

I am accidentally a professor at UW for their College of Education this summer, one of the top rated teaching programs in the country. I have the honor of creating and teaching a philosophy of education/equity and identity class for their incoming cohort of master's in teaching candidates. Now I am a steward of k-babies and grad-babies -- Ha!

If your little sapling has been transferred into 116 soil for nine months (a not un-symbolic duration, yes?), I am glad of it, and I hope at some point you will feel the same.
