

The Jacobson Family Scholarship

The Jacobson family of John, Lois, & Eric has many ties to the El Camino Football Program since 1983. Eric Jacobson played Offense & Defensive Lineman for four years in the El Camino Football Program, and was a Blanket Award Winner in 1988. Eric came back to coach in 1991 and has been a coach in some form or capacity to this present season in 2019. John Jacobson played Defensive line for the 1957 AAA Championship Balboa Bucs, and has always felt there are many life lessons to be learned though the game of football. John, a retired Machinist, has been the handy man for El Camino Athletics for many years, putting things together or back together for the Physical Education department as well as Athletics. Lois Jacobson has been a loyal supporter of the Football Program through her annual generous donations, her mending of game uniforms, as well as a spotter for her husband John Jacobson, "The Voice of the Colts" who is El Camino's Public Address Announcer at all the Colts Home Football contests. This scholarship is a football scholarship for linemen only---Offensive, Defensive or both. In football most games are won or lost at the line of scrimmage. This scholarship is created to recognize these seldom mentioned players.

Below are the eligibility qualifications for the Jacobson Family Scholarship:

1. Must be college or trade school bound
2. Must be eligible to play for the entire varsity senior season
3. Must display good citizenship
4. Must be a starter on the offensive line or defensive line or both
5. Submit a one page essay stating how playing football at El Camino has helped you as a person.
