

Under Georgia Senate Bill 63 (SB 63), homeschool students in grades 6–12 who live in the Dade County School District can take certain standardized tests through the school system if those same tests are offered to public school students. These include the PSAT/NMSQT, SAT, PreACT, ACT, ASVAB, and AP exams.

Home study students will not be required to pay a fee or meet any qualifications to register for or take any such test or exam that is not required of students enrolled in Dade County Schools. Please note that the Dade County School System does not administer the SAT or ACT free of charge to our students. SAT and ACT Registration is available through the College Board website.

If a parent wishes to participate in any of the assessments below, they should contact the appropriate school principal to register their child for the assessment by the date listed. The principal will then communicate specific information to the parent regarding registration and other information.
