

Business Brains: Bolles Students Shine on National Stage

Bolles students travel to California to participate in the FBLA National Leadership Conference.

Two Bolles students, juniors Vichy Chen and David Li, placed in the top 10 at the Future Business Leaders of America Middle School and High School National Leadership Conference.

Chen placed first in international business and Li placed fifth in securities and investments. The two scholars were part of the Bolles Future Business Leaders of America team, which participated in the conference. The four-day conference took place at the Anaheim Convention Center in Anaheim, California, from June 29 to July 2.

Participating students competed in various leadership events and workshops, sharing new ideas about shaping their careers and swapping successes with other attendees. Bolles student Cyrus Vaghefi led a peer workshop focusing on public speaking, while Bolles FBLA President Akash Gusani competed in Introduction to Financial Math.
