

College Pathways Readiness Survey

This document is intended to help parents, guardians, and students determine whether College Pathways will be a good program for the student. The self-graded survey below is designed to provide insight and guidance. Scoring well on this survey does not guarantee a student's admission to College Pathways, nor does scoring automatically preclude a student from being enrolled. The survey is simply one of several mechanisms that will help a student and his/her parents/guardians make a decision about enrolling in College Pathways.

Overall Readiness Projection

Instructions: Transfer your overall readiness scores from the previous pages by circling your score in each area below.

Online/Hybrid Scholarship Readiness

3 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20

Students scoring to the left end of this scale are likely to struggle with the independent nature of the hybrid model at College Pathways.

Students scoring to the right end of this scale are likely to thrive in the hybrid/college model at College Pathways.

Academic Readiness

3 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20

Students scoring to the left end of this scale are likely to struggle with the academic pace and expectations at College Pathways.

Students scoring to the right end of this scale are likely to thrive in the academic environment at College Pathways.

For reflection: If both your scores fall to the same side of the midline, those scores reinforce each other. The reliability of both scores is stronger when they are relatively similar.

If your scores are split, then the overall picture is less clear. You may be developing your academic and scholarly habits at different rates.

Success in any school is a combination of the ability to learn and the support you have to be a diligent scholar. At College Pathways, the importance of diligence and scholarly habits is amplified because the hybrid model has less structured time and relies more on students and parents to stay engaged and active.
