 23, 2015.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements, we considered Commonwealth High School's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) to determine the audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinions on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Commonwealth High School's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of Commonwealth High School's internal control.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the entity's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charge with governance.

Our consideration of the internal control was for limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

Compliance and Other Matters

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether Commonwealth High School's financial statements are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit, and accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

Purpose of this Report

The purpose of this report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control or on compliance. This report is an integral of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control and compliance. Accordingly, this communication is not suitable for any other purpose.

Independent Auditors' Report On Compliance With Requirements Applicable To Each Major State Program And Internal Control Over Compliance In Accordance With OMB Circular A-133 And The State Single Audit Implementation Act

To the Board of Directors
Commonwealth High School
Charlotte, North Carolina

Report on Compliance for Each Major State Program

We have audited the Commonwealth High School, with the types of compliance requirements described in the Audit Manual for Governmental Auditors in North Carolina, issued by the Local Government Commission, that could have a direct and material effect on each of the Commonwealth High School's major State programs for the year ended June 30, 2015. The Commonwealth High School's major State programs are identified in the summary of auditors' results section of the accompanying schedule of findings and questioned costs.

Management's Responsibility

Management is responsible for compliance with the requirements of laws, regulations, contracts, and grants applicable to its State programs.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on compliance for each of the Commonwealth High School's major State programs based on our audit of the types of compliance requirements referred to above. We conducted our audit of compliance in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America; the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; and applicable sections of OMB Circular A-133, Audits of States, Local Governments, and Non-Profit Organizations, as described in the Audit Manual for Governmental Auditors in North Carolina, and the State Single Audit Implementation Act. Those standards, OMB Circular A-133, and the State Single Audit Implementation Act require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether noncompliance with the types of compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on a major State program occurred. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence about the Commonwealth High School's compliance with those requirements and performing such other procedures, as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion on compliance for each major State program. However, our audit does not provide a legal determination of the Commonwealth High School's compliance.

Opinion on Each Major State Program

In our opinion, the Commonwealth High School complied, in all material respects, with the types of compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on each of its major state programs for the year ended June 30, 2015.

Report on Internal Control Over Compliance

Management of Commonwealth High School is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal control over compliance with the types of compliance requirements referred to above. In planning and performing our audit, we considered Commonwealth High School's internal control over compliance with requirements that could have a direct and material effect on a major State program to determine the auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on compliance and to test and report on internal control over compliance with applicable sections of OMB Circular A-133 and the State Single Audit Implementation Act, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over compliance. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of Commonwealth High School's internal control over compliance.

A deficiency in internal control over compliance exists when the design or operation of a control over compliance does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, noncompliance with a type of compliance requirement of a State program on a timely basis. A material weakness in internal control over compliance is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control over compliance, such that there is a reasonable possibility that material noncompliance with a type of compliance requirement of a State program will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. A significant deficiency in internal control over compliance is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over compliance with a type of compliance requirement of a State program that is less severe than a material weakness in internal control over compliance, yet important enough to merit attention by those charge with governance.

Our consideration of internal control over compliance was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control over compliance that might be deficiencies, significant deficiencies, or material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control over compliance that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

The purpose of this report on internal control over compliance is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over compliance and the results of that testing based on the requirements of OMB Circular A-133. Accordingly, this report is not suitable for any other purpose.

Introduction

Students who attend DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning (the School) develop important academic and life skills such as critical thinking, reasoning, problem-solving, personal communication, and listening skills which will allow them to be successful on the job and in life!

Our students graduate from high school well prepared to live as productive and responsible citizens in their communities. They leave feeling confident of their abilities and prepared to find a good job, enter a trade or an apprenticeship, or attend a post secondary program.

Students in the School will be all that they can be! They work hard and learn to give their best effort on their own behalf. Everyone is treated with respect. We require and demand a commitment from each student, not just in following the school rules, but also in working to make each student the best person he/ she can be.

Admission Information

A. Enrollment

1. Applications are accepted at any time at the school.

2. Interested students must complete an application and return it to the school. If the student has a copy of his/her transcripts or other records, these should also be attached. If the student does not have a copy of his/her transcripts, the student and/or the parent/guardian will need to sign a "Request for Records" form, if they are not currently enrolled in a local district school. These records will only be used to verify information provided on the application.

3. Within five working days, the student will be notified of his/her enrollment status. If accepted, the student and parent will complete all paperwork and sign a student contract. The student will be assigned an academic class and session, based upon availability.

4. An assessment test will be scheduled after the student is enrolled.

5. The School begins in August on the same date that the District schools start. It is an expectation that all students attend through to the end of the school calendar. Failure to attend school throughout the entire school year may result in the initiation of truancy procedures. Please refer to the School's calendar for further information.

B. Fees

There is no registration fee or tuition of any kind.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT 42

INTRODUCTION

It is a pleasure to welcome you to the School.

The School provides a unique environment and special teaching methods which enable students to improve academic achievement. The School's program is incentive based and focuses on learning, self-discipline and personal responsibility. The School's ultimate goal is to get its students on a course to improve their behavior and academic progress.

There are several things to keep in mind about this handbook. First, it contains only general information and guidelines. It is not intended to be comprehensive or to address all the possible applications of, or exceptions to, the general policies and procedures described. For that reason, if you have any questions concerning eligibility for a particular benefit or the applicability of a policy or practice to you, you should contact Human Resources.

Your employment with the School is and will remain "at-will". This means that either you or the School may end the employment relationship at any time, with or without cause, and with or without notice. Neither this handbook nor any other School document confers any contractual right; either expresses or implied, to remain in the School's employ. Nor does it guarantee any fixed terms and conditions of your employment. Your employment is not for any specific time and may be terminated at will with or without cause and without prior notice by the School, or you may resign for any reason at any time. No manager or other representative of the School (except the Chairman of the Board) has the authority to enter into any agreement for employment for any specified period of time or to make any agreement contrary to the above.

This Employee Handbook supersedes and replaces any prior Employee Handbooks or Manuals. These policies and procedures cannot be amended or altered by oral statements; only written amendments or addendums by authorized management officials will constitute changes to statements made in this manual. The procedures, practices, policies and benefits described here may be modified or discontinued from time to time. We will inform you of any changes as they occur.

The Handbook shall at all times remain the property of the School. Some subjects described in this handbook are covered in detail in official policy documents. Refer to these documents for specific information, because the handbook only briefly summarizes those guidelines and benefits. Please note that the terms of the written insurance policies are controlling and override any statements made in this or other documents.

If you have any questions about the interpretation or application of specific sections of the Handbook, you should consult with Human Resources.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

The School is committed to a policy of equal employment opportunity for all individuals and will make every effort to provide equal employment opportunity without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, marital status, age, disability, veteran or active military status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other classification protected by federal, state, or local law. Equal employment opportunity applies to all personnel practices, including (but not limited to) recruitment, hiring, training, placement, promotion, discharge, leaves of absence, compensation, discipline, evaluation, benefits, transfers, or any other terms, conditions or privileges of employment. Personnel actions will be administered in accordance with the principles of equal employment opportunity.

In addition to providing equal employment opportunity, the School strives to maintain a work environment free from discrimination and harassment based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, marital status, age, disability, veteran or active military status, pregnancy, genetic information or any other legally protected status.

Any discrimination in the workplace based upon membership in any protected classification is illegal and violates our policy. If you feel you have been the subject of discrimination, or if you are aware of any violation of this policy, you should report it to your manager, Human Resources, or higher-level management as you feel necessary. Any infraction of this policy is a serious violation and will result in disciplinary action, up to and including discharge. Please direct questions regarding this policy and requests for accommodation to Human Resources.

For further information about the School's discrimination and harassment policies, please refer to the Policy Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment in the Workplace.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT (ADA)

The School is committed to compliance with the ADA. Therefore, in the case of an applicant or employee who has a disability (as defined by the ADA), which prevents him/her from performing one or more of the essential functions of his/her job, the School will attempt, through a flexible, interactive process with the applicant or employee, to identify a "reasonable accommodation" that will enable the applicant or employee to perform such functions.

If any manager or employee has a question about his/her responsibilities under the ADA, reasonable accommodations, the application of this policy, or the ADA, they should contact Human Resources for guidance.

Please note that this policy on the Americans with Disabilities Act is coordinated with the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), and where appropriate, the provisions of the School's FMLA policy may also apply.

POLICY PROHIBITING DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT IN THE WORKPLACE

It is the School's policy to maintain a work environment free of unlawful discrimination and harassment. The School does not and will not permit employees to engage in harassment of any kind, including sexual harassment or harassment based on any other category protected by federal, state or local law. These protected categories include, but are not limited to, race, color, sex, religion, national origin, marital status, age, disability, veteran or active military status, pregnancy, and genetic information. Harassment by any employee, supervisor, manager, independent contractor, or other person doing business with the School or on School premises is strictly prohibited

Harassment is verbal or physical conduct that denigrates or shows hostility toward an individual because of his/her race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or other status protected by federal, state or local law, and that creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment based on these factors. Harassment may include, but is not limited to, epithets, slurs, jokes, or other verbal or physical conduct relating to an individual's race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or other protected status. Sexual harassment can consist of unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual or gender-related nature that creates an offensive or hostile work atmosphere.

The School prohibits conduct—whether it's physical, spoken or in writing—that is offensive and/or harassing in nature. Prohibited conduct includes:

- Unwanted advances, brushing up against, hugging, kissing, or any other similar physical contact considered unwelcome or intimidating by another individual.

- Demands for favors, sexual or otherwise. This includes unwelcome propositions, subtle expectations, pressures, or requests for any type of favor. This includes sexual favors or dates or financial/material requests, even if the request is not accompanied by an implied or stated promise of preferential treatment at work or of any negative impact on employment status.

- Verbal abuse, jokes, kidding or conversation containing slurs, unwelcome sexual comments, negative stereotypes or other offensive comments. This includes telling jokes, whistling, or making offensive comments about age, gender, ethnicity, religious beliefs, pregnancy, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, military service, or marital status that are unwanted and considered offensive. This also includes making unprofessional comments about a team member's body or appearance or making offensive comments about sex or any other prohibited form of harassment.

- Offensive conduct or visual displays, such as leering, gestures, pranks, displaying of objects, pictures, cartoons, letters, notes or posters that are obscene or sexually suggestive or that call out other protected characteristics.

In addition to the above, there are other types of enabling behavior that can be equally damaging. Such conduct includes ignoring harassment or treating it as a joke; failing to report harassment; lying or refusing to cooperate with a harassment investigation; and/or retaliating against a team member for reporting or complaining of harassment.

Employees who violate this policy will face disciplinary action that may include dismissal.

All School employees are responsible for maintaining a workplace free of all prohibited harassment and/or discrimination. Any person may file a harassment and/or discrimination complaint regarding incidents experienced personally or observed in the workplace, without fear of retaliation. Never assume that the School is aware of inappropriate conduct which you have witnessed or experienced.

Employees who experience any job-related discrimination or harassment, witness job-related discrimination or harassment, or believe their employment is being adversely affected by such conduct (whether directed to a co-worker or not) must immediately report the incident to the supervisor, Principal or Human Resources. In the event the complaint is against the supervisor or Principal, the employee must contact Human Resources immediately. In the event the complaint is against the Human Resources Department, the employee must report the incident to Board Chair immediately. Any employee who, either by report from an employee or by other means becomes aware of conduct that may constitute harassment must report such conduct to Human Resources.

A prompt and thorough investigation will occur and, if it is determined that unlawful harassment has occurred or that an individual has engaged in inappropriate conduct, the School will take appropriate disciplinary action.

The School prohibits retaliation against any employee for filing a complaint or for assisting in a complaint investigation. All incidents of retaliation must be reported to the supervisor, Principal, Human Resources or Board Chair as noted above

PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

EMPLOYEE ASSESSMENT

The School is performance-based. Employees' performance will be evaluated regularly and employees will be provided with a job description, Executive Information System Success Metrics, personnel administration policies, work standards and a code of conduct, and applicable training on these tools.

TRAINING

The School conducts orientation and training for new employees within the first 2 weeks of employment. The training coordinator will provide a schedule of training. Attendance is mandatory.

BACKGROUND POLICY & DUTY OF EMPLOYEES TO REPORT CRIMINAL CHARGES, ARRESTS, INCARCERATIONS AND CONVICTIONS

The School conducts background investigations annually on all employees. Conduct of an employee resulting in criminal charges, arrests, incarcerations and/or convictions may be a violation of the Employee Code of Conduct and may result in disciplinary action including, but not limited to, unpaid suspension and/or termination.

