At a glance

This policy explains our relational and restorative approach to behaviour and pastoral care across our organisation, considering our duties under the Equality Act 2010 and our responsibility to safeguard children and meet the needs of pupils with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND). This policy must be read alongside each academy's localised Academy Way plan for inclusive behaviour, which contains the details of each academy's specific approaches in line with The Oasis Way.

Oasis is a family with a shared vision for community, a place where everyone is included, making a contribution and reaching their God-given potential. The pastoral care of our children is central to the Oasis ethos.

The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care Policy is born out of the Oasis ethos and underpins the Curriculum Statement of Intent, centring inclusion as the bedrock for learning and curriculum engagement. It is grounded in the knowledge that relationships are transformational and reflects evidence-based approaches to building belonging and restorative, trauma-responsive practice. Our approach to behaviour and pastoral care is based on cutting-edge cognitive science and developmental psychology research into the impact of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), attachment and SEND on the way our children learn and develop, ensuring that the needs of all community members are met, and they are empowered to fulfil their potential.

Checklist

- We will actively build a sense of belonging for each child so that they feel secure in their place within the academy community.
- We will prioritise the development of strong relationships with safe, trusted adults, underpinned by compassion and a belief in each child's capacity to thrive.
- We will proactively teach children the social and emotional skills they require to self-regulate, build resilience and develop outstanding character.
- We will meet children where they are at, providing reasonable adaptations and supportive interventions to empower them to make progress academically, socially and emotionally.
- We will take a holistic, child-centred and strengths-based approach to supporting children with additional needs.
- We will empower children and their families to use their voices to contribute to the development of a flourishing academy culture.
- We will support children to map their own pathways to the future, so they are given real choices in their lives.

In brief

The Oasis Way for inclusive practice is a framework for transformational inclusion at the heart of the community. It details our approach to Behaviour and Pastoral Care, Special Educational Needs and Disabilities, and Personal Development.

The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care Policy takes an approach that centres intentional relationship building and a trauma-responsive ethos to ensure that all children in Oasis academies are supported to lead flourishing lives.

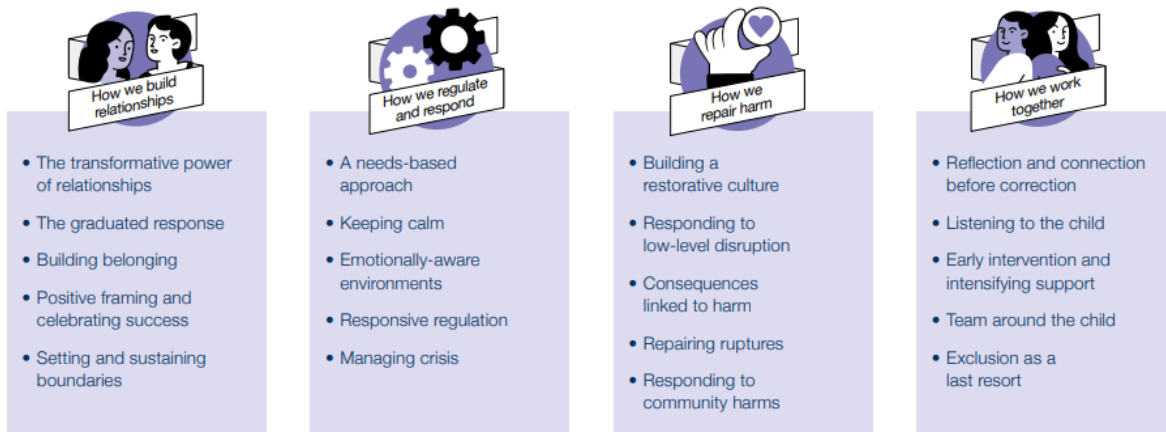

The Oasis Way is underpinned by our Principles of Practice, which provide us with a guide to how we enact The Oasis Way. Our Principles of Practice support us to recognise the power of every interaction in creating a culture where everyone is included and empowered to thrive:

- Relational Culture: Communities are founded on trust, respect and safety. In order to create a truly inclusive community, we need to centre relationships in every interaction that we have. We prioritise the quality of relationships within our community: with ourselves, between staff and pupils, between staff and colleagues, between members of the school and wider community. Our understanding of why relationships matter is founded on evidence-based approaches to child and personal development that centres trauma-responsive and attachment-aware practice to meet the needs of every community member. We intentionally design our systems and processes to honour the relationships that enable all children and adults to flourish.
- Reflective Practice: We cannot meaningfully honour relationships with others without first exploring the relationship with ourselves. Reflective practice creates the space to enable a deeper understanding of our own behaviours and the behaviours of others in our community. As educators, we prioritise the act of continuous learning and support each other to make sense of the interactions we have had. This enables us to grow personally and create solutions that we can learn from as a community.
- Oasis 9 Habits: The 9 Habits are the lens through which we understand who we are and who we are becoming. The 9 Habits guide our interactions and reflect the values we seek to uphold in our relationships. We use the 9 Habits to explicitly teach aspects of character and enrich our pupils' learning with social, emotional and spiritual education so that they are equipped to reach their potential and live flourishing lives.

