- Tomorrow is World Suicide Prevention Day. The color yellow is a symbol representing hope, light and a reminder that help is available. We ask you to join us in wearing yellow tomorrow, September 10, to honor this day.
- Our College & Career Fair is coming up on September 17th from 5pm - 8pm, and we need student volunteers! Volunteers will earn community service hours and a gift card as a thank you! Interested? Also, to celebrate our College and Career Fair we will have a College and Career Dress Up day next Wednesday, September 17 so find your college gear or any clothing items that show the career path you have chosen to pursue and gain 5 Star Student points for participating. That is next Wednesday, September 17.

- "I love pineapple on pizza and if you don't, you're wrong!" - Mr. Hern. Come discuss engagement strategies and improve your public skills at the first Speech and Debate Club meeting today at lunch in Room 31.

- Now it's time for our Daily Shout Outs. Mrs. Fine-Garrett would like to shout out Period 3 Tech Crew: Luis (Jengibre) Alvarado and Alexxandrya Garcia because these students' leadership skills were on full display last week. They not only understood the assignment, but they went above and beyond! First, they created a video tutorial to teach their classmates how to add and enable the International Keyboard and how to use it to type accent marks when typing in Spanish. Then, they checked in, one by one, with their classmates to ensure they added their keyboard. They created a list of students, checked them off and even took note of absent students so they could check in with them another day. She says, "Watching their leadership in this role, brought me so much teacher joy!! Go Condors!!"

- And today's lunch special is carnitas tacos. Yummy!

- Have a great day Condors!!
