September 2025 Update

Preliminary Rendering of Oakwood Elementary School Existing Gym to Library Renovation

WHAT'S NEW?

Following the completion of the Carl Traeger Elementary design, Bray Architects and the OASD Core Planning Team held two project update meetings. The first, held on August 19, brought together neighbors and community members to share the finalized design and gather feedback. A second session on August 28 provided Carl Traeger staff with a project update and a look ahead at the timeline.

With the design phase complete, final plan approvals are now in motion at both the state and municipal levels. These approvals are expected to be finalized ahead of project bidding in October.

PLANNING & DESIGN UPDATE

The Franklin and Oakwood Elementary School projects continue to advance steadily. Both are approaching the end of exterior design decisions and preparing for the first interior design discussions in September. Alongside design work, there has been an emphasis on safety—ensuring the final product supports both learning needs and specialized student services.

Another important focus has been construction phasing. Early discussions at both sites are exploring how contractors will sequence the work while school remains in session for the 18-month construction period. These conversations are expected to continue over the next several months as details are refined.