The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care Policy is divided into four levers that provide an overview of our inclusive, relational and restorative approach:

- How we build relationships guides our academies to understand the scientific basis for the relational approach. This includes our approach to setting and sustaining expectations and boundaries around behaviours, celebrating success.
- How we regulate and respond guides our academies to view behavioural responses through the lens of regulation and emotional or unmet needs. It equips our practitioners to understand the drivers of individual and collective behaviour and to respond to behaviours we experience in our settings.
- How we repair harm is fundamental to our behaviour and pastoral care policy, grounding our practice in restorative approaches, acknowledging individual and collective harms, from playground disputes to bullying, to ensure we create a culture of proactive, positive peace where everybody has a place and an opportunity to thrive.
- How we work together details our opportunities to embed a graduated approach for behaviour and pastoral care, guiding our academies to intervene early and effectively, being data led and working alongside relevant professionals to ensure that exclusion is a last resort at Oasis.

Each lever is divided into five chapters to provide clear guidance to academies in how to deliver inclusive practice on the ground:

We believe that leaders should be empowered to innovate in the best interests of their children and communities. For this reason, each academy has been supported to develop its own localised behaviour protocols through an Academy Way localised plan for inclusive behaviour. Academies take the ownership to detail the operational delivery of each of these levers in their Academy Way localised plan, which can be found on each academy’s website. The trust policy serves as an overview of our approach. Each academy’s Academy Way localised plan must be read alongside the trust policy to understand the full detail of an academy’s approach to behaviour and pastoral care.

Staff roles and responsibilities

All members of academy communities must take equal responsibility for upholding a relational culture where standards of behaviour and pastoral care are high. Expectations of academy leaders and wider staff to deliver this policy are outlined below:

Lever	Academy leaders	Academy staff
 How we build relationships	Develop a strong vision in alignment with the Oasis ethos and in collaboration with academy staff. Ensure all staff are trained in the scientific underpinning of the relational approach. Develop a clear graduated response, ensuring communication of what great looks like for all in the academy, securing positive framing and strong boundaries across the academy.	Engage with training provided to become knowledgeable and confident to deliver the relational approach and uphold the Academy Way. Continually maintain high expectations alongside high support to model and teach the social and emotional skills required to be successful learners, with consideration of stage and age.

Lever 1: How we build relationships

Our first lever guides our academies to set a strong vision and inclusive offer for their community through the following chapters:

The transformative power of relationships

The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care Policy is rooted in a systemic, trauma-responsive and attachment-aware understanding of child development. Our research base draws on the science of neurodevelopment and the impact of early traumatic experiences on brain development. Our approach supports academy staff to harness an understanding of attunement, reciprocity and intersubjectivity to form strong relationships with pupils that will enable them to develop regulatory capacity and settle to learn in the classroom. For more information on our research base, academy staff can refer to our guide to the transformative power of relationships.

The graduated response

In order to ensure that we are able to respond efficiently and effectively to any need as it arises, Oasis academies map their academy offer using the graduated response. The graduated response connects teams and systems in the school together to ensure that there is a co-ordinated and transparent approach that targets the level and expertise of intervention required depending on the child's needs:

- At Wave 1, an inclusive universal offer ensures that all pupils are proactively supported to understand what great behaviour looks like and explicitly taught how to meet our high standards in their learning, play and communication.
- At Wave 2, a targeted support offer ensures that academies provide swift identification and action for pupils who are struggling to thrive within the universal offer, adding depth to the range of interventions targeted to meet their needs.
- At Wave 3, a specialist intervention offer ensures that expert support is available for those few children with the most complex needs who require intensive, individualised care.

Building belonging

At Oasis, we recognise the importance of building belonging to secure a felt sense of safety as the foundation for learning. Teachers have a unique role and capacity to build trusting relationships with children, helping them to feel connected within the academy community and supporting them to settle to learn.

In Oasis academies, we use the evidence-based psychological practice of PACE (Playfulness, Acceptance, Curiosity and Empathy) to support our staff to build belonging with children and provide the foundation for that felt sense of safety which is essential for the brain's circuitry to develop in the way that optimises physical and mental health. As PACEful schools, we centre relationship building in every interaction, ensuring all community members feel accepted and can flourish.

Positive framing and celebrating success

The recognition of effort, achievement and accomplishment of goals is integral to our relational approach. Celebration is a powerful way to build belonging and ensure that all members of our community have a unique place where they can contribute and flourish. The use of positive framing supports us to create a culture where both expectations and redirections are positively communicated. This supports children to experience themselves as someone who can achieve, is worthy of time and patience and is able to do differently next time.

At Oasis, our academies are encouraged to make use of relational over transactional rewards whenever possible and to seek the voices of all stakeholders when developing their system of rewards. Types of relational recognition are tracked in Bromcom to map individual pupil and academy areas of strength and celebration.

Setting and sustaining boundaries

Consistent and predictable boundaries and behaviours ensure that we build safety, trust and belonging for all members of our community. For this reason, all Oasis academies are intentional about setting and sustaining positively framed boundaries in the priority moments where consistency really matters – in the classroom, in communal spaces (including corridors, dining spaces and playgrounds), and in how we communicate.

By defining what great looks like with pupils and staff in each of these areas, we:

- build complete consistency and clarity of expectations;
- allow trust and belonging to grow;
- reduce cognitive load about what is expected of pupils in each classroom; and,
- empower teachers to spend time on what really matters: building relationships and securing progress for every pupil.

