

MEET YOUR SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGIST

BEN RADAKOVICH, ED.S., NCSP (DEPT. CHAIR)

Ben has worked as a school psychologist for 17 years and has been working to support people with disabilities for the past 23. He has been a group home manager, provided behavior intervention services to young kids with autism, provided mental health services to teens, and has worked as a special education administrator.

Ben holds a bachelor's in psychology from the University of Nevada - Las Vegas (UNLV). He holds a master's in counseling and human services and an education specialist degree in school psychology from the University of Idaho.

He has worked in schools in Idaho, Alaska, and Wyoming; but has been back in his home state of Montana for 10 years.

Ben has three kids who have attended the Billings public school system, so he fully understands the challenges kids can face in schools. Creating partnerships between families and the school, in order to set kids up for success, is the most rewarding part of his work.

In his spare time he can be found outdoors with his family. He enjoys running long distances, climbing mountains, and exploring destinations far off the beaten path.