If you are charged, arrested, incarcerated, or convicted of any criminal offense (misdemeanor or felony) while you are an employee of the School, this must reported to the School Principal if you are a school employee, or your immediate supervisor if you are employed at a location other than a school. This report must be submitted in writing, on the next school day / business day, or within 48 hours if the criminal charges, arrest, incarceration or conviction occurs on a weekend or holiday. Failure to report a criminal charge, arrest, incarceration, or conviction per this policy is a violation of this policy, as well as the Employee Code of Conduct, and may result in disciplinary action including, but not limited to, unpaid suspension and/or termination.

EMPLOYMENT OF RELATIVES

The School permits the employment of qualified relatives of employees as long as such employment does not, in the opinion of the School, create actual or perceived conflicts of interest. For purposes of this policy, "relative" is a spouse, common law spouse, child, parent, sibling, grandparent, grandchild, aunt, uncle, first cousin, or corresponding in-law or "step" relation. The following guidelines may be followed by the School; however, the School reserves the right to modify these guidelines depending on particular circumstances and its business needs:

- Individuals who are related by blood or marriage are permitted to work in the same the School facility, provided no direct reporting or supervisory/management relationship exists. That is, no employee is permitted to work within the "chain of command" of a relative such that one relative's work responsibilities, salary, or career progress could be influenced by the other relative.

- No relatives are permitted to work in the same department or in any other positions in which the School believes an inherent conflict of interest may exist.

- Employees who marry while employed are treated in accordance with these guidelines. That is, if, in the opinion of the School, a conflict or an apparent conflict arises as a result of the marriage, one of the employees will be transferred at the earliest practicable time.

This policy applies to all categories of employment at the School, including regular, temporary, and part-time classifications.

EMPLOYEE REFERENCES

With respect to requests for references from prospective employers of former employees, it is the School's policy to confirm only position held, date of hire, and salary.

All requests for references should be referred to the Human Resources Department.

EMPLOYEE WORK STANDARDS

ATTENDANCE

The School expects prompt and regular attendance from all employees. Employees must be at their appointed work areas fully prepared to begin work at their scheduled start time. Unexcused or excessive absences and tardies will not be tolerated.

The School recognizes that, on occasion, employees may be unable to report to work. Employees must contact the immediate supervisor regarding any expected or unexpected absences from any scheduled working hours. If the immediate supervisor is unavailable, employees must contact the Assistant Principal.

Employees are expected to call or email their immediate supervisor or other designated contact prior to start of the workday to report an absence. Employees are expected to call or email their immediate supervisor no later than 1 hour before expected time of arrival if they are not intending to report to work or are going to be tardy. If an employee anticipates an absence of several days, he or she may notify his or her immediate supervisor with one phone call or email; however, an employee must provide an anticipated date of return. If the anticipated date of return changes, the employee will be required to notify his or her immediate supervisor with updated information and a revised date of return via phone or email.

Absences for illness of four or more days must be accompanied by a doctor's notice.

Vacation schedules must be approved by the immediate supervisor and vacation days cannot be used by school based staff during the instructional school year without approval by immediate supervisor and Regional Director.

If an employee or someone on the employee's behalf does not call in to report an absence or fails to report to work within a 48-hour period, the School will consider this to be job abandonment and for a basis of termination, unless good cause can be shown for the failure to report or to call in.

Although certain paid leave is earned by the School employees, it should not be abused. Employees exhibiting a pattern of absences that coincide with weekends, holidays and paydays will be required to provide medical verification of illness. Certain excused absences (FMLA, jury duty, etc. as provided by law) will not be considered against an employee in evaluating attendance

CHILDREN IN THE WORKPLACE

Although the School understands that employees from time to time experience last minute daycare issues, sick children and other unforeseen events involving your children or a child in your care, the School does not allow children or a child in your care in the workplace. As a matter of safety to your child or child in your care, our students, employees and parents, employees needing to care for sick children or with daycare issues must utilize sick time or other forms of leave available.

EMPLOYEE CLASSIFICATION CATEGORIES

All employees are designated as either nonexempt or exempt under state and federal wage and hour laws. The following is intended to help employees understand employment classifications and employees' employment status and benefit eligibility. These classifications do not guarantee employment for any specified period of time. The right to terminate the employment-at-will relationship at any time is retained by both the employee and the School.

Exempt or Non-Exempt - The Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) requires that certain employees be paid overtime for all hours worked in excess of 40 in a workweek. These employees are considered non-exempt.

Employees who do not fall under the minimum wage and/or overtime provisions of the Act are classified as exempt. Exempt employees hold jobs that meet standards and criteria established under the FLSA. If you have questions about your exemption status, please contact Human Resources.

PAYROLL / PAY PERIODS

If you're…	You'll be paid your…
Non-exempt	Hourly rate of pay for hours worked (40 and below), plus a time-and-one-half rate for hours worked over 40 in a workweek.
Exempt	Base salary for all hours worked, regardless of the number of hours you work in a workweek.

Overtime

Non-exempt (hourly) employees are eligible for overtime. Overtime is defined as time worked in excess of 40 hours in a work week.

Overtime is paid at a rate of 1 ½ times your regular hourly wage for hours worked over 40 hours. Paid Time Off ("PTO") and other non-worked time, such as Holiday, Funeral, etc., is not included in the calculation of 40 hours of work for the purposes of overtime.

Non-exempt employees must obtain written authorization from their supervisors in advance of working overtime hours. Unauthorized additional work time in a day or overtime during a work week is not permitted.

Timekeeping

If you are a non-exempt (hourly) employee, its important (and your responsibility) to make sure all of your work time gets recorded accurately. To record your time accurately, you must:

- clock in and out at the beginning and end of the workday and at the beginning and end of your meal break or other breaks lasting more than 20 minutes
- not perform work before clocking in, after clocking out or while you are clocked out for an unpaid meal break. If you perform any work before clocking in or after clocking out, notify your supervisor as soon as possible so the appropriate time can be recorded in your timesheet.
- not work "off the clock" (i.e., working but not reporting hours), which supervisors must not ask you to do.
- accurately record any overtime, paid time off, etc., on your timesheet
- not clock in or out for another employee
- review your timesheet for accuracy each pay period and then submit it for your supervisor's approval. When you submit your timesheet, you are verifying that the hours are correct. If your timesheet is inaccurate, you are responsible for notifying your supervisor so corrections can be made.

Employees are responsible for accurately recording all hours worked. Working "off the clock" (i.e., working but not reporting hours) is strictly prohibited and is subject to discipline up to and including termination.

If you are an exempt employee, you are responsible for reporting paid time off or other non-work time to your supervisor. If your time is inaccurate, notify your supervisor so any corrections can be made.

If you notice an error after your timesheet has been submitted, notify your supervisor immediately. If you have any questions or believe you have not been paid for all hours worked, notify Human Resources.

Pay Periods - All employees are paid on a bi-weekly pay schedule. If a regularly scheduled payday falls on a bank holiday, employees will be paid the day before. Ten-month and eleven-month employees will be paid over a twelve-month schedule.

Additional Pay – You will receive your regular paychecks based on your annual salary in the pay periods mentioned above. Any additional pay above and beyond your annual salary will be processed at the next payroll cycle, once received by the payroll department. Paperwork received by the payroll department after a pay cycle processing date will be paid with the next payroll cycle. Manual drafts will not be processed for these types of pay.

Paycheck Discrepancies / Retro Pay – If you feel your paycheck is inaccurate you may have your pay researched by Human Resources. If an error is found in your pay and reported within 60 days of the date of the occurrence, you will be eligible for pay retroactive to the date of the occurrence.

EMPLOYEE ASSIGNMENT

The School reserves the right to initiate involuntary employee transfers based on staffing needs as determined by the School.

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT

Employees are expected to devote their full time and attention to their responsibilities as outlined in the offer letter and contract executed between them and the School.
An employee may, however, hold other paid employment outside of the school work day providing such employee has submitted a written request to the Board Chair advising him of the outside employment being contemplated and providing the Board Chair with the necessary information to enable him to evaluate the propriety of the other employment opportunity.
New employees must disclose in writing any other employment they currently have prior to being hired.
Employees granted permission will still be held accountable for meeting all requirements contained in their employment contracts, offer letters and job descriptions.

Notwithstanding the above, employees may not:

1. Accept other paid employment if the responsibilities of that second job are incompatible with their School job requirements or conflict with the School Calendar and schedule.
2. Accept a second paid job with the school district in which they work.
3. Tutor for compensation pupils assigned to the School in which they work. Employees may tutor pupils enrolled in other schools unless such conflicts with or impairs the ability of the employees to discharge their duties properly.

Failure to disclose outside employment or any other conduct in violation of this policy will be grounds for discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

REPORTING ABSENCES

Employees are expected to call their immediate supervisor or other designated contact prior to the start of the workday to report an absence. Employees absent more than one day must report the absence each day except in cases where the employee has provided documentation and received approval covering a specific period of time. Employees who will be absent more than one day and anticipates the absence must notify his or her supervisor and must provide an anticipated date of return. If the anticipated date of return changes, the employee will be required to notify the immediate supervisor with updated information and a revised date of return.

Upon the request of management and whenever an employee is absent for three (3) consecutive shifts because of illness or injury, or when otherwise requested, the employee must provide the School with documentation signed by the physician treating the employee that states (1) that the employee was unable to perform his/her regularly scheduled duties during the absence, (2) when the employee will be able to return to work, and (3) the nature and duration of any activity restrictions that are ordered. Such documentation must be provided to the School upon the employee's return to work or as soon as an employee becomes aware that they will absent for more than three (3) shifts. If the employee is unable to provide the School with such documentation, the employee may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

An employee who fails to report to work for two (2) consecutive workdays without notice has voluntarily terminated employment, unless good cause can be shown for the failure to report or to call in using the procedures outlined above.

BENEFITS

The School provides a variety of benefits including insurance plans, a 401(k) plan, and paid time off. Eligibility for these plans will depend on employment status, hours worked and specific plan requirements. The plan provisions, including eligibility requirements, are contained in the plan documents available from the Human Resources department. In the event that any differences exist between the language in this overview and the language in the plan documents, then the plan documents shall control.

Employees are provided details concerning insurance and the 401(k) plan during orientation and upon request throughout the year.

Employees enrolling in plans that require an employee contribution toward the premium cost will be subject to payroll deductions. The School may add, change or terminate any benefit at any time without prior notice.

HOLIDAYS

All regular full-time school employees will observe the posted holiday schedule and should consult the annual school calendar for a list of the holidays. Part-time and temporary workers are not paid for holidays. If you wish to obtain a copy of the calendar, please contact your Principal. The School reserves the right to amend, add, or eliminate the holiday schedule at any time based on its business needs.

VACATION

Vacation is in addition to all public school holidays and non-work days specific to the calendar for your location. Vacations are to be scheduled during summer break as approved by your Regional Director or designee. If the employee leaves the School for any reason, payment of unused vacation will be prorated and made upon departure from the School starting March 1 of the school year. Vacation days do not carry over to subsequent years.

Administration:	5 Days
Non-Instructional Staff	5 Days
Instructional Staff	20 Days

LEAVE - SICK / BEREAVEMENT / PERSONAL

All regular, full-time employees receive ten (10) sick / bereavement / personal leave days accrued according to the below schedule, on an accrual basis. If an employee begins service during the school year, sick leave will be provided on a prorated basis, according to the following schedule:

Month Hired	Sick Days
August	10
September	9
October	8
November	7
December	6
January	5
February	4
March	3
April	2
May	1
July	0

Sick leave may be used for personal illness, illness of a spouse, child, or other member of the household. Up to three (3) of these days may be utilized for personal time off.

The School may require a medical excuse signed by a doctor for any absence due to illness that exceeds three (3) consecutive days.

Although sick leave is earned, it should not be abused. Employees exhibiting a pattern of absences that coincides with weekends, holidays, and paydays may be required to provide medical verification of illness. Abuse of the School's sick leave policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Unused sick leave days will be accumulated and carried over to subsequent school years until such time as the employee reaches twenty (20) sick leave days.
Upon termination of employment, for any reason, employees will not be paid for unused sick time.

Bereavement leave may be used in case of death in the employee's immediate family and upon approval from the principal. Absences for bereavement, with pay, shall be granted not to exceed five (5) working days annually. Generally, immediate family includes spouses, children, brothers, sisters, parents, grandchildren, and grandparents by blood or by marriage. It also includes a family member residing in the home of the employee. Only regular, full-time employees are eligible for bereavement leave. Bereavement leave is included in the sick leave policy and is not an additional leave.

FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE OF ABSENCE POLICY

Under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, as amended (FMLA), employees may be eligible for a period of job-protected unpaid leave for certain family and medical reasons as described below. This Family Medical Leave Act Policy ("Policy") provides an overview of employees' rights and responsibilities under the FMLA as well as the School's own policies regarding FMLA Leave. The School has posted notices of the FMLA at all School facilities. The information in those posters is incorporated into this policy by reference.

General Eligibility

To be eligible for FMLA Leave under this Policy, an employee must have worked at the School for at least 12 months and must have worked at least 1,250 hours during the 12-month period prior to the commencement date of any leave requested under this Policy. Eligibility will be determined as of the date the leave commences. Employees who work at a site at which fewer than 50 employees are employed within a 75-mile radius are not eligible for leave under this policy. When a request for FMLA is made, the School will advise of the employee's eligibility and the employee's rights and responsibilities.

Types and Duration of FMLA Leave

- Bonding Leave; Serious Health Condition Leave; Leave to care for a family member with a serious health condition; Active Duty Leave

An employee may be eligible for up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave during a rolling 12-month period (measured backward from the date an employee uses FMLA leave) for the following reasons:

1. the birth of the employee's child and to bond with the child; or for placement through adoption or foster care and to bond with the newly placed child. Such leave must be concluded no later than 12 months after the birth or placement of the child with the employee;

2. to care for an immediate family member (spouse, child under 18 years old or a child 18 and over who is incapable of self-care because of a disability, or parent) with a serious health condition;

3. because of a serious health condition which renders the employee unable to perform the functions of his/her job; or

4. because of any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that an employee's spouse, son (of any age), daughter (of any age) or parent, who is serving in any branch of the military (including the National Guard or Reserves), has been deployed or called to active duty in a foreign country ("Active Duty Leave").

- Military Caregiver Leave

An employee also may be eligible for Military Caregiver Leave to care for a spouse, son (of any age), daughter (of any age), parent or next of kin who is: 1) a current member of the Armed Forces, including the National Guard or Reserves, and who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, is otherwise in outpatient status, or is otherwise on the temporary disability retired list, for a serious injury or illness, which is incurred in the line of duty (or for a pre-existing injury or illness which is aggravated in the line of duty) and that renders the service member medically unfit to perform the duties of his or her office, grade, rank or rating, or 2) a veteran who was a member of any branch of the Armed Forces, including the National Guard or Reserves, and who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, for a serious injury or illness that occurred in the line of duty (or for a pre-existing injury or illness which was aggravated in the line of duty) at any time within 5 years preceding the treatment, recuperation or therapy. A covered veteran incurs a serious illness or injury for purposes of this paragraph when one of the following occurs:

1. The injury or illness makes him or her medically unfit to perform the duties of his or her office, grade, rank or rating.

2. It causes the service member to have a VA Service Disability Rating is at 50% or greater.

3. It is a mental or physical condition substantially impairs their ability to obtain gainful employment

4. The VA enrolls the employee in the Department of Veteran Affairs Program of Comprehensive Assistance for Family Caregivers.

Eligible employees are entitled to a total of 26 weeks of unpaid Military Caregiver Leave during a single 12-month period. This single 12-month period begins on the first day an eligible employee takes Military Caregiver Leave (as long as it is within 5 years of the covered service member's active duty) and ends 12 months after that date. Military Caregiver Leave applies on a per-covered service member, per-injury basis, so that an employee may be eligible to take more than one 26 week period of Military Caregiver Leave, but no more than 26 weeks of leave may be taken during any one 12-month period.

An eligible employee is entitled to a combined total of 26 workweeks of leave for all FMLA qualifying reasons during the single 12-month period described above. For example, if an employee takes 10 weeks of FMLA leave due to his/her own serious health condition, the employee may take only 16 weeks of Military Caregiver Leave during that same 12 month period.

Definitions

- A "serious health condition" as referred to above means an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves:

    1. in-patient care (i.e., an overnight stay) in a hospital or other medical care facility (including any period of incapacity or any subsequent treatment in connection with such in-patient care);

    2. a period of incapacity of more than three (3) consecutive full calendar days, and any subsequent treatment or period of incapacity relating to the same condition that also involves (i) treatment two (2) or more times by a health care provider or under the supervision of a health care provider within 30 days of the start of the incapacity, or (ii) treatment by a health care provider on at least one (1) occasion within seven (7) days of the start of the incapacity which results in a regimen of continuing treatment under the supervision of a health care provider;

    3. any period of incapacity or treatment due to pregnancy, or for prenatal care;

    4. any period of incapacity or treatment due to a chronic serious health condition requiring periodic visits of at least twice a year for treatment by a health care provider;

    5. a period of incapacity or treatment which is permanent or long-term due to a condition for which treatment may not be effective, during which the employee (or family member) must be under the continuing supervision of, but need not be receiving active treatment by, a health care provider; or

    6. any period of absence to receive multiple treatments by a health care provider or under the supervision of a health care provider, either for restorative surgery after an accident or other injury, or for a condition that will likely result in a period of incapacity of more than three (3) consecutive calendar days in the absence of medical intervention or treatment.

- A "qualifying exigency" referenced above under "Active Duty Leave" refers to the following circumstances:

    1. Short-notice deployment: to address issues arising when the notification of a call or order to active duty is seven (7) days or less;

    2. Military events and related activities: to attend official military events or family assistance programs or briefings;

    3. Childcare and school activities: for qualifying childcare and school related reasons for a child, legal ward or stepchild of a covered military member;

4. Care of the covered military member's parent if the parent is incapable of self-care;

5. Financial and legal arrangements: to make or update financial or legal affairs to address the absence of a covered military member;

6. Counseling: to attend counseling provided by someone other than a health care provider for oneself, for the covered military member, or child, legal ward, or stepchild of the covered military member;

7. Rest and recuperation: to spend up to fifteen (15) calendar days for each period in which a covered military member is on a short-term rest leave during a period of deployment; or

8. Post-deployment activities: to attend official ceremonies or programs sponsored by the military for up to 90 days after a covered military member's active duty terminates or to address issues arising from the death of a covered military member while on active duty.

When Spouses Work Together

If both spouses are employed by the School and are eligible for leave under this policy, they are eligible for a combined total of 12 weeks of leave within the applicable 12-month period when the leave is due to the birth or placement of a child or to care for a parent who has a serious health condition, or a combined total of 26 weeks within the applicable 12-month period when the leave is due to the birth or placement of a child or to care for a parent who has a serious health condition and for Military Caregiver Leave. (However, in no event shall the spouses take more than a combined total of 12 weeks of leave within the applicable 12-month period for the birth or placement of a child or to care for a parent who has a serious health condition).

Notice of Need for FMLA Leave

An employee who wants to take FMLA must follow normal call-in policies and notify the person an employee would normally notify for an absence. Failure to adhere to normal School call-in procedures can result in discipline, as with any other type of leave.

If FMLA applies or believed to possibly apply, the employee will be required, thereafter, to contact the Human Resources department to complete a request for leave. The employee will be required to fill out prescribed forms requesting leave.

To avoid a delay in FMLA protection, the employee must give notice as soon as possible and practicable under the circumstances of enough facts to advise the person receiving the call that FMLA may apply. Employees are always required to give notice as soon as practicable and possible, but, except for instances of active duty leave, an employee is not required to provide more than thirty (30) days advance notice.

If an employee fails to give the required notice with no reasonable excuse, FMLA coverage may be delayed for a period of time. This can result in discipline for absences taken prior to FMLA coverage commencing.

Employees should make every reasonable effort to schedule foreseeable medical treatments so as not to disrupt the ongoing operations of the School.

Substitution of Paid Leave for Unpaid FMLA Leave

Employees must concurrently exhaust any short-term disability benefits, workers compensation benefits, accrued vacation time, or any other form of applicable paid leave for FMLA leave. All substituted paid leave that is being concurrently exhausted will be counted against an eligible employee's FMLA leave entitlement.

Intermittent FMLA Leave

Intermittent or reduced schedule leave is leave at varying times for the same qualifying condition. Intermittent leave or reduced schedule leave may be available if the need for leave is due to an employee's serious health condition or an employee's immediate family member's serious health condition and when the need for intermittent or reduced schedule leave is certified by a health care provider. Intermittent or reduced schedule leave is not available for the birth or placement of a child for adoption or foster care, unless the School agrees. Military Caregiver Leave may be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule when medically necessary. Active Duty Leave may also be taken on an intermittent or reduced leave schedule.

Employees who take foreseeable intermittent or reduced schedule leave must attempt to schedule their intermittent or reduced schedule leaves so as not to disrupt the operations of the School and in some instances, the School may require employees taking foreseeable intermittent or reduced schedule leaves to transfer temporarily to an alternative position for which the employee is qualified and which better accommodates the employee's leave schedule. Pay and shifts would not be affected by a change to an alternate position. Time worked in the alternate position would not count towards the employee’s FMLA leave entitlement.

Employees taking unforeseeable intermittent leaves must follow the School's standard call-in procedures absent unusual circumstances.

Documentation Supporting FMLA Leave

An employee requesting leave for a serious health condition must provide a completed FMLA Certification of Health Care Provider Form supporting the need for the leave. A request for reasonable documentation of family relationship verifying the legitimacy of a request for FMLA Leave may also be required.

The employee will have fifteen (15) days in which to return a completed Certification form following the School’s request for the certification. If the employee fails to provide timely certification after being required to do so, covered leave may be delayed moving forward until the certification form is finally submitted. Absences counted against the employee for a late certification will not be reversed absent exceptional circumstances. If an employee never returns the completed form, the FMLA will be denied and the absences will be unprotected. If the Certification form is incomplete or insufficient, an employee will be given written notification of the information needed and will be given a period of seven (7) days to provide the necessary information.

In some circumstances, a second opinion, at the expense of the School, related to the health condition may be required. If the original certification and the second opinion differ, a third opinion, at the expense of the School, may be required. The opinion of the third health care provider, which the School and the employee jointly select, will be the final and binding decision.

A request for Active Duty Leave must be supported by the Certification of Qualifying Exigency for Military Family Leave form as well as appropriate documentation, including the covered military member's active duty orders.

A request for Military Caregiver Leave must be supported by the Certification for Serious Injury or Illness of Covered Servicemember form or Certification for Serious Injury or Illness of a Veteran for Military Caregiver Leave form as well as any necessary supporting documentation.

Once the School has received a complete and sufficient certification form from the employee, the School will advise the employee whether he or she has been approved or denied FMLA and, if possible, will advise how much FMLA will be used.

Recertification

In the following circumstances, the School may, in its sole discretion, require recertification of the qualifying reason for FMLA: (1) where the employee needs more leave than the original certification justified; (2) where circumstances and facts cast doubt on the employee's need for FMLA; or (3) when the need for FMLA extends beyond 6 calendar months. In these situations, the employee will have fifteen (15) days in which to provide a completed Recertification form.

Restoration To Position And Benefits

Healthcare benefits will be maintained while an employee is on FMLA, subject to the payment of premiums explained in this paragraph. For all other benefits, they will be maintained similarly to others on similar forms of leave (paid/unpaid). Employees on paid FMLA (because they are concurrently exhausting a paid leave benefit) will continue to have their premium payments deducted from their paycheck as if they were on non-FMLA paid leave. Employees on an unpaid FMLA leave (for which no paid leave is substituted or after all paid leave has been exhausted) will need to maintain the benefits they accrued prior to commencement of the leave by making premium payments. If the payment is not received on the due date or thereafter, the School will provide the employee written notice of non-payment and provide 15 days to make the payment. If the payment is not made within the 15 day window, and at least 30 days have passed from the due date, then coverage under the benefit plan will lapse, retroactively to the original due date.

Employees are permitted to return to whatever position they would have held had they not taken FMLA leave. Generally, this means employees returning from FMLA leave within 12 weeks will be returned to the job position that they held when they went on leave, or a substantially similar one. If the employee would have lost their position even if they had not taken the leave, then there exists no reinstatement right. For example, if the employee's position is eliminated because of a reduction in force, then no reinstatement right exists.

If an eligible employee fails to pay his or her portion of the required premium payments for benefit coverage, and the School elects to make the employee's portion of premium payments to keep benefit coverage in effect during a period of paid or unpaid FMLA leave for medical and dental benefits, and/or a period of unpaid FMLA leave for other benefits, the School may recover the amount of the premium payment from the employee regardless of whether the employee returns to work. The School may recover its own share of the premiums paid for maintaining an employee's medical and dental benefit coverage during any period of unpaid FMLA leave if the employee fails to return from leave after entitlement has expired, provided the employee failure to return to work for a reason other than the continuation, recurrence, or onset of a serious health condition was unrelated to the qualifying reason the employee took FMLA leave.

