Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)- Health and Human Services Commission

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) provides financial help for children and their parents or relatives who are living with them. Monthly cash payments help pay for food, clothing, housing, utilities, furniture, transportation, telephone, laundry, household equipment, medical supplies not paid for by Medicaid and other basic needs.

The amount of the TANF payment depends on family size and income. Families who are approved for TANF will receive payments for six months. HHSC will send a renewal application to the family before the end of the six months. Families who receive TANF benefits can also get Medicaid benefits. Families can choose if they want to receive one or both types of benefits.

One-time TANF provides $1,000 in cash for families in crisis. It can be given only once in a 12-month period to those who qualify. To get a one-time TANF payment, families must meet the same income and resource limits required for "TANF for Families." Those families who already get TANF payments cannot get a one-time TANF payment. The purpose of one-time TANF is to help with a short-term crisis such as: loss of a job, loss of financial support for a child, such as child support or help paying living expenses (rent, utilities and food), not being able to find a job after graduating from a university, college, junior college or technical training school, not being able to get a job because vehicle is not working, loss of a home, medical emergency.

The One-Time TANF Grandparent Payment is $1,000 cash assistance given to a grandparent who cares for a child receiving TANF. To receive this assistance, a grandparent must be 45 years old or older and meet income and resource limits. A grandparent can only receive this payment once, even though other grandchildren may move into his or her home at a later time. A grandparent cannot receive the payment if another grandparent already received the payment for the same grandchild.

Unless legally exempt, all TANF recipients must participate in an employment services program. Adults receiving TANF who are participating in the Texas Workforce Commission's Choices program will have their benefits time-limited.

You must provide a picture ID, social security card, proof of residence, income for the last 30 days, and current utility bills. TANF office does NOT accept appointments and operates on a first-come, first-served basis.

Jordan's Crossing Transitional Housing:
It is an 8 unit apartment complex for women transitioning out of treatment, incarceration or a dangerous relationship. Potential renters have to fill out an application and participate in a preliminary interview. The Board reviews applicants to determine who is the right candidate to live in the facility.
Women are allowed to bring their children but all applicants are reviewed on a case by case basis and adult children are not permitted. No men are allowed at all. Applicants cannot have a violent or sex offender criminal history.
The ideal renter will only need to reside there from between a year and year and a half. Safety is a top priority and the address of the complex is not publicized, nor is it revealed to the applicant until they are approved to move in.
Renters are required to attend counseling regularly and to become part of their Celebrate Recovery Group.
