

Bolles students explore the Icelandic outdoors during a one-week trip during their summer vacation.

Bolles Upper School students kicked off their summer vacation with a week in Iceland through the Bolles Iceland Travel Program.

From June 1 to the 8th, Lian Dyer, Asher Gottlieb, Pedro Martinezclark, Elizabeth Watkins, Kimbrough Chambliss, Paul Rywelski, Abigail Naugle and Jane Shad explored the Golden Circle and some of its most iconic landmarks, including Gullfoss Waterfall and Thingvellir National Park.

Leading the trip were Bolles Lower School Whitehurst Campus P.E. Coach Trey Leonard and upper school academic travel programs coordinator Kristin Hong.