Return To Work

Employees on FMLA leave must periodically inform the Human Resources department of their status and intent to return to work while on FMLA leave. Employees returning from FMLA leave must be able to assume all of the essential functions of their jobs upon return. The School will provide time for the employee to learn of any changes or new technology implementations. As a condition to restoring an employee whose leave was based on the employee's own serious health condition, the employee must provide certification from the employee's health care provider stating that the employee is able to resume work. This return to work statement is required for all serious health conditions unless the employee has previously provided one for that condition within the past year. If safety issues exist, the School may require a return to work statement every thirty days.

Failure To Return From Leave

Unless required otherwise by law an employee granted a leave of absence under these provisions who fails to return to work upon expiration of the leave will no longer have protected absences. Further absences would count against the attendance policy.

Key Employees

An employee who qualifies as a "key employee" may be denied restoration of employment after a period of FMLA leave if holding the employee's position would cause the School grievous economy injury. A "key employee" is an employee who is salaried and is among the highest paid ten percent of the work force within 75 miles of the place where the employee reports to work. Upon requesting FMLA leave, an employee will be notified by the School of his/her status as a "key employee" if there is a possibility that the School may deny reinstatement after leave

MEDICAL LEAVE – NOT COVERED BY FMLA
(Including Pregnancy And On and Off-The-Job Injuries Or Illnesses)

The Family and Medical Leave Act does not apply to employees in locations with fewer than 50 employees within a 75 mile radius of another School location. In such locations, the School will address and administer leave issues in accordance with other School policies and in relation to the circumstances in that location at the time of the leave. The provisions of the FMLA, as set forth above, may be applied in whole or in part, to the extent practicable and in the discretion of the Principal and Human Resources.

JURY DUTY AND SUBPOENAS

Employees who are called to perform jury duty will be granted time off from work in accordance with state law. Upon receiving notice of jury duty service, employees are required to notify their immediate supervisor. Employees are also required to notify their supervisor upon completion of their jury duty service. Employees whose jury duty time constitutes less than three hours on any given day will be required to return to work that day. Employees whose jury duty service constitutes more than three hours on any particular day will not be required to return to work that day.

Employees who serve jury duty will not suffer a loss in earnings. The School will pay employees serving on jury duty the difference between what they receive for jury duty and their regular straight-time rate of pay for the period they serve if the amount received from the state exceeds $50.00 a day. Upon return from jury duty service, employees will be required to provide written verification to the School of the actual time spent on jury duty and the amount of jury duty pay received before payment under this section will be made.

MILITARY LEAVE

Employees may be entitled to certain rights and benefits and may have certain obligations related to service in the uniformed services pursuant to the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act of 1994 ("USERRA") or related state laws. It is the School's intent to comply with the requirements in USERRA and similar state laws with respect to leaves of absence, continuation of health coverage, reemployment, disabilities incurred or aggravated during uniformed service, non-discrimination and non-retaliation, and other covered matters. Specifically, the School will not deny employment, reemployment, retention in employment, promotion, or any benefit of employment to an individual due to uniformed service, and will not tolerate discrimination or retaliation due to uniformed service.

Employees should notify their manager or the Senior Director of Human Resources of any need for leave to perform service in the uniformed services as far in advance as possible, preferably at least thirty (30) days in advance and in writing where feasible. Employees are asked to provide a copy of applicable orders, training calendar, and/or similar documentation, if at all possible, in time to ensure continued business operations during absences. Employees will be granted unpaid leaves of absence for qualifying periods of uniformed service; however, employees may elect to use any accrued but unused paid leave during such absences.

Barring any exception outlined in USERRA, employees will be eligible for reemployment after uniformed service as long as they return to work or apply for reinstatement within the following timeframes:

- Service of less than 31 days, at the beginning of the next regularly scheduled work period after release and subject to an eight (8) hour rest period;
- Service of more than 30 days but less than 181 days, within 14 days of release; or
- Service of more than 180 days, within 90 days of release.

To retain reinstatement rights, employees must provide appropriate advance notice and must not have been separated from uniformed service with a disqualifying discharge or under other than honorable conditions. Reinstatement rights are not guaranteed for any absence beyond five years unless an exception stated in USERRA applies.

Employees who are members of the uniformed services should speak to Human Resources for any questions regarding rights and obligations related uniformed service leave, advance notice of uniformed service, benefits during uniformed service, or related issues.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The School recognizes that a wide range of personal and family concerns and problems not directly associated with an individual's job function can nonetheless be detrimental to an employee's performance on the job. The School believes it is in the interest of employees and the School to provide an effective program to assist employees and their families in resolving problems as the need arises. The School provides an employee assistance program which coincides with enrollment in the health insurance program. The EAP provides consultation, information, and personalized community referrals, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for employees and their families. The program provides expert consultants who can help with issues such as emotional well-being, parenting concerns, caregiver support, retirement planning, legal matters, financial issues, work problems, and addiction and recovery matters.

For further information, contact the Human Resources Department or refer to the Summary Plan Description provided in your new hire benefits packet.

TUITION REIMBURSEMENT

The School encourages employees to continue educational programs relevant to their employment positions, including programs leading to certification for teachers and administrators. The School has established a tuition reimbursement program to help eligible regular, full-time employees to continue to develop their skills and enhance their relevant educational experiences.
Under the program, the School will reimburse up to $1,500.00 annually to employees taking courses on an approved certification plan for the cost of tuition at the lowest of state university rates or actual cost (whichever is less) upon presentation of proof of successful completion with a grade of C or better or its equivalent, as well as copies of receipts for the expenses. Employees will receive 50% reimbursement upon completion of the course and the final 50% reimbursement after 1 year of service after completion of the class. Employee must be employed for a minimum of 6 months before they are eligible to participate in the tuition reimbursement program. Any courses taken prior to the employees 6 month anniversary or any courses enrolled in or in progress prior to the 6 month anniversary will not be eligible for reimbursement.

If the employee leaves the School for any reason before fulfilling the extra employment term, they will be required to reimburse the cost of tuition, prorated, and based on the amount of the commitment served.

For further information, consult the Human Resources Department or Summary Plan Description provided in your new hire benefits packet.

PROMOTIONAL AND TRANSFER OPPORTUNITIES

All employees are eligible to participate in School's job posting program, which allows current staff opportunities to apply for new positions or seek transfers to other School locations. To participate in the job posting process, simply complete a Job Posting/Transfer request form available from the Executive Assistant at your location and submit it to your Principal. You must have held your current position for a minimum of 90 days before you are eligible for a position or location change. If approved, the position or location change will occur within 30 days of the date of the request. For a listing of job openings, you may visit ALS Home to view current postings. For further information, please contact the Human Resources Department.

SAFETY

The School complies with all applicable health and safety laws and regulations. Each employee is responsible to carry out his or her duties in the safest manner possible. If you notice anything that may present a safety hazard, you should notify the Human Resources department immediately. If you sustain a work-related accident, injury, or illnesses, you must inform your supervisor and the Human Resources department immediately—even if you believe you were not harmed.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

The School complies with all applicable provisions of the state Workers' Compensation laws and strives to provide a safe place to work for all employees. Further, the School is required to maintain accurate and complete records concerning work-related injuries. Therefore, all job-related accidents, injuries or illnesses must be immediately reported to the Human Resources department, regardless of injury or the nature or severity of an injury.

Upon initial employment, employees are provided a document outlining employee rights and responsibilities under state Workers' Compensation laws. Failure to comply with the procedures, terms and conditions of state Workers' Compensation laws could result in a loss of benefits. Employees who exercise their rights under Worker's Compensations laws will not be subject to retaliation or reprisals of any kind.

ACCEPTANCE OF GIFTS
CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Although the School understands that students are prone to bring token gifts, employees should not accept any gifts from either students or their parents that are in excess of $25.00 in value. Employees should therefore exercise good judgment when accepting gifts from students. No one employed by the School shall accept gifts, money, or special favors from vendors or other parties which have a financial or business association with the School.

In addition, employees must not sell or solicit the sale of any item to students. This prohibition includes sale of cosmetics, vitamins, household goods, periodicals, etc. Employees should exercise good judgment when purchasing any items from students including, raffle tickets, paper goods, cookies, charitable pledges, etc.

When in doubt about the propriety of accepting a gift or purchasing an item, employees should contact their immediate supervisor or Principal.

Such relationships may compromise the objectivity or effectiveness of one or more employees and may raise issues of favoritism, conflicts of interest and affect the morale of the workplace. If a manager/supervisor chooses to pursue a dating/sexual relationship with an employee, he or she shall inform their supervisor and Human Resources immediately. Employees who disregard this policy will receive disciplinary actions up to and including employment termination. In addition, employees must comply with all anti-discrimination, harassment and retaliation policies of the School.

SMOKING POLICY

The School maintains a smoke-free work environment. Employees must not smoke in a school facility or office area, or any areas where “No Smoking” signs have been posted. This policy includes any device that emits a vapor, including e-cigarettes.

DISTRIBUTION AND REGULAR RETRIEVAL OF THE SCHOOL COMMUNICATIONS

Voicemail: Voicemail is the School’s prime method of communicating urgent and vital information. Employees, therefore, should retrieve their voicemail messages at least three times a day: morning, some point mid-day, and prior to leaving work for the day. If you are unable to retrieve your messages with the regularity required by this policy, please make arrangements for someone to check your voice mail box; in addition, please revise your outgoing message to let people know how long you will be unavailable and who to contact in your absence.

E-mail: E-mail is the School's secondary method of communication. Employees are expected to retrieve their e-mail messages at least twice a day. Employees who, due to absence or other good cause, are unable to access their e-mail messages should: (1) make arrangements for someone to retrieve their e-mail messages; or (2) notify their supervisors of their inability to retrieve e-mails while on approved leave. While out on approved leave, employees should use the automated reply to let people know how long they will be unavailable and who to contact during their absence.

Cell Phone/Pagers: Employees who are provided School-issued cell phones and pagers should have the cell phones and pagers with them and activated during work hours. If an employee cannot be contacted by either cell phone or pager during work hours, he or she must apprise his or her supervisor.

Personal Cell Phone Use: Employees may use their personal cell phones during their lunch period, only in the employee lounge and before or after school. Personal cell phones may not be used in the classrooms, corridors, offices or any other area of the building during the workday unless specifically outlined above.

Once a communication is sent by the School to its employees by voicemail, e-mail, pager, or cell phone, the employee will be responsible for retrieving the communication and being apprised of its contents. An employee's failure to retrieve a message will not excuse any consequences which may result from the employee's lack of awareness or notice of the communication.

REMOVAL OF SCHOOL PROPERTY

Employees may not remove from the facility any School property including, but not limited to computer, computer software, audio or visual equipment, databases, financial records, academic records, procedures manuals, etc., without prior approval from the Principal.

CONFIDENTIALITY OF INFORMATION

It is the policy of the School to ensure that the operations, activities, and business affairs of the School and its students are kept confidential to the greatest possible extent. If, during their employment, employees acquire confidential or proprietary information about the School, its students and its clients, such information is to be handled in strict confidence and is not to be discussed with outsiders. Employees are also responsible for the internal security of such information.

For purposes of this policy, "Confidential and Proprietary Information" means any and all data and information relating to the School's business, whether written or otherwise, of which the employee becomes aware as a consequence of, during, or through the employee's association with the School, including, without limitation: research, strategic plans, operating plans and methodologies, specialized teaching methods, Executive Information System (EIS) database, operations manual, academic records, student records and transcripts, marketing strategies, financial information, results of tests or other trade secrets, as well as any or all information which is disclosed to the employee or in any way acquired by the employee relating to the School or its employees, clients, customers, students, prospective customers or clients, or vendors.

Employees will be asked to sign a Confidentiality Agreement at the time of hire and periodically throughout their term of employment to acknowledge their awareness of, and reaffirm their commitment to, this policy.

USE OF SCHOOL LOGO

Employees may not reproduce the corporate logo in any form or fashion without prior permission from the School Support Center, who handles the ordering of business cards, stationery and marketing materials. Employees who need these supplies should contact the Human Resources Department.

MEDIA POLICY

MEDIA AND PRESS RELATIONS

In this fast-paced, information-oriented country, the School and its staff and students will be in various forms of news media from time to time. Reporters are eager to cover all that is happening in our schools and in our business. That can be a big advantage in building community support for our educational system.

