

Speed Safety Cameras Coming to School Zones This Fall

This fall, the City of Redmond will launch its Speed Safety Camera Pilot Program. Speed safety cameras are measurement devices used to reduce speeding and potential collisions in areas it matters most, like school zones.

The City expects these cameras to significantly improve compliance with school zone speed limits, creating a safer environment for students and families arriving, leaving, or walking near schools.

Speed safety cameras will be installed at:

- Redmond High School (17272 NE 104th Street)
- Redmond Middle School (10055 166th Avenue NE)
- Rose Hill Middle School (13505 NE 75th Street)

Thank you for slowing down, staying alert, and helping keep Redmond's students, educators, and wider community safe.
