- Smaller setting allows for building great rapport with students and families

Family Feedback

- Our families struggle to meet basic needs and Crossroads can help with that
- They appreciate communication
- They often request additional academic support

Community Feedback

- Partners have a positive perception of Crossroads
- While lots of partnerships exist, we could increase frequency of engagement

Priorities and Opportunities

Rigorous, Community-Connected Classroom Instruction and Expanded, Enriched Learning Opportunities

We have prioritized enriching classroom experiences through additional resources and materials. We also integrate additional support through instructional assistants when available. There is always opportunity for growth in enriching experiences, and we prioritize shared power in developing this.

Collaborative Leadership, Shared Power, and Voice

At Crossroads, staff voice is always considered in decision making but an opportunity of ours is to include student/family voice in leadership as well. This can be a challenge due to the transient nature of our population, but we feel it is important to include those whom the decisions are impacting.

Integrated Systems of Support

Crossroads prioritizes integrated systems of supports to meet student and family needs. We work with various supports in the building and our community partners as fit. There is always room for growth of utilizing partnerships and supporting in new ways.

Culture of Belonging, Safety, and Care

Our small learning environment allows for ample opportunity to build rapport and care for families. There is always opportunity for growth in enhancing the culture of our building.

Powerful Student and Family Engagement

Our parent teacher conference nights are a great opportunity for us to engage with students and families. Families often face barriers such as transportation, so it is important to get creative with engagement.
