SPRING

You should give yourself a pat on the back for almost making it through this school year! Whether you are about to complete your first, second, or third year of teaching, you have accomplished much and hopefully grown in wonderful ways. You have guided your students and are ready to finish out the year strong!

As the weather warms, students may begin to get “spring fever” and be a bit less focused. Be sure that you are resilient when their behaviors seem to get challenging. Remember to regulate yourself in order to continue to be the controlled, responsive teacher that you have been all year!

Sincerely,
The Regional Education
Facilitator Team

MONDAY

As most of you have entered into the last quarter of the school year, this is a reminder to ensure you are following your school/district's evaluation timeline. You should be in the final stages of the observation and evaluation process and may soon begin preparing to complete your PDP. Be sure you ask any questions and discuss any concerns with your mentor and/or administrator(s). Use the evaluation and PDP tools as opportunities to grow as an educator and to better serve your students!

Have you met...

...any of your school's community members? Schools are supported by a vast array of people, including members of the community. These community members serve as school volunteers, advocates for grants/financial support for the school, mentors/tutors for students outside of the school, or in other vital roles. It is important to make connections with these valuable resources who add an extra layer of support to the school. School and community events are perfect opportunities to introduce yourself to them!
