Tips for A Successful Year

Student and Family expectations: We look forward to partnering with you to ensure our students have every opportunity to reach their highest potential in academic achievement and their personal development. Together, we share the responsibility for their success. Your parental influence and involvement are of the utmost importance, and as such we ask for your continued involvement in your student's education through encouraging your student:

- to attend school daily and arrive on time, ready for the day's educational experiences
- to complete all homework and study assignments, and to participate in classroom discussions
- to get involved in extracurricular opportunities offered at OTHS
- to share school and life experiences with you
- to inform you, a teacher, or administrator if additional support is needed
- to inform an adult regarding any concerns regarding school safety
