Counselor Corner - September

Counselors: Mrs. Jackson and Miss B

Welcome back to school!

Coming back into school sometimes requires families to adjust to a new schedule. Students could benefit from having a routine that will help them be ready for school. This could include: getting backpacks ready at night, choosing their clothes for the next school day, deciding if they will pack their lunch for the next day, having a bedtime routine and a set bedtime, and putting all devices out of reach for the night. Families can emphasize the school rules: be safe, be respectful, and be responsible. Explain that we don't run in the hallways, that we treat everyone with kindness, and we have our supplies and complete all our work. The school day can create tired children, so make sure they are getting plenty of rest. Here's to a GREAT year!

LESSONS

Mrs. Jackson and Miss B will begin lessons this month. We will be pushing into the technology class the week of 9/8-9/12. Our lessons will be based around the Character Education Resource guide, which is available on the school website for you to review. Our lessons could involve reading a book, playing a game, doing an activity, and learning some type of strategy to help students make better choices.
