Comments:

Since we have returned from Covid, we have discussed equity but never remediation. Grading For Equity practices are leading to students earning grades that are not reflective of their abilities. Earning 60% is not above average. We are creating situations where students don't understand deadlines or the value of achieving a goal. Reduced skill levels and poor work ethic are not going to be rewarded in a post-secondary education environment or the workplace. I encourage the Board to revisit the policies and re-focus their attention on outcomes, and how we can help our students improve their core skills through integrated learning, raising our standards and support levels, incorporating parents into our learning community better at the 6-12 level, and creating engaging learning environments. We need admin, faculty and staff to be aligned, recognize the skill deficiencies that exist and social skills are not where they should be, and develop a bottom-up plan on how to start helping students.