The key to working with the media is to try to make sure that coverage of the School is balanced, fair, and accurate. That calls for preparedness and rapid response. To help the School personnel be prepared to cooperate with media representatives and gain favorable media coverage, the School has adopted the School wide media policy stated below. Among other issues it covers (1) designation of spokespersons for the School; (2) procedures governing media access to the School facilities; (3) procedures for working with media personnel in emergencies; and (4) procedures for conducting interviews and recording visual images at the School facilities.

Policy

Dissemination of information to the news media is the primary responsibility of the office of the Management Company's CEO. All media responses must be discussed with the office of the CEO. There are no exceptions. The office of the CEO will designate a spokesperson for each media inquiry or release of information. Employees are prohibited from speaking on behalf of the School.

Procedures

School personnel must adhere to the following guidelines when working with the media:

- Procedures for Handling Media Inquiries
  - Ask for the reporter's name.
  - Ask for the name of the reporter's newspaper, radio station, or television station.
  - Ask when the reporter's deadline is.
  - Get the reporter's contact information: phone number, email address and fax
  - Ask the reporter what the inquiry is about and what information is needed so it can be gathered to meet their needs. Get as many questions from the reporter as possible.
  - Media requests for School records shall be submitted in writing to office the CEO.

Access to Schools and Facilities

News reports and other communications representatives must initiate their requests to interview, film, videotape, and/or photograph students and/or the School personnel on the School property through the office of the CEO. The Principal is responsible for maintaining discipline and the safety of all persons in the school.

All media requests made to the Principal or other employees must be directed to the office of the Management Company's CEO. The office of the CEO will contact the regional office prior to a media visit. If media appear on campus without notifying the office of the CEO, the Principal should notify the office of the CEO and regional office. No media representatives will be allowed in the school without approval of the CEO.

News representatives must first check into the Principal's office before proceeding to other areas of the school building. Reporters are considered visitors at the campus and are required to sign in at the administrative office. Media representatives will be escorted by the Principal or his/her designee while they are in the building. The School may refuse access to media representatives on school property if their presence or behavior would be disruptive to the school environment.

Access during Crisis/Emergency Situations

In handling crisis situations on campus, Principals should first contact emergency medical services personnel (if the situation is life threatening). Following that, the general order of notification, depending upon the circumstances surrounding the situation, is first, the corporate office, who will then contact any other office as necessary.

During crisis/emergency situations, media access to schools and facilities may be limited to ensure student and staff safety or to maintain order. However, an area may be designated on school property to conduct news briefings on the crisis or emergency situation. In these situations, normal access procedures for media and other visitors may be suspended in the interest of student and staff safety and an orderly emergency response.

Interview and Photography (Film and Videotape)

Interviews, filming, or videotaping on the School property may not occur without prior approval from the office of the CEO.

Filming, videotaping, and photographing children in classrooms, on campus, or in school sponsored events are allowed only if there is a signed parental consent form or release form for each child who participates in such activities. Signed parental consent forms must be in the school files and accessible upon request. The filming, videotaping, and photographing of children for classroom instructional purposes or for a purpose related to a co-curricular or extracurricular activity do not require parental permission forms. Questions regarding this policy should be directed to Human Resources.

School personnel must adhere to the following general guidelines when working with the news media:

- The privacy of a student or employee is the foremost concern when working with the news media and must be considered prior to the release of any information. No information regarding specific students should be released to the media and press without the specific approval of the parent/guardian and the Principal.

- If there is no prior clearance from the office of the CEO, names of students should never be released under any circumstances without prior parental consent or the consent of the student if they are 18 years or age or older.

- All employees are required to comply with the Family Educational Privacy Act (FERPA) and with any state or school district mandates regarding student privacy

- Names of victims are not to be released; news media should be referred to the receiving hospital or police department for such information.

- Home addresses and telephone numbers of students, private citizens, and the School employees are not to be released to the media.

- Media requests for the School records shall be submitted in writing to the office of the CEO.

Common Sense is Important, Too

One final aspect of being prepared is simply to exercise common sense. In working with the media, you, as the School employee, should always remain composed, courteous and thoroughly professional. Here are a few tips that will ensure good relations with the media representatives:

- Respect reporters' deadlines.
- Be truthful, accurate and keep it simple. Get right to the point, and keep your statements brief, especially for broadcast media.
- Be confident. Remember, you are a seasoned professional. If you are composed and straightforward, reporters will respect your authority and appreciate your cooperation.
- Let the corporate office help you. They have wide experience in the different news media, and they work closely with media representatives.
- Do not put yourself in a position of looking evasive or hostile. If a reporter insists on an interview and begins filming immediately, please do the following:
- Politely tell him/her you will be glad to comply with the request but the corporate policy requires you to contact the office of the CEO prior to granting an interview.

USE OF SCHOOL COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS - COMPUTERS, COMPUTER FACILITIES AND COMPUTER RESOURCES

All communication systems used at the School including, but not limited to, computer, telephone, cell phone, fax, voice mail, on-line computer services and e-mail are to be used for only conducting School business during working time.

All School communication systems and the information maintained on these systems are considered the sole property of the School. The School has the right, but not the duty, to intercept, monitor, copy, review and download any communications or files created or maintained on these systems. Employees should not have an expectation of privacy in anything created, stored, sent or received on the School's communication systems.

By using the School's communication systems, an employee knowingly and voluntarily consents to being monitored and acknowledges the School's right to conduct such monitoring.

Employees are required to password protect confidential or proprietary information sent via e-mail. Employees may access only messages, files or programs, whether computerized or not, that they have permission to enter. Unauthorized review, duplication, dissemination, removal, damage, or alteration of files, passwords, computer systems or programs, voicemail messages, or other property of the School, or improper use of information obtained by authorized means is prohibited.

Under no circumstances may an employee create or maintain a "personal" or "private" account, mailbox, program, folder or application on any School device or part of the School communication system. Such "personal" or "private" accounts include but are not limited to, Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and similar social networking sites.

Employees may not use personal laptop computers or other personal electronic equipment such as camera phones, camera PDA's, video equipment, cameras, handheld scanners, flash drives, and any other device capable of capturing or storing an image in its facilities. Employees may not install software on any School owned computers or the network without first receiving authorization to do so. Employees are not permitted to open e-mail attachments from unknown senders or to send and/or receive mass e-mails or e-mails with file attachments requiring significant storage space including, but not limited to, audio, video and executable files.

Employees must use the authorized School signature on all work-related e-mail correspondence.

Employees may not use School's computers, computer facilities, computer resources, computer networks and telecommunications systems to violate the School's Policy Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment in the Workplace or any other School policy.

The School recognizes that, on occasion, employees may need to make and/or receive personal calls or send and/or receive personal e-mails during business hours. Employees are expected to do so during non-working time such as meal or break periods, unless expressly allowed by a supervisor in emergency situations. As noted above, however, any personal calls or e-mails made from or received to School computers, phones (including School issued or paid-for cell phones) or other communications devices are subject to inspection and/or monitoring at any time and thus such communications may not be considered private.

FERPA Guidelines

All data files created, transmitted, or stored on School equipment are the property of the School and are not protected by any right to privacy. The exception is personnel and student information protected by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). No FERPA protected data shall be transmitted from a School network, unless permitted by applicable law.

Audits will be performed on a periodic basis to insure compliance with this policy.

Inappropriate, unauthorized, and illegal use will result in the cancellation of the privilege to use School Communication Systems and may result in disciplinary action. Use of School Communication Systems to violate state, federal and local law will be reported to the appropriate law enforcement officials.

Electronic Image Policy

To safeguard students, staff and information, and to reduce the opportunities for illegal harassment, the School regulates the use of electronic equipment used to capture images such as camera phones, camera PDAs, video equipment, cameras, handheld scanners, flash drives, and any other device capable of capturing or storing an image in its facilities.

At School-sponsored events, employees, students and visitors may use cameras and similar equipment, as long as they do not disrupt the workplace, annoy others, or violate a School policy. Employees are required to obtain written permission from the School before taking or distributing any photographs or videos of any kind on School premises. Employees must not use electronic equipment to create or convey offensive, harassing, vulgar, obscene, or threatening images or communications. Similarly, transmitting sexually oriented messages or images using camera phones is forbidden.

Taking photos or videos is strictly prohibited in restrooms, locker rooms (any area where employees expect privacy) and in records and areas where, student information, social security numbers, credit card or other sensitive personal information is kept.

Electronic equipment on the School's premises or at School-sponsored events may not be used to defame, embarrass, or disparage the School, employees, students, vendors, or competitors.

Transmission of any School information, logos, data, and photos of the premises or of any employees, contractors, subcontractors, or visitors is strictly forbidden.

Privileged or confidential material, such as, but not limited to, trade secrets or attorney-client communications, are not to be photocopied, scanned, photographed, or otherwise copied except by authorized personnel in the furtherance of School business.

Ask permission of anyone you photograph at a School function.

Ask permission of your supervisor and any person photographed to transmit or post any images.

At School functions or special celebrations, the School may designate an employee to capture the event on film. Employees and any guests will be asked for permission before their picture is taken, displayed, or transmitted.

Employees must report any violations of this policy.

Employee's belongings, including electronic equipment, briefcases, backpacks, satchels, jackets, and purses are subject to inspection to ensure compliance with this policy. Any images taken or present on School property relating to School business are considered School property.

Any images found in violation of this policy are subject to confiscation.

Violation of this policy can result in discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

In the rapidly expanding world of electronic communication, social media can mean many things. Social media (including personal and professional websites, blogs, chat rooms and bulletin boards; social networks, such as Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, Instagram, and MySpace; video-sharing sites such as YouTube; and e-mail) are a common means of communication and self-expression. An employee will be held to the same standards in his or her use of social media as for any other public conduct. If an employee's use of social media violates applicable local, state or federal laws, or employee code of conduct or School policy, or interferes with the employee's ability to effectively perform his or her job duties, the employee will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Know and follow the rules

Carefully read these guidelines, the Personnel Policies Guide and the Discrimination & Harassment Policy, and ensure your postings are consistent with these policies.

Inappropriate postings that may include discriminatory remarks, harassment, and threats of violence or similar inappropriate or unlawful conduct will not be tolerated and may subject you to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Your identity online

You are responsible for all communications and information you publish online. The School may be liable for online activity that uses School assets, a School e-mail address or any e-mail address that can be traced back to the School's domain, which generally is any internet address affiliated with the School. Using your School e-mail address may imply that you are acting on the School's behalf. Because social media and networking activities are public, your School e-mail address and School- provided internet access should be used only to perform job-related activities, which may include professional networking but do not include personal social networking.

Outside the workplace, you have a right to participate in social media and networks using your personal e-mail address. However, information and communications that you publish on personal online sites should never be attributed to the School or appear to be endorsed by the School or be an official School communication.

To Whom It May Concern:

The mission of the National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame Foundation, Inc. is to be a catalyst to help insure the stability, strength and excellence of the nation's Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs). We are committed to establishing and implementing educational programs that ensure the success of future leaders of our nation.

Understanding the importance of education in our nation, we will partner with Accelerated Learning Solutions, Inc. (ALS), a charter school organization which is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) that provides students a non-traditional opportunity to earn an accredited high school diploma.

We are proud to support Accelerated Learning Solutions in their development of a charter school model that improves the educational opportunities in school districts where they have established positive relationships with community leaders, public school superintendents, school board members, principals and guidance counselors, to partner in the effort to close the academic achievement gap for students who have dropped out or are at risk of dropping out of high school.

I have had the opportunity to visit some of their schools and visit with their teachers, administrators, and students. I am very impressed with their success.

The National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame Foundation looks forward to collaborating with Accelerated Learning Solutions to ensure the students they serve discover a pathway to a successful future.

Respectfully,

Dear Superintendent Greene:

I am writing you in support of the charter petition for the DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning which will be submitted to DeKalb County Schools on March 17. In this charter petition, a high school dropout prevention and dropout recovery program will be proposed for approval by the School District.

You are aware that the high school dropout experience in DeKalb County is similar to the challenge in many of Georgia's urban school districts. I would encourage you, your team and the School Board to approve this petition based on the following data[1] and the other points which follow.

- 4,766 students from the combined Classes of 2014 and 2015 did not graduate with their 9th grade cohort.
- The School District's 70.9% 2014-15 graduation rate was 8 percentage points lower than the Georgia average.
- 7,491 students are repeating a grade in DeKalb high schools in 2015-16. This is predictor of whether a student will complete high school.