Each Oasis academy has collaborated with staff and pupils to jointly agree a rubric of positively stated expectations. Academies ensure that all stakeholders understand what is required of them to uphold our community expectations through clarity of messaging, consistency of delivery and regular intentional practice. Pupils who require additional or different communication methods are identified and supported through the graduated response to ensure that all pupils are supported to contribute towards an effective relational culture where all learners can thrive.

Lever 2: How we regulate and respond

Our second lever guides our academies to recognise and respond to pupil behaviours as a communication of need through the following chapters:

A needs-based approach

At Oasis we recognise the vital connection between understanding a child as an individual sum of their experiences, and their capacity to regulate in readiness for learning. A needs-based approach recognises that behaviour is the external symptom of a range of underlying factors – our thoughts, feelings and needs. All Oasis staff are trained to understand behaviours as a communication of needs and are equipped with a range of tools to support regulation.

Keeping calm

At Oasis academies we value the unique and life-changing role school staff have when supporting all children with the complex task of regulation and learning. We know that for school staff to be able to effectively co-regulate and attune with a child, they themselves must be calm. The Oasis Way has a range of tools available for academies to apply to support adult reflection and regulation including adult regulation plans and access to mental health support. Leaders in Oasis academies recognise their vital duty to creating a culture of listening, compassion and empathy, embodying the Oasis 9 Habits when supporting all staff.

Emotionally-aware environments

The intentional design of spaces within Oasis academies supports the integral processes of calming, regulation and reflection for children when they are feeling heightened or triggered. Our environments create opportunities to support the child to regulate, relate, reason and reflect. At Oasis academies we understand the power of our environments and intentional design to support these processes of regulation to occur at pace, increasing a child's propensity to return to learning as swiftly as possible. Individual plans support action planning for children who require additional thinking through and an increasingly tailored approach.

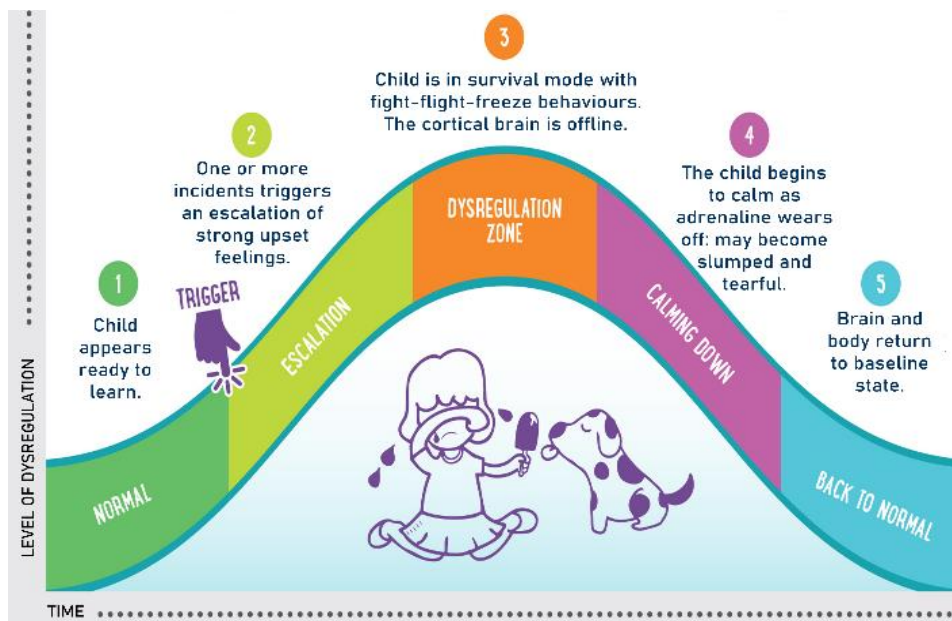

Responsive regulation

Staff at Oasis academies are equipped with a range of tools and methods for supporting individual and group regulation. This includes, but is not limited to, processes like emotion coaching, bottom up and top-down regulation strategies and Dan Siegel’s strategies to support emotional regulation. All staff have a baseline of understanding in these approaches in order to create a culture where a needs-based approach is celebrated, and some staff are trained further in order to support children with more complex presentations.

Some pupils may require personalised plans where individual strategies are adopted and tailored to ensure there is an individualised approach to respond to and progress a child’s skillset of regulation. These plans should be created alongside children and families.

Managing crisis

At Oasis, staff are trained using the conflict curve to understand what is happening for a child when they go through moments of crisis:

By understanding the involuntary stages of escalation, dysregulation, calming down and re-regulation, staff are able to effectively plan proactive strategies to support children at each stage of crisis, recognising their behaviours as part of a human response to perceived threat, rather than an intentional response to cause harm.

We make use of Dr Bruce Perry’s arousal continuum to further understand what may be happening for a child when they go through the process of crisis, and therefore can plan individualised responses to support calming as they go through the stages of alarm, fear and terror. Staff can refer to our guide for more details.

Oasis staff make use of a range of pastoral planning tools in order to discuss, coordinate and communicate tailored plans for individual children including The Oasis Way Co-Regulation Plan, The Oasis Way Relational Support Plan and The Oasis Way child-centred planning tools.

