PARENT TRAININGS

At Lincoln Elementary, we believe that families are a child's first and most important teachers. Our goal in offering parent trainings and family involvement opportunities is to build strong partnerships between school and home that support the academic, social, and emotional growth of our youngest learners.

Through these trainings and activities, we aim to:

- Equip parents with strategies to support early learning at home.
- Strengthen communication and collaboration between families and educators.
- Empower families to actively participate in their child's educational journey.
- Create a welcoming school environment where families feel valued, respected, and included.

The expected impact of the trainings are to learn helpful techniques to communicate openly with teachers and staff members, address concerns in an effective manner, collaborate on classroom challenges, and find sustainable ways to stay involved and in tune with your child's school success.

- Make resources and materials available in ways that are easy to understand including options for in-person and virtual meetings.
