Integrated Pest Management or IPM, is a system of controlling pests by combining biological, cultural, mechanical, and physical control methods in a way that eliminates or minimizes the use of chemicals, while protecting environmental and economic health. Use of these products may take place after methods of IPM have been considered and implemented. Pesticide treatments that are not exempt by the Healthy School Act will only take place after proper notification and posting of warning signs. When the use of a pesticide on this list is required, every effort will be made to apply the product when students are not present. Many of the products on this list are derived from plants and inorganic materials such as orange oil, tree oils and borate salts. The majority of applications will be placed in cracks and crevices and other areas that are out of reach of students.