Lever 3: How we repair harm

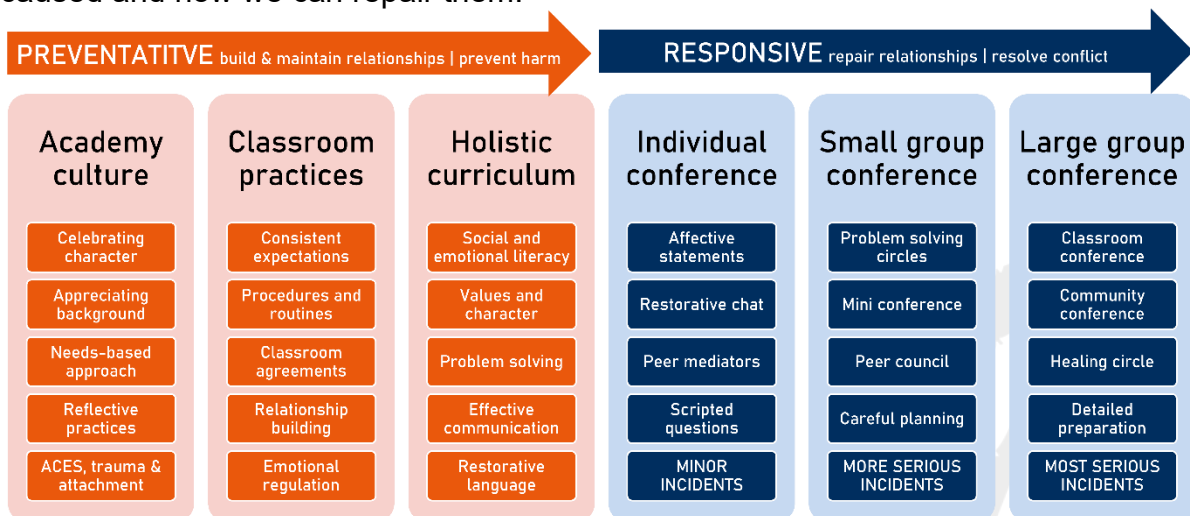

Our third lever guides our academies to embed restorative approaches throughout their systems and culture through the following chapters:

Building a restorative culture

Restorative practices are proactive practices that support us to build culture and community in our academies. They include our proactive cultural and organisational practices – what we do, all the time and on purpose, to build connections, develop community and strengthen relationships – as well as restorative justice processes to respond when harms occur, focusing on repairing harm and relationships when something has gone wrong.

In Oasis academies, our preventative practices support us to build and maintain relationships. We build relationships by creating a strong academy culture and classroom practices, rooted in relational and restorative principles. We maintain relationships by explicitly teaching children the skills they need to understand emotions and social interactions, respond to each other with kindness and solve problems when they occur. Our responsive practices support us to repair relationships by supporting pupils and staff to come together to reflect on harms caused and how we can repair them:

Responding to low-level disruption

In Oasis academies, managing low level disruption begins from a foundation of clear and consistent expectations and routines, and strong relationships between the teacher and pupils. From this foundation, we address low level disruption in the classroom through a relational lens.

Each Oasis academy will work with stakeholders to agree their approach to responding to low level disruption. However, we expect all Oasis academies to align behind evidence-based approaches that guide us to secure belonging and reduce the risk of lesson removal for our pupils through least to most intrusive strategies:

Level of response	Strategy
Positive framing	Positive prompt
	Regulatory support
Reminder	Affect and redirect statement
Warning	30-second script
Action	Restorative chat and logical consequence

Consequences linked to harm

In line with the restorative approach, Oasis academies prioritise problem-solving when harms have occurred, seeking restoration and reconciliation between the wrongdoer and the person harmed where appropriate. When issuing consequences, we seek to ensure that these are linked to the harms caused wherever possible. This ensures that pupils learn to see the consequences of their actions and take responsibility for repairing these. By holding pupils to account for their actions, we support them to develop an internal locus of control to guide their future behaviours.

Repairing ruptures

At Oasis, we recognise that humans are hardwired to connect. Restorative conferences hold us to account and support us to develop the skills required to repair ruptures in relationships when they occur, bringing us back into healthy and productive connection. Instead of ignoring or covering up the bad feelings triggered by ruptures, restorative practices require us to lean into these feelings and use them as an impetus to take action to restore connection. When we teach our pupils to use their guilt as a motivator to repair harm, we teach them to restore healthy relationships, be accountable for their actions and be more intrinsically motivated towards positive behaviour choices.

Responding to community harms

This section of the policy should be read alongside the Oasis Anti-Bullying Policy.

In Oasis academies, we aspire to create a welcoming and inclusive community where everyone matters and there are no outsiders. For this reason, we take a serious view of any Community Harms, including incidents of bullying, discrimination or harmful sexual behaviours:

- Bullying is the repetitive, intentional hurting of one person or group by another person or group, where the relationship involves an imbalance of power.
- Discrimination occurs when a pupil is treated unkindly on the basis of their gender, race or ethnicity, sexuality, gender identity, disability, religion or belief.
- Harmful sexual behaviours include any sexualised, sex-based or gender-based behaviours which cause pressure or intimidation in the targeted pupil that can lead to emotional or physical harm.
- All Community Harms can include physical, verbal or psychological behaviours and can happen face-to-face or online.

In order to create a thriving relational culture, we must take a restorative approach to addressing community harms, including both proactive and responsive measures, so that ruptures are repaired and emotional safety is restored. We create a relational school climate that proactively prevents Community Harms from occurring by developing strong systems and culture to define, understand and report Community Harms, including through the use of pupil leaders, maintaining high levels of consistency in relational classroom practices and explicitly teaching the complexities of Community Harms and whole-school strategies to respond.

