1. Narrative description of the Prop 28 arts education program(s) funded. (2500 character limit).

Leveraging the groundwork of school year 2023-2024 and collaborative effort of local philanthropic groups, parent organizations, professional arts organizations, university representatives, working artists and school personnel, PVSD was able to implement a robust Arts Master Plan that worked to fulfill our mission of Orchestrating Opportunities for Creativity. Our 2024-2025 program can be described through the five Visual and Performing Arts disciplines. We hired a multi-site dance teacher that taught during the school day courses along with after school interest groups. This was an exceptional increase as previous dance instruction had only occurred as part of the physical education classes. Access to music instruction increased from a 6-weeks per year model before Prop 28 to a weekly model at many school sites. Students both made music and experienced professional music events. Even our youngest learners in preschool had the chance to participate in music instruction. Theater arts were added as a class at the middle school level and materials funds supported theater arts across elementary sites. The visual arts were expanded both through certificated teachers and contracted services with culminating art shows at most school sites. Media Arts, such as photography, was offered as part of an elective course as well as embedded in digital arts across many school makerspaces. Growth in the arts was a cornerstone of our 24-25 programming. Teachers participated in professional development and students experienced adjudication at festivals and shows. We continue to build a model where all participants strive for excellence in the arts.