The charter board for this school will be a strong group of individuals who represent the DeKalb County community and have a passion for the success of these students. It is my understanding that the charter board will be hiring a SACS accredited, school management company whose sole mission is to operate effective high school dropout prevention and recovery programs. The charter board and the management company intends to act in partnership with School District high schools as a resource for principals – and for students who have dropped out or are likely to drop out. The school intends to complement School District services and will not compete for DeKalb County students as is the case with many charter schools.

I encourage the School District's approval of this petition.

Thank you and best regards,

Representative Rahn Mayo

Outlook on instruction: Class around the clock

A 24/7 learning model—that's personalized and partly controlled by students —will become more entrenched

By: Jessica Terrell

District Administration, January 2015

Better ways to use data. High-tech professional development. Differentiated instruction.

Some exciting advancements are on the horizon for classrooms in 2015. While they sound technical, the biggest changes aren't going to be driven by an app, a computer program or a new kind of tablet—they will come from new theories about how to engage both students and teachers in the classroom.

Technology will continue to transform classroom instruction in the coming years. But education leaders, such as Vanderbilt University professor Barbara Stengel and Partnership for 21st Century Skills Executive Director Helen Soule, say they hope to see an ongoing shift in what administrators, teachers, students and parents think a classroom should look like and how it should function.

When it comes to instruction, new learning standards like the Common Core and technology will get the most attention in 2015. (Click to enlarge chart)

"When we close our eyes and say, 'Think of a school,' many people see rows of desks with kids in them and a person in front of the room,'" Soule says. "Our biggest challenge is changing the mindset that that's what good schooling looks like."

And Ellen Moir, founder and CEO of the New Teacher Center, expects to see more blended learning in classrooms, a more personalized approach for students, and a greater focus on professional learningcommunities.

For 2015, educators also can expect more team teaching, and greater emphasis on small-group projects and real-world experience as schools across the country move further away from a one-size-fits-all model of education.

Student-driven learning

Allowing students to play a bigger role in shaping their educational experience is a trend that Soule and ASCD Executive Director Judy Seltz expect to grow in 2015. Turning students into agents of their own learning can be as simple as explaining to them why they have to learn what they're learning. And it can be as involved as allowing students to work alongside teachers to design that learning, Seltz says.

Students identifying and tracking their own strengths and weaknesses is also gaining ground in schools, Soule says. She recently met a Washington, D.C., secondgrader who was updating her learning profile on an iPad, and was able to point to her goals for the day and update her progress—instead of leaving the task to the teacher.

"Having some control over their own learning gives them a great deal of self confidence," Soule says. "It also helps students grow in terms of being self-aware about what their strengths and weaknesses are."

Greater individual attention

Improvements in technology and a growing recognition that not all children can learn in the same way will drive big growth in differentiated instruction in 2015, Seltz says.

Online and blended learning opportunities, flipped classrooms and instructional videos will allow teachers to work with students on a more individual basis, Soule says. That will be especially true in schools with 1-to-1 or BYOD programs. In a class of 25 students with 25 laptops, every student can be working on a different task, Seltz says.

Such technologies will also make the classroom more of a 24/7 experience in 2015 and beyond, Soule predicts. This will make it easier for students to collaborate on group projects from home and also to take digital courses—like AP or elective classes—that they don't have time for in their regular schedule.

Smarter use of data

Forget about data-driven instruction and instead look for an increase in "data-informed" instruction in 2015,

New learning, assessment strategies and career readiness top list for 2015

New curriculum programs in core subjects and across all grades will be a top instructional priority in schools in 2015. Meeting learning standards, introducing enhanced assessment strategies and adopting classroom technology also will be critical in 2015, according to a DA survey of instructional leaders.

About three-quarters of all respondents say their district will implement new elementary school programs this year in reading, language arts and math. And more than half of all respondents are planning new programs in those subjects in middle and high school.

About 70 percent of all respondents will implement new science, world language, music and arts programs in high school this year.

Career readiness also was high on the list, with 93 percent of respondents planning to start initiatives in high school, and more than half launching middle school programs. And 22 percent of respondents say their districts will introduce career readiness in elementary school.

Health and wellness was another popular topic, with 81 percent of respondents planning to bring new programs to high schools.

Professional learning communities, endorsed by 35 percent of respondents, will be the most popular form of PD for instruction, while about 20 percent plan to hire outside experts or consultants. Online PD and PD for principals is endorsed by only about 13 percent of respondents as being the most popular.

When it comes to classroom instruction, 62 percent says Vanderbilt's Stengel. With data-informed instruction, teachers use data not to just look at what is wrong, but how and why it's wrong. Then they use that information not as a basis for what subjects to teach more of, but for what to teach differently.

For example, Stengel says, seventh graders who are testing poorly in English might have a particular problem with a concept like identifying the main idea. Instead of allotting more time to drill that concept, teachers might interview a dozen seventh graders to see why they selected the answer they did and to look for patterns: What was the main idea that students selected most often and what does that say about what they are doing wrong? Is it because students were taught that the first sentence is often the main idea, or perhaps because they are selecting the idea that is most interesting to them?

said meeting new learning standards, such as Common Core, will take center stage in 2015. More than half the respondents also expect to adopt new assessment strategies and to introduce or expand instructional technology.

The DA instructional and assessment outlook survey was part of a broader set of trend surveys deployed to readers in late 2014. A total of 537 district leaders participated in the surveys.

Teachers can give the interviewed students additional guidance and also use their input to adjust instruction given to the rest of the class.

"You go beyond the data," Stengel says. "The data is a flag that says, 'Look here.' And then you have to go beyond that and look at student work or student thinking."

Differentiated PD

In many ways the coming advancements in professional development models mirror the trends in classroom instruction: personalization, real-world practice and greater opportunities through blended and online learning.

"Just as we want to create optimal learning opportunities for our students that are personalized and differentiated to meet their needs and engage them, that's the same kind of professional learning that our teachers and our leaders need," says Ellen Moir, CEO of the national nonprofit New Teacher Center.

The push for project- and problem-based learning in many states' K12 curricula will result in big changes in PD, Soule says.

"There is a lot more focus on making instruction and professional development more connected to the real world, such as through internships for teachers so they can connect their practice more to what the real world looks like" and will look like, Soule says.

The most important trend Moir sees is the move toward a more individualized PD model that is built around what each teacher needs to know at each stage of their career. Moir envisions a system wherein school districts have a wide selection of PD options—from site-based offerings to online courses to out-of-district programs.

And like the push to give students more control, Moir says teachers need more autonomy over what they learn and when and how they learn it.

Also, online communities and Twitter chats allow teachers to share videos of their classroom work and get quick feedback from fellow educators, Moir says.

“When we look forward to 2015 and beyond, I am imagining that professional development looks different from what it does today,” Moir says. “If we are expecting our teachers to personalize learning, we need to personalize learning for our teachers.”

Research Base for Curricular and Instructional Innovations

(1) Rationale for Instructional Methods

High-need students require a variety of instructional approaches, targeted resources, support services, and intervention strategies to motivate them, support their learning, and ensure both short-term and long-term success. The School's instructional program and support services were developed based on the needs identified in the latest research on success with high need students. The National Dropout Prevention Center[1] has identified that:

- Dropping out of school is related to a variety of factors that can be classified in four areas or domains: individual, family, school, and community factors.
- Dropouts are not a homogeneous group. Many subgroups of students can be identified based on when risk factors emerge, the combinations of risk factors experienced, and how the factors influence them.
- Students who drop out often cite factors across multiple domains.
- Dropping out of school is often the result of a long process of disengagement that may begin before a child enters school.
- Dropping out is often described as a process, not an event, with factors building and compounding over time.

Understanding who our student population is, why they are high-need, and what their needs are enables the School to deliver accelerated learning in an individualized and customized learning environment to help our students succeed personally, socially, and academically.

The School's educational approach is based on a comprehensive and systematic model of teaching and learning. A plethora of research[2] identifies elements of programs that have been effective in keeping students in school, leading them to graduation, and assisting them in planning for postsecondary success.

This research points to success through targeted and coordinated efforts in three broad categories: School Environment, Academics, and Supports.

(a) School Environment

Many students who drop out of school have typically been unsuccessful in a traditional high school environment. Efforts to modify this environment can create a foundation for success. Schools that have been effective in improving the success of students who are returning to school provide a small learning community, a safe and secure facility, and flexible scheduling options.

The primary support structure for a successful school campus is the tone of the building supported by administration, faculty and students. The tone of the building is generated through respect and care from all administrators and staff members for all students regardless of their circumstances. The following components underpin the development of quality culture and climate our School.

[1] Significant Adult Connection

With students having experienced failure and rejection for so many years of their school life, it is important that every student have at least one adult that knows them very well. Creating this important connection will begin the first day the student comes on campus and will continue throughout the student's stay. It is expected that this important connection will assist in the retention of each student through the long term.

[2] Positive Adult Interactions

Throughout the School, adults and students alike will be coached to engage in language and behavior that is conducive to positive interactions that focus the work of the student on learning. Teachers will receive intensive training on positive engagements and how to engage in difficult conversations so that the student is exposed to productive strategies in handling their own difficult conversations but more importantly, create the expected results.

Teachers will receive training that allows them to focus on the fundamental personal traps that lead adults into non-productive conversations with students who have extended experience with dysfunctional behavior. The teachers will be encouraged to screen their own behaviors and then explore the possible difficulties that students could present for them who have not yet learned how to negotiate difficulties in social situations.

Teachers will model appropriate behavior while coaching students as they interact with the adults on campus. In addition, students will be expected to exhibit appropriate behavior to each other.

[3] Greetings

At the beginning of every session, administrators and staff will be at the door greeting students by name and with a handshake, and will mention successes that the student has achieved during recent times. This behavior will provide an immediate and personal connection upon entry to School and underscore the expectations of the adults.

[4] Celebrations

A prominent aspect of a supportive, encouraging culture is the existence of routine celebrations that are designed to support and uplift student progress and possibly teacher achievements or progress. Administrators and teacher will be expected to create celebratory events that highlight students and their work such as: 1) notifications of notable progress or achievement placed above the student's assigned computer, 2) hallway posters displaying progress in a particular software, 3) attendance acknowledgements, 4) pictures of seniors and graduation ceremonies, 5) events celebrating achievement on high stakes testing, 6) recognition of students who have achieved honors in the community, 7) positive phone calls made to the home and 8) any other activities that highlight students' work and achievement.

The Principal may invite School staff, community, family members, and Board members to celebratory events. Celebrations will be accompanied by appropriate certificates, trophies, and banners in order to commemorate the event. Positive student recognition will be an integral part of the School's culture and support a healthy, student-centered climate.

[5] Climate of Hard Work

Every adult in the School will be expected to model a strong work ethic with the intention of supporting every student in his or her quest to graduate. Our School will provide a supportive environment with the sole purpose of enabling students to graduate. Every adult will commit to hard work and will expect every student to give their best and work hard.

(b) Academics

Academics must be a major area of reform for programs focused on dropout prevention and recovery in order to prepare students for successful transitions into college and careers. Not surprisingly, the majority of studies reviewed in the design of the proposed educational program recommended a clear focus on academic innovations and interventions. Successful dropout prevention programs are characterized by challenging coursework and rigorous academics, coursework that is clearly relevant to postsecondary goals, an expectation that all students will be successful, and early interventions to provide support to struggling students and close achievement gaps. Each of these elements has been thoughtfully and deliberately integrated into our School model.

(c) Supports

The research on dropout prevention and recovery is clear about the need for comprehensive and coordinated support services to students. Small, safe, and flexible school environments with an emphasis on academics alone will not be as successful as the same environment and academic emphasis in a school with supports that are designed to also address the social, emotional, and psychological well-being of the students. Several support structures appear to be key in leading students to school success and graduation, including effective use of data, personal attention and a close relationships with an adult at school, a graduation and postsecondary plan, family and community involvement, skilled teachers and leaders who participate in regular and meaningful professional development, and access to specialists including the Family Support Specialist and Career Coach.

The educational program model closely and thoughtfully aligns with these recent recommendations for dropout prevention and recovery. Thus, the School's educational model, resources, and support services are built upon best practices and effective strategies.

(2) Research on Instructional Delivery

The amount and quality of technology available for education has increased exponentially over the past decade and thus it is important to discover what types of tools exist and in what ways they are most effective. Technology also becomes increasingly important for the development of 21st century skills. The Framework for 21st Century Learning[3] promotes technological literacy because students must know how to use technology effectively and ethically in order to succeed in a global community. To educate students who can compete in a global job market, it is necessary to improve upon their technology skills as well as their skills in core content, according to the 21st Century Framework. Thus, integrating technology into core content courses promotes technological literacy as well as a better understanding of core concepts.