When Community Harms have occurred, we respond using a graduated approach that seriously investigates all reported incidents and focuses attention on the needs of the person harmed alongside appropriate consequences for the wrongdoer depending on the severity of the behaviour. See Appendix C for more information on bullying classification at Oasis.

Lever 4: How we work together

Our fourth lever guides our academies to deliver a robust graduated response pathway that meets the needs of all learners through the following chapters:

Reflection and connection before correction

Reflective practice and solutions-focused approaches play a crucial role in inclusive education. These practices involve becoming aware of our experiences and actively engaging in reflection about what has happened in order to gain new insights into ourselves and our practice. In doing so, reflective practice and solutions-focused approaches support us to identify areas of strength and improvement, refine our approaches and make informed decisions about pedagogy and inclusive practice so that we can have a more positive impact on pupil learning and wellbeing. Academies are encouraged to integrate a range of reflective practice and solutions-focused processes into their systems and processes.

Listening to the child

Oasis academies recognise the central role of the voice of the child in understanding the lived experience of pupils in the academy, and in responding to needs and incidents when they have occurred. Academies are encouraged to use a range of methods to gather proactive and responsive pupil voice and to adapt these processes to meet the needs of individuals who need support to express their thoughts and feelings and to describe what has happened.

Early intervention and intensifying support

At Oasis, we secure inclusion for our pupils through a graduated response to Behaviour and Pastoral Care:

- We use behaviour data, contextual information and a range of assessment tools to proactively identify our most vulnerable pupils who need additional support to meet expectations and regulate within the universal offer.
- We respond to these pupils by implementing increasing levels of support and intervention at every stage of the graduated response to improve social and emotional skills and reduce their risk of exclusion.
- We carefully track and monitor the progress of all pupils who are being supported through the pastoral graduated response pathway to ensure our response is impactful.

Each academy has created their own localised pastoral graduated response pathway, capturing their localised processes. A model pastoral graduated response pathway can be found in Appendix B.

Team Around the Child

The Team Around the Child (TAC) approach has integration of services at its heart. It is a child-centred approach to planning and coordinating support that ensures all stakeholders – including the academy, the family and external professionals – are working together with the child at the centre of all considerations.

All Oasis academies are trained to understand the importance of co-production with parents, ensuring that planning for individual pupils takes a child-centred approach that centres the voice of the child and their family in all decisions, sees each child as an individual and focuses on outcomes rather than systems to achieve the best results for each child.

All Oasis academies also prioritise support for the wider family, with strategies such as the Oasis Encounter programme as a means to support parents and help them to work in a reflective relational and restorative way at home.

Exclusion as a last resort

This section of the policy should be read alongside the Oasis Exclusions Policy.

The Oasis Way provides academies with a framework for reducing suspensions and permanent exclusions through an inclusive, relational and restorative approach to education, as outlined in the chapters above. Academies who are struggling to find positive solutions for a child are provided with additional support through our Regional Inclusion Panels. Academies are also provided with a range of guidance, including individual consultation with our National Leads for Student Inclusion, to ensure that a range of appropriate strategies have been tried before suspension or permanent exclusion is considered.

However, there are incidents that occur in schools where suspensions and permanent exclusions need to be considered, in response to 'serious breaches' or repeated breaches of an academy's Academy Way localised plan, or to safeguard the welfare and education of other pupils. In these instances, Oasis academies conform to the DfE guidance on School suspensions and permanent exclusions.

Following a suspension, Oasis academies are supported to use relational reintegration practices to ensure that the pupil has the best possible chance of successful return to school. Academies are also supported to ensure that any use of part-time timetables is undertaken in line with DfE guidance.

As an alternative to suspensions and permanent exclusions, academies are encouraged where possible to first explore other in-school measures, following procedures laid out in their pastoral graduated response pathway. Academies may also explore measures including step-out placements and managed moves to another school and use of alternative provision.

Where an incident has occurred that requires a Principal to consider permanent exclusion, Principals must consider whether the investigation has been conducted fully and fairly, with the inclusion of the voice of the child, whether there is clear evidence of the pastoral graduated response, whether the child has Special Educational Needs and whether these have been met as fully as possible, and whether all alternatives to permanent exclusion have been explored.

Statutory duties

Discipline in our academies – teacher's powers

Teachers have statutory authority to discipline pupils whose behaviour is unacceptable, who break the academy rules or who fail to follow a reasonable instruction (Section 90 and 91 of the Education and Inspections Act 2006). This power also applies to all paid staff (unless the head teacher says otherwise) with responsibility for pupils, such as teaching assistants.

Teachers can discipline pupils at any time the pupil is in the academy or elsewhere under the charge of a teacher, including on academy visits. Teachers can also discipline pupils in certain circumstances when a pupil's misbehaviour occurs outside of the academy, including when travelling to or from school, when wearing school uniform, or when the pupil is in some other way identifiable as a pupil at the school.

Teachers have a power to impose detention outside academy hours. It is good practice to take all practicable steps to inform parents that this is taking place. Teachers can also search and confiscate pupils' property (more detail below).

Consequences for poor behaviour: What the law allows

Under the law, teachers can discipline pupils whose conduct falls below the standard which could reasonably be expected of them. This means that if a pupil misbehaves, breaks an academy rule or fails to follow a reasonable instruction the teacher can impose a consequence. To be lawful, the consequence (including detentions) must satisfy the following three conditions:

- The decision to give a pupil a consequence must be made by a paid member of academy staff or a member of staff authorised by the Principal.
- The decision to reprimand the pupil and the consequence itself must be made on the academy premises or while the pupil is under the charge of the member of staff; or is a breach of the Academy Way localised plan.
- It must not breach any other legislation (for example in respect of disability, special educational needs, race and other equalities and human rights) and it must be reasonable in all the circumstances.

A consequence must be proportionate. In determining whether a consequence is reasonable, Section 91 of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 states the penalty must be reasonable in all the circumstances and that account must be taken of the pupil's age, any special educational needs or disability they may have, and any religious requirements affecting them. Corporal punishment is illegal in all circumstances. The Principal may limit the power to apply particular consequences to certain staff and/or extend the power to discipline to adult volunteers, for example to parents who have volunteered to help on an academy trip.

Academies should consider whether the behaviour under review gives cause to suspect that a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer, significant harm. Where this may be the case, academy staff should follow the Oasis Safeguarding Policy. They should also consider whether continuing disruptive behaviour might be the result of unmet educational or other needs. At this point, the academy should consider whether a multi-agency assessment or care plan is necessary.

Physical intervention

This section of the policy should be read alongside DfE guidance: Use of reasonable force in schools

All Oasis academies follow the DfE guidance on 'Use of Reasonable Force', which makes clear that members of staff have the power to use reasonable force and may use reasonable force to prevent pupils from committing an offence, injuring themselves or others, to prevent damage to property and to maintain discipline.

All Oasis settings are trained in a recognised restraint reduction and physical intervention methodology, to ensure a consistent response when considering reasonable force and physical intervention. Incidents of physical intervention must:

- Always be used as a last resort.
- Unless in an emergency situation, physical intervention techniques should only be applied by those trained to use them.
- Be applied using the minimum amount of force and for the minimum amount of time possible.
- Be used in a way that maintains the safety and dignity of all concerned.
- Never be used as a form of punishment.
- Be recorded and reported to parents.

Recording physical intervention: The following should be included in a record of intervention on Bromcom:

- The date, time and place of the incident.
- The name of the pupil involved including their date of birth and their year group.
- What triggered the behaviour.
- What diffusing techniques were used prior to physical intervention.
- Why the physical intervention was deemed necessary.
- Place where the incident happened.
- Time and date parents were informed.
- Injuries sustained – if any.
- Witness statements from the pupil and relevant witnesses.

The Regional Director should undertake a check on academy physical restraint records regularly.

Co-regulation plans: The complexity and range of need and consequent support for some children and young people with specific needs may be such that physical intervention is the norm and not the exception. Such planned physical intervention should be recorded and monitored through the young person's individual co-regulation plan and risk assessment.

Training: If there is a need in the academy for physical intervention, staff should have regularly updated training in physical restraint. Principals should consider whether members of staff require any additional training to enable them to carry out their responsibilities and should consider the needs of the students when doing so. Physical intervention training should be undertaken by a recognised provider.

Duty of care for staff: Oasis recognises the challenges that can be posed to staff in incidences where physical intervention is required. Following incidents where physical intervention is used, staff will be supported to take time to reflect on events that have occurred and seek support. Where appropriate discipline or restraint methods have been used, the academy and the Trust will stand by staff members against any unfair or malicious allegations.

Absconding – leaving the academy site without permission

Oasis academies have a duty of care to take all reasonable steps to ensure that children are kept safe whilst in the academy's care. Academies should ensure that to reduce the potential for absconding the following is in place:

- The site is secure.
- Supervision levels are appropriate.
- Academy rules are clear to all pupils.
- Individual risk assessments are in place where absconding is a possibility.
- Where possible, visits to venues for academy trips are completed in advance to undertake a risk assessment, recorded on the EVOLVE+ system.

Academies will have their own localised procedures in the event of a pupil absconding. These will include:

- Informing the Leadership Team immediately.
- Not putting other pupils at risk.
- Locating the pupil.
- Strategies for diffusing, de-escalation and returning the pupil to the academy.
- Informing the parents or guardians.
- Informing the police – if the pupil cannot be found.
- Follow up meeting with the pupil and family, including a risk assessment.

It may be appropriate to follow a pupil who has absconded at a safe distance once the pupil leaves the academy grounds. This decision should be made for each pupil by academy leaders, using professional judgement and local “on the spot” risk assessments to keep all parties safe. If the decision is made to follow a pupil, mobile phones must be carried to keep the staff member safe and enable communication. Any sort of physical intervention off academy grounds should be avoided, unless in exceptional circumstances where intervention is required to avoid harm.

Malicious allegations

The needs of pupils falsely or maliciously accused of peer-on-peer incidents should be considered in each academy and support mechanisms put in place to ensure that they are able to settle back into school without any residual impact.

At Oasis, we take our safeguarding of staff very seriously. For this reason, we take a zero-tolerance approach to malicious accusations against staff. Where a pupil makes an accusation against a member of staff that is shown to have been malicious, the Principal will discipline the pupil in accordance with this policy, considering all appropriate responses to slander and defamation of character. The pastoral needs of staff accused of misconduct must always be considered by leaders.