Blended learning has been used to define a variety of educational models. Our blended learning approach combines face-to-face classroom methods with computer-generated activities to form an integrated instructional approach. In the past, digital materials have served in a supplementary role, helping to support face-to face-instruction. The School's blended learning program uses technology to individualize educational plans, address foundational gaps and provide acceleration opportunities for students. The School's blended learning model combines direct, face-to-face, small and large group, individual and technology-based instruction. The goal of this blended approach is to join the best aspects of both face-to-face and online instruction. Classroom time can be used to engage students in interventions to eliminate barriers as well as to provide advanced interactive experiences. The online portion of the course can provide students with multimedia-rich content throughout the course of the day. This allows for an increase in flexibility for scheduling intervention, social support, and career guidance for students.

The School's blended learning model takes into account the instructional and social emotional needs of at risk students. In many cases, these students have struggled in a school setting for a variety of reasons. As a result, the School's model takes into account the whole learner. Each student will work on an individualized plan, will be provided academic and social/emotional interventions and support, and will benefit from a climate of encouragement and celebration toward graduation.

Amen (2013) reports that thirty-three percent (33%) of untreated people with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) never finish high school.[4] These individuals need constant novelty in order to sustain interest and follow through. Digital learning can provide that novelty through interactive, original subject material; multimedia tutorials; manipulative tools that encourage hands-on interaction; and engaging exercises and self-checks. While many blended learning programs are so new that data over multiple years are not yet available, studies and research are already showing promising results.

In the blended learning environment, according to Keeping Pace with K-12 Online Learning: An Annual Review of Policy and Practice (2010)[5], "the teacher is critical, as blended learning requires a transformation of instruction as the teacher becomes a learning facilitator; instruction involves increased interaction between student-and-instructor, student-to-content, and student-to-student." Keeping Pace also notes that blended learning offers more possibilities for engagement, personalization and increased learning:

> The most important potential benefit of blended learning is increased student engagement and learning…. Blended learning can personalize instruction to each student in a classroom, freeing the teacher to focus on working one-on-one with students in particular areas that they need additional help. It can allow students to work through math problems, for example, at their own rate, moving on as they demonstrate mastery and providing additional instruction in areas where students need help—or highlighting for the teacher the students who need assistance in a particular area…. When blended learning is used to enhance classroom instruction, it can foster the development of 21st century literacies, which do not merely hinge on technological proficiency. Quality blended learning prepares students to think critically, to build collaborative relationships, to problem solve, and to communicate in a diverse global community.

In a study of blended learning (face-to-face and online/digital), Pape[6] observed:

> …with blended learning, teachers can use online tools and resources as part of their daily classroom instruction. Using many of the online tools and resources students already are using for social networking, blended teaching helps teachers find an approach that is more engaging for this generation of students. The benefits of blended learning include giving students a variety of ways to demonstrate their knowledge while appealing to diverse learning styles and fostering independent learning and self-directed learning skills in students, a critical capacity for lifelong learners. Blended learning helps students better develop their higher education and workforce skills. It extends teaching and learning beyond the classroom walls, developing critical thinking, problem solving, communication, collaboration and global awareness.

According to Cakir, Delialioglu, Dennis, & Duffy[7], the student achievement gap between urban and suburban districts is a major issue in U.S. schools. Technology-enhanced learning environments that support teaching and learning processes with advanced technology may close this achievement gap. Their research studied the impact of student and school factors with an emphasis on schools' geographic location on student achievement in a technology enhanced learning environment. The instructional model investigated by Cakir et al. combined face-to-face learning with online/digital curriculum and instructional materials that were distributed over the Internet so that all teachers and students received the same instructional materials and content tests. 4,670 students from 386 high schools participated in this study. Considering together with gender, ability and motivation factors, results showed that students located in different districts achieved equally well. Their results concluded that this combination of technology-enhanced classroom learning environment helped students be successful, which gives promising results to remedy student achievement gaps between urban and suburban districts and their respective student populations.

As noted by Larson, Kuhn, Collins, Balthazor, Ribble, & Miller[8],

> …high school students spend much of their educational journeys immersed in ‘old’ literacies of paper, pencil, and print books. But outside of the classroom, they are exposed to information and communication technologies--such as blogs, wikis, Internet browsers, multimedia, social networking sites, and a wide range of software--each of which demand new literacies. This disconnect is a serious problem for schools because it reflects a decline in school's relevancy to students' futures, and the gap between how schools teach and how students learn will only grow over time. The first step in updating a school's technology and instruction is to revisit and revise current vision statements by facilitating conversations with all stakeholders about expectations for student skills upon graduation. Vision setting must include the new literacies. Teachers and education leaders must model expectations and support visionary teaching and learning through technology.

A study conducted by Korkmaz & Karakus[9] investigated the impact of a blended learning model on students' attitudes towards a Geography course and their critical thinking dispositions and skills. An experimental pattern with pretest-posttest control group was used in the study. The study group consisted of fifty-seven (57) high school students (28 in the experiment group and 29 in the control group). The experimental group was subject to hybrid learning through the Geography web page, while the traditional learning model was used for the control group. The results indicated that the blended learning model contributed more to student attitudes toward the geography course when compared to the traditional learning model; the blended learning model contributed more to student critical dispositions and levels when compared to the traditional learning model; and there was a positive correlation between student attitudes toward geography course and their critical thinking dispositions and levels.

As noted by the National Council of Teachers of Math (NCTM)[10]:

> Technology is an essential tool for learning mathematics in the 21st century, and all schools must ensure that all their students have access to technology. Effective teachers maximize the potential of technology to develop students' understanding, stimulate their interest, and increase their proficiency in mathematics. When technology is used strategically, it can provide access to mathematics for all students.

Barrow & Rouse[11] examined whether a computer-based curriculum in mathematics was more effective than traditional classroom instruction at teaching pre-algebra and algebra concepts to middle- and high-school students. The study included about 1,600 students in fifteen (15) high schools and two middle schools in three large urban school districts. Math classrooms in each school were randomly assigned to use either the computer-based curriculum or a traditional math curriculum. The study assessed the program's effectiveness by comparing the test scores of the two instruction groups at the end of the school year. At the end of the school year, students in classrooms using the computer-based curriculum scored higher on the assessment of pre-algebra and algebra skills than students in traditional math classrooms. The estimated effect size was 0.17, equivalent to moving a student from the 50th to 57th percentile. In one of the three study districts, students in classrooms using the computer-based curriculum also scored higher on their standardized statewide math test.

(3) Research on Curricula

The School's primary curricula have been selected based the quality of the programs and evidence of effectiveness with our target population. All of these curricula have documented evidence demonstrating student success as elucidated below.

(a) Apex Learning

Apex Learning was selected because it has been recognized by the National Dropout Prevention Center as a comprehensive dropout prevention, intervention, and recovery/re-entry program with promising results.

Apex Learning has used sound research to guide the development of the Apex curriculum. Using the most recent research on acquiring knowledge and thinking skills, characteristics of learners, and assessment and feedback, the Apex curriculum effectively provides students with access to both the content and tools needed to be successful learners.[12] For example,

> …the learning sciences offer a time-tested base of research and practice on how people learn and how to design instruction so that students build knowledge modeled on the characteristics of expert knowledge. Second, students learn more when information in multiple media is presented to them in ways that reduce unnecessary cognitive effort, facilitate processing of essential information, and maximize processing potential. These knowledge-centered elements contribute to learning with understanding and the goal of adaptive expertise (Moore & Baer, p. 6).

In response, Apex Learning has designed lessons that engage students in challenging activities that increase in depth and are supported by many examples that allow students to use and apply factual knowledge. As students work, a variety of instructional strategies such as predictions, advance organizers, and questions elicit prior knowledge upon which to build new knowledge. Further, multimedia presentations of information pique students' interest and lead to deeper understandings.

The effectiveness of the Apex's research-based curriculum is evident. Recently, Empirical Education, Inc. completed two studies of the effects of Apex curriculum on students at a charter high school in Ohio. One study sought to answer the following questions, "(1) What are the determinants of achievement and dynamics of growth for students using Apex Learning courses in Life Skills Centers? (2) How is student growth or achievement on math, science, or ELA assessments related to the students' quality of work metrics that the Apex Learning system tracks?" (p. 1)[13]. Researchers found that "…increased time spent in Apex Learning courses is associated with higher assessment scores…" (p. 1) and there is a "…positive relationship between Apex Learning digital curriculum usage and performance on math, science, or ELA assessments" (p. 3).

The second study[14] sought to answer the following question: Is the reading growth or achievement of students using Literacy Advantage courses the same or greater than that of comparable students in Apex Learning core courses? Researchers concluded that

> …students using Literacy Advantage perform better on the reading assessment than those that do not use Literacy Advantage, although the exact nature of this relationship changes depending on student pretest scores. Students with low pretest scores, below 2641, benefited from Literacy Advantage courses. This is consistent with Literacy Advantage's goal of supporting struggling readers. Based on the p values, there is reason to have confidence in these results (p.3)

Evidence from around the country also points to success with the Apex Learning curriculum. St. Mary's County Public Schools are located in Leonardtown, Maryland, and serve 17,450 students in 27 schools, including the county's first public charter school. In 2012, Great Mills High School in St. Mary's County Public Schools increased its four year adjusted cohort graduation rate by six (6) percentage points in one year, from 76% in 2011 to 82% in 2012. Superintendent Dr. Michael Martirano attributed much of the increase to the school using Apex Learning® digital curriculum in a new blended learning program.[15]

The Auburn School District is located thirty (30) miles southeast of Seattle, Washington and serves 14, 500 students in grades K-12. Auburn selected Apex Learning to re-engage students who had dropped out of school. Since the program's inception, both student achievement and the graduation rate have steadily increased with fewer students dropping out. Results show a 4.5 percentage point increase in the graduation rate and a one (1) percentage point decrease in the dropout rate.[16]

(b) Reading Plus

Reading Plus® has one of the most extensive documentations as to the effectiveness of its technology-delivered reading improvement techniques, especially in the area of silent reading fluency development. Beyond the pedagogical considerations observed in Reading Plus®, there is an array of studies dating back to the 1930s, when Earl A. Taylor initiated the first reading instrument training technique to develop fluency in silent reading. The studies continued through the 1960s and into the 1980s with the introduction of the Controlled Reader, Guided Reader, Tach-X, and Tach-Mate tachistoscopes by Stanford E. Taylor.

Taylor Associates studied the records of over 300 schools and the reports on 65,000 students during the school years of 2005-2007, facilitating the creation of Reading Plus® 3.6, which contains an automated system of instruction, provisions for scaffolding of instruction to best accommodate individual student needs, ongoing formative and summative assignments, as well as many motivational measures that will maximize student progress toward developing reading proficiency.

Numerous studies conducted with Reading Plus® demonstrate the system's effectiveness in developing reading proficiency in elementary, middle school, and high school students. A recent study involving more than 28,000 students supported the following outcomes:

- Reading Plus® significantly improved reading scores in middle school and high school students regardless of student ethnicity or sub-population.
- A direct correlation was observed between the number of Reading Plus® lessons completed and gains achieved.
- Participating Exceptional Student Education (ESE) students (both non-gifted and gifted) made significantly greater gains compared to non-participating students.
- Participating English Language Learner (ELL) students made significantly greater gains compared to non-participating students.

In a recent study of students in grades 4 through 10[17], results indicated that students participating in the program for a minimum of 40 or more lessons over approximately six months made significantly greater gains on both the criterion- referenced and norm-referenced reading tests that are part of the Florida Comprehensive Achievement Test (FCAT) than students who did not participate in the program. A total of 16,143 students from grades 4 through 10 in 23 schools in Regions II and III in the Miami-Dade County School System participated in the study.

Prescott High School in Prescott, AZ, is one of nine schools involved in the longitudinal component of the national research project being conducted by Dr. John Shelley-Tremblay of the University of South Alabama (2007). This portion of the study includes students ranging from Grade 9 through Grade 11. Over 70% of the students reported on thus far exceeded the expected Lexile growth for the period covered in this lay analysis, with the vast majority doubling and tripling the expected increase. The expected increase for the period is approximately 44 Lexile points; the average increase among the students reviewed was 105 Lexile points. Lexile points are equal-unit measures and, therefore, can be used for comparison. Within the Reading Plus® programs, the students increased their Guided Reading™ rate by an average of 115 words per minute while maintaining reasonable comprehension. The students also increased how efficiently they read overall.