Please refer to the Oasis Safeguarding Policy and Oasis Whistleblowing Policy for more information on responding to allegations of abuse.

Safe use of technology and social media

Horizons: The Horizons project has provided every student with an iPad. This project supports the vision of equal opportunities for all by ensuring equality of access to technology and the resources and knowledge that it facilitates. The device remains the property of Oasis Community Learning at all times. All users must adhere to the rules around appropriate usage of iPads outlined by their academy. Failure to do so may result in the device being confiscated or, in some cases, further consequences being imposed. In line with government guidance relating to the Prevent Duty, children must be kept safe from terrorist and extremist material. For this reason, suitable filtering is in place on all academy devices. Devices may be subject to additional scrutiny if a specific concern is highlighted.

Mobile phones: Mobile phones are important for many pupils’ safety when travelling to and from school. However, while at school, mobile phones can become a distraction from learning and can compromise pupils’ opportunities to build meaningful connections with others. For this reason, all Oasis academies place restrictions on pupils’ phone usage in the academy. Please refer to each academy’s localised plan for more details.

Social media: All members of our academy community are expected to engage appropriately with social media, honouring our Oasis 9 Habits and treating people with kindness and respect at all times. Where pupils engage in social media in ways that are harmful to individual pupils or staff, to our wider school community, or to third parties outside our school community, this will be dealt with seriously using the academy's consequence system. This applies whether a pupil is using social media for school purposes or for personal use.

Pupil social media use of the following types is unacceptable:

- damage to the school or its reputation, even indirectly;
- use that may defame school staff or any third party;
- use that may harass, bully or unlawfully discriminate against staff, other pupils or third parties;
- false or misleading statements;
- use that impersonates staff, other pupils or third parties;
- the creation of anonymous social media accounts to defame our communities;
- expressing opinions on the school's behalf; or
- using school logos or trademarks.

If a pupil or parent is concerned about inappropriate use of social media, this should be reported immediately to the pupil's teacher, pastoral leader or Safeguarding Lead.

In line with government guidance relating to the Prevent Duty, children must be kept safe from terrorist and extremist material. For this reason, suitable filtering is in place on all academy devices.

Drugs

Oasis academies operate a zero-tolerance policy on drugs for the health and safety of all staff, pupils and visitors. The policy on drugs applies to all academy and academy-related activities whether on or off site. This includes the journey to and from the academy. The word 'drugs' used in this policy extends to alcohol, tobacco products, vapes, volatile substances and legal highs alongside illegal drugs.

Oasis academies take into account guidance issued by the DfE. Each academy will monitor and deal with any drugs issues promptly and be proactive in trying to prevent any future incidents. Pupils receive drugs education as part of our PSHE programme and academies also involve outside agencies such as drugs education charities. Any incidents will be reported to the governors for their consideration.

Any pupil found to be involved in a drugs-related incident should expect to receive a serious consequence, which may include suspension or permanent exclusion, depending on the severity of the incident and any Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE) considerations. Dealing in illegal drugs will, except in exceptional circumstances, lead to permanent exclusion. In all illegal drug incidents, it will also be necessary to seek advice from or refer to the police.

Confiscation of drugs: Any drugs found will be confiscated by staff who will dispose of them in accordance with DfE guidance. Similarly, any drugs-related paraphernalia such as needles will be disposed of in a prudent manner. Oasis academies may carry out searches for drugs in accordance with this policy.

Parental involvement: Usually, the academy will inform parents/carers when their child has been found to be involved in drugs. However, where there are potential child protection issues the academy must act in the best interests of the child which may mean a decision not to inform parents. Such a decision will be taken very seriously and usually with the benefit of legal advice.

Searching, Screening and Confiscation

This section of the policy should be read alongside the DfE guidance on 'Screening Searching and Confiscation.'

Searches Without Consent: The following items are banned in all Oasis academies and pupils may be searched for them without their consent and without the consent of their parents:

- Knives or items that could be used as a weapon.
- Alcohol.
- Illegal drugs.
- Stolen items.
- Tobacco, cigarette papers and vapes.
- Fireworks.
- Pornographic images.
- Any article, including mobile phones and other technology, that the member of staff reasonably suspects has been, or is likely to be, used:
 - to commit an offence;
 - to cause personal injury to, or damage to the property of, any person (including the pupil);
 - or, in a way that is detrimental to academy discipline.

Individual academies may include other items that may be searched for without consent. Please refer to each academy's localised Academy Way for more details. Before a member of staff carries out a search without consent, they must reasonably suspect that the pupil has the prohibited item in their possession. Only staff members authorised by the Principal may carry out searches without consent.

School staff can seize any prohibited item found as a result of a search. They can also seize any item, however found, which they consider harmful or detrimental to school discipline in line with DfE guidance. Where an item prohibited by this policy is seized as the result of a search and it is an electronic device such as a mobile phone, the member of staff who seized the item may inspect the data on it, if he/she thinks that there is a good reason to do so. For example, if he/she reasonably suspects that the data or file on the device in question has been or could be used to cause harm, to disrupt teaching or to break the school rules. The school also reserves the right to inspect data on any electronic device which is confiscated by a member of staff. The school is entitled to retain the device if it contains material which has been or could be used to cause harm to disrupt teaching or break the school rules.

Members of staff can use such force as is reasonable given the circumstances when conducting a search for knives or weapons, alcohol, illegal drugs, stolen items, tobacco and cigarette papers, fireworks, pornographic images or articles that have been or could be used to commit an offence or cause harm. Such force cannot be used to search for other items banned under the school rules.

Searches with consent: The school may search pupils with their consent for any item. A pupil's possessions can only be searched in the presence of the pupil and another member of staff, except where there is a risk that serious harm will be caused to a person if the search is not conducted immediately and where it is not reasonably practicable to summon another member of staff.

The person conducting the search must not require the pupil to remove any clothing other than outer clothing. 'Outer clothing' means clothing that is not worn next to the skin or immediately over a garment that is being worn as underwear but 'outer clothing' includes hats, shoes, blazers, boots, gloves and scarves. 'Possessions' means any goods over which the pupil has or appears to have control – this includes bags, lockers and desks. Where Oasis academies have lockers, it is a condition of having a locker that the pupil gives their consent to it being searched.

Any formal complaints about searches should be made in accordance with the academy's usual complaints policy.

Confiscation of articles: School staff have the power to confiscate property from pupils under their general right to discipline in s91 of the Education and Inspections Act 2006. Any prohibited items will not be returned to pupils. Where an item is confiscated due to it being harmful or detrimental to academy discipline, this item may be returned after discussion with senior leaders and parents, if appropriate.

Responsibilities

The Regional Director: The Regional Director is responsible for monitoring the effectiveness of each Academy's Academy Way localised plan for inclusive behaviour, and for holding the principal to account for its implementation.

The MET: The Monitoring and Evaluation Team evaluate the impact of the Academy Way localised plan. The MET give feedback and identify next steps for the Principal and Regional Director.

The Safeguarding Team: The Safeguarding Team will look at the application of the Behaviour and Pastoral Care policy through the lens of safeguarding and will advise and support the Principal and DSL on steps to further protect their pupils.

The Principal: The Principal is responsible for reviewing and approving the Academy Way localised plan. The Principal will ensure the academy environment encourages positive behaviour and that staff deal effectively with poor behaviour. The Principal will carefully monitor how staff implement this policy to ensure that relational and restorative practices are upheld by all members of the community.

Staff: Managing student behaviour is everyone's responsibility. Staff are expected to

- Be role models of positive behaviour.
- Use positive framing to uphold the routines and expectations laid out in the Academy Way.
- Implement the behaviour policy consistently, including when responding to challenging behaviours.
- Provide a personalised approach to the specific needs of individual pupils.
- Record positive and negative behaviours in a timely manner in line with academy policy.
- The senior leadership team will support staff in ensuring that they take ownership in responding to behaviour incidents.

Parents: Partnership and co-production between family and academy is vital for the establishment of an effective and inclusive relational culture. Parents should be informed regularly about their child's successes and challenges in meeting the expectations laid out in the Academy Way.

Parents are expected to:

- Keep in regular and productive contact with the academy about their child's needs, feelings and behaviours, working in partnership to find positive solutions to support their child to thrive.
- Support their child in adhering to the routines and expectations laid out in the Academy Way.
- Inform the academy of any changes in personal circumstances that may affect their child's needs, feelings and behaviours.

- Engage productively with staff in discussions about their child's behaviours and how to support them to be successful in the academy.

Pupils: Pupils, including those with additional needs, should be fully aware of the routines and expectations laid out in the Academy Way, as well as the academy's systems for rewards and consequences. Pupils are encouraged to take ownership of their own behaviours to enable them to contribute positively to the relational culture of the academy.

Pupils are expected to:

- Understand and follow routines and expectations laid out in the Academy Way.
- Treat all members of the academy community with kindness and respect.
- Discuss any concerns, worries or stresses with their class teacher, key adult or Designated Safeguarding Lead as soon as possible.

Training requirements

The Oasis Way Leadership Development Programme provides senior leaders in our academies with training in the ethos, research background and detail of all four levers of The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care policy. All new Oasis Behaviour leads participate in The Oasis Way Leadership Programme as part of their induction. Ongoing training is provided by Oasis throughout the year to enhance the knowledge and skills of leaders who have completed the Leadership Development Programme.

All staff in academies receive ongoing training in all levers and chapters of The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care policy through a range of localised CPD sessions led by their leadership team, as well as in National Staff Meetings led by the National Student Inclusion Leads.

Academy leaders take responsibility to identify ongoing areas of continuous professional development for their staff teams, effectively identifying specific elements of The Oasis Way to focus on for aspects of professional development at a whole school or individual level.

Monitoring

This behaviour policy will be reviewed regularly by the National Education Team. At each review, the policy will be approved by the CEO and National Directors group.

Links to other policies

The Oasis Way Behaviour and Pastoral Care Policy should also be read alongside the following Oasis policies:

- Keeping Children Safe in Education
- Working Together to safeguard children
- The Prevent duty: safeguarding learners vulnerable to radicalisation
- Supporting pupils with medical conditions at school

In addition, this policy and all localised plans must be based on:

- Schedule 1 of the Education \(Independent School Standards\) Regulations 2014:
 - Paragraph 7 outlines a school's duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children.
 - Paragraph 9 requires the school to have a written behaviour policy.
 - Paragraph 10 requires the school to have an anti-bullying strategy.
- DfE guidance explaining that Academies should publish their behaviour policy and anti-bullying strategy online – to ensure that staff, students, and parents are informed.