A collaborative study[18] was conducted between August 2003 and December 2003 and involved 82 students in the ninth and tenth grades who were defined as struggling readers. Forty-four treatment-group students were assigned to Reading Plus® and Lexia S.O.S. programs (average time 541.6 minutes), and thirty-eight control-group students were assigned to intervention reading classes (average time 747.4 minutes). Pre- and post-tests used to determine student gains were from the Gates MacGinitie Reading Test, Lexia Comprehension Reading Test, Visagraph Reading Rate Grade Level Equivalent (GLE), and Visagraph Reading Rate with Comprehension.

While the control group showed no significant gains on the Gates Test, the treatment group made statistically significant gains ($p<.05$) from pre-test scores of 22.5 to post-test scores of 25.8. Although both groups showed improvement at the significant level on the Lexia Test, the treatment group having access to Reading Plus® made significant gains on the Visagraph GLE (5.1 to 6.5) and Reading Rate (168.4 to 182), while the control group made no measurable gain.

> A study conducted at a high school in California also showed positive results. A total of 182 high school students from Golden West High School in Visalia, CA, participated as part of a national study evaluating the effectiveness of Reading Plus®[19]. Those in the treatment group considered in the final analysis received at least 40 sessions of Reading Plus®, which included PAVE™, Word Memory™, Cloze Plus™, Reading Around Words™, and Comprehension Power™, and at least 30 lessons in Guided Reading™. The control group used a literature book by McDougal Littell and both groups spent equal time in reading instruction.
> The results show that the treatment-group students, who were shown to be low achievers, made a significant improvement in reading (p=.012) over the control group after pre- and post-testing on the Gates-MacGinitie Reading Tests. The treatment group also showed substantial improvement in visual/functional and perceptual skills after pre- and post-testing with the Visagraph®, with an average two-year grade-level gain and fewer fixations and regressions. Reading rate was also shown to have substantially increased in both Visagraph® recordings and in Part B of Guided Reading™. The control group's gain was slight, with an average half-year grade-level gain and little improvement in reading rate, fixations, and regressions.

(c) MindPlay Virtual Reading Coach

Dr. Joyce Serido and Dr. Wilhelm from the University of Arizona examined the effects of a reading intervention comprised of MindPlay's Reading Coach and a complementary software product[20]. The results of the study provide empirical support that MindPlay intervention made a statistically significant difference in the reading achievement of students in the treatment group compared to students in the control group. Specifically, treatment students improved their phonics and phonemic awareness skills more rapidly and to a higher level than did students in the control group. In addition, students who completed the intervention had statistically significant gains on five of the six measured reading skills compared to control students and treatment students who did not complete the intervention. A similar pattern of results emerged for English Language Learners (ELL) who completed the intervention.

(d) TestGEAR

TestGEAR, a web-based test preparation program, is aligned to state standards and provides students with over fifty (50) hours of individualized curriculum in math and reading. Students will be able to access Test GEAR from any computer workstation with Internet access as they prepare for standardized tests to include state assessments, end-of-course exams, and ACT and/or SAT. The School's teachers will use the accountability reporting tools to track and evaluate students' performance in the program, allowing them to provide targeted, data-driven instruction for individual and small-group test preparation. Several recent studies[21] have found that the greatest short-term benefits of targeted instruction on test preparation were associated with participation in commercial test preparation courses and test preparation workshops using test preparation computer software programs like TestGEAR.

A fifteen-week study involving 100 students and four high schools in New York City examined TestGEAR's ability to improve SAT scores.[22] Gains for these students completing the TestGEAR for SAT online course showed: 1) average overall SAT score gain of 89.09 points; 2) average verbal component score gain of 21.82 points; and 3) average math score gain of 62.27 points In Palm Beach County, Florida, students in four high schools used TestGEAR online courses in school to prepare for the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test (FCAT). FCAT achievement for 248 students who completed two math and two reading practice tests as part of their online course resulted in reading scores increasing by 16.5% and math scores increasing by 12.56%. One school saw math scores rise by 32.4%.

(e) School Connect

School-Connect®: Optimizing the High School Experience is a 40-lesson curriculum designed to improve high school students' social, emotional, and academic skills and strengthen relationships among students and teachers. The program consists of four modules, based on the Social and Emotional Learning Competencies identified by researchers[23] as critical to success in school, the workplace, and life in general: social awareness, self-awareness, self-management, relationship skills, and responsible decision making. Direct instruction lessons by certified teachers include interactive discussions and activities involving collaborative problem solving, respectful listening, effective communication, cooperative learning, and responsible decision making.

One of the major goals of School-Connect® is to increase students' sense of belonging and connectedness to their school. School-connectedness affects learning, and students who feel connected to their school and their teachers are more likely to attend class, enjoy school, and perform well academically. Conversely, those who feel anonymous, unsafe, or unsupported at school are more likely to disengage both socially and academically. Research on school engagement, culture and climate, resiliency and efficacy bears this out:

- By high school, over 40% of students become chronically disengaged from school.[24]
- A survey of high school dropouts found top reasons for not finishing school were: a lack of connection to school, feeling bored and unmotivated, academic challenges, and real-world events.[25]
- School culture affects all students. Many intellectually capable students under-perform to avoid peer rejection, while other students act out to gain peer support.[26]
- School-connectedness is an important protective factor against emotional distress, violence, substance use, academic apathy, and dropping out.[27]

School-Connect® reports anecdotal evidence of the impact of the program. After using School-Connect® in a school district in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, a teacher at one of the high schools reported noticing change in students after one month of implementation.[28]

> We have been running your program for a month and I have seen some amazing things with it. Prior to teaching this program in our Affective Skills Classroom, we were teaching anything we could get our hands on and the kids absolutely hated it. I have noticed a huge difference in our students with this program. They are more actively involved and they are really opening up.

The impact on students was still evident two and a half (2 ½) years after initial implementation.

> Shrader also likes the connection with academics. He proudly displays laminated, two-page essays on perspective taking written by students who previously would have supplied only one or two sentences. He credits the program's Literature Links, Culminating Projects, and focus on real-life experiences with igniting student interest and self-expression.

Another high school in Los Angeles Unified School District in Northridge, California reported similar results after using School-Connect®.[29]

> When students come in they're not necessarily used to such intense social and emotional training that comes with School-Connect. Then as time goes on the atmosphere becomes more and more supportive, friendly, open, enriched. The students start supporting one another. They're quiet and they want to listen to one another…Then they're able to connect that to academics and everything becomes better for them.

(f) FDIC Money Smart

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) developed Money Smart to help young adults outside the financial mainstream build financial knowledge and develop positive relationships with financial institutions. Money Smart, piloted in early 2001 in the Washington, D.C., area, was distributed throughout the United States later that year.

A longitudinal study conducted by FDIC in cooperation with NeighborWorks America[30], showed that financial education changes attitudes and behaviors and can result in enhanced financial literacy (i.e., confidence about basic money management skills, confidence about personal finances and improved creditworthiness). Results also indicted that financial education results in some consumers establishing or strengthening relationships with financial institutions. For example, after completing the Money Smart program, results for those in this study who completed this curriculum showed that:

- 43 percent without a checking account opened a checking account;
- 37 percent without a savings account opened a savings account;
- 69% reported an increase in their savings; and
- 55% indicated they "always paid bills on time," up from 43% before taking the course.

Analysis of Management Company Options for a Dropout Prevention and Recovery Charter High School in Georgia

There are 298 education management organizations (EMOs) serving charter schools and contract schools in the United States.[i] This analysis narrows the number of potential EMOs to those that have sufficient experience operating Dropout Prevention and Recovery Programs (DPRPs) and interacting with charter authorizers. The performance of qualifying EMOs is analyzed in the table below.

Sufficient EMO Experience

13 of the total 298 EMOs operate 10 or more high schools (grades 9-12 only).[i] This measure provides assurance to the charter board that these management companies understand the complexities of high school operations.

8 of the above high school operators manage at least 5 Dropout Prevention and Recovery Programs.[ii] This metric is intended to remove any EMOs that are not experienced with the needs of returning dropouts and severely at-risk students.

4 of the above DPRP EMOs manage schools that are overseen by five or more charter authorizers.[ii] This criterion increases the board's confidence that the EMO has experience supporting positive working relationships with multiple authorizers and is more likely to support a positive relationship with the Georgia Department of Public Instruction (NCDPI), specifically.

EMO Performance

The 4 EMOs meeting all of the above criteria are compared below using outcomes that either affect student outcomes or the success of the charter board:[iii]

Measure	Accelerated Learning Solutions	Richard Milburn Academies	SIATech	White Hat Management Group
Accreditation: Management company is SACS-CASI accredited so that a new charter school becomes accredited in the first year.	Yes	No	Yes	No Accred. in OH, not elsewhere.
Successful Charter Board and Charter Authorizer Relationships: 95%+ of schools where management company was hired by charter board are still being managed by EMO company.	Yes	No 33% (6 of 18) charter schools have closed.	No 17% (4 of 24) charter schools have closed.	No 39% (12 of 31) charter high schools closed.
Successful Charter Authorizer Relationships: 95%+ of operating schools have been renewed by the charter authorizer after the initial 5 years of operation.	Yes	No 22% (4 of 18) charter schools were shut down by authorizer.	No 8% (2 of 24) charter schools were shut down by authorizer.	No 23% (7 of 31) charter schools were shut down by authorizer.
Successful DPRP Contracting in Georgia: Management company is contracted as EMO with at least one non-profit charter board in Georgia.	Yes	No No schools of any sort in Georgia.	No No schools of any sort in Georgia.	No No schools of any sort in Georgia.

Mr. Jarrod Jordan
Chairman, Board of Directors
DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning, Inc.

Dear Mr. Jordan,

This letter confirms that Accelerated Learning Solutions, Inc. (ALS) will provide financial support to the DeKalb High School for Accelerated Learning, Inc.(the "Board") for the establishment and operations of the school proposed in this petition, in accordance with the management agreement by and between ALS and the Board (the "Agreement"); provided: (1) the School is approved by the DeKalb County School District and Georgia Department of Education, and (2) ALS and the Board execute the Agreement.

Pursuant to the Agreement, ALS will advance certain administrative start-up funds to the Board including funds necessary to procure insurance, provide Board training, and pay Board legal and accounting expenses (collectively, the "Charter Organization Expenses").

ALS will also advance the Board the funds necessary to finance tenant improvements and equipment ("fixed asset purchases"); and other start – up and working capital needs of the School and its two campuses (collectively, the "Operational Expenses").

The advances will be repaid when the School is cash flow positive on a schedule mutually agreed upon between the Board and ALS. The advances will bear interest at a rate of 3.0%.

Per the Board's application for a school in DeKalb County with two campuses, ALS anticipates it will advance up to $1,100,000 per campus, but the advances will not be limited to this amount.

We look forward to working with you over the next several months to develop the School.

Best Regards,

Randle Richardson

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES TO RESOLVE STUDENT, PARENT AND EMPLOYEE COMPLAINTS

A. Students and Parents

Grievances about the School should be registered in writing with the Principal or Assistant Principal within 30 days of the concern. The administrator will determine the nature of the grievance and begin collecting all the relevant information and data. The administrator will take steps to resolve the situation in a reasonable, agreed upon time frame.

Depending on the nature and severity of the grievance, or if the parent or guardian is not satisfied with the resolution, the administrator may inform the Governing Board Chair in writing of the grievance and the plan to address the grievance. The parent/guardian may also contact the Governing Board Chair, whose contact information may be obtained at the School's front desk.

The Board will make every effort to consider the grievance within 30 days. The Board shall have final authority to hear and decide on actions as a result of parental concerns.

Parents will always be welcome to attend monthly Board meetings. Public notice for these meetings will be placed on the front door of the School and posted online. Parents will be welcome to voice comments, concerns, or recommendations during the Public Comment period of any meeting of the Board.

B. Employees

Any employee with a grievance will present the issue or concern in writing to the Principal within forty-eight (48) hours of any offending event. The Principal will respond within twenty-four (24) hours (or the following school day) by holding a face-to- face meeting with the employee. The Principal will inform the employee that a full investigation of the complaint will be undertaken and a resolution provided in a reasonable, agreed-upon time frame. The Principal will collect all of the relevant information and data (who, what, when, why, and where).

The follow-up communication with the employee with be accomplished in an appropriate manner and may include a meeting to discuss the results of the investigation and next steps. If the employee is not satisfied with the results, he/she may appeal, in writing, through the chain of command. Depending on the nature and severity of the issue, the Principal may inform the Board of the complaint and the plan to address it.
