Celebration of 40 Years of Philanthropy at Collingwood

Message from the Executive Director of Advancement & Enrolment

Dear Collingwood Community,

This year marked a meaningful chapter in Collingwood's story, and your generosity helped to shape it.

As we celebrated our School's 40th anniversary, we were reminded how much of Collingwood's growth has been driven not just by vision, but by our community. It was a year of momentum, reflection, and shared purpose. Your support made a real difference.

At our Morven Campus, students and teachers spent their first full year inside the newly transformed learning spaces made possible through Project Excellence. These environments are already elevating the day-to-day experience of teaching and learning, fostering greater creativity, collaboration, and connection.

At the same time, the Tartan Fund, energized this year through our Tartan Top 40, reflected a deepening culture of giving at Collingwood. With over $1.5 million raised, your support had an immediate and tangible impact across academics, arts, athletics, service learning and student wellness.

Throughout the year, families found meaningful ways to be part of Collingwood life by volunteering at events, assisting in classrooms, supporting on-campus activities, and offering their time and talents where they were needed most. These contributions strengthened our sense of connection and community, making a visible difference in the student experience.

This report reflects that shared commitment. It's not just a record of what was raised — it's a reflection of the values we hold, the impact we're making together and the future we're helping to build.

Thank you for your trust in Collingwood. We're proud to be on this journey with you.

With appreciation,

Rebecca Kerbel
Executive Director, Advancement & Enrolment

The Tartan Fund

This year the Tartan Fund Top 40 was a big hit

During Collingwood's 40th anniversary year, our community came together to raise more than $1.5M for the Tartan Fund. The Tartan Fund is our School's annual giving fund, which provides flexible and impactful support every year to enhance the student learning experience.

As part of our 40th anniversary, the "Tartan Fund Top 40" was introduced to spotlight 40 impactful experiences made possible by your support and serve as a tribute to the generosity that fuels innovation, growth and student opportunities. With participation from 59% of families, this generosity touched all Four Strands and every corner of our School.

From music and math to athletics and the dramatic arts, your gifts had a direct impact on students across both campuses. Here's a glimpse into some of the experiences your donation made possible.

A NEW PLAYGROUND AT WENTWORTH

Thanks to the Tartan Fund, Collingwood's youngest learners now have a new space to explore, imagine and connect. The new kindergarten play structure encourages active play and sparks friendships that grow with every recess.

"The playground helps me learn how to play new games. It gives me new ideas!"
— Evelyn, Kindergarten

MATH MASTERY

Students have access to ALEKS Math — an adaptive platform that personalizes learning and helps each student master key concepts at their own pace. By reinforcing classroom instruction and tracking progress in real time, ALEKS builds confidence and deepens understanding.

"ALEKS has helped me reinforce my understanding of core math concepts. I like being able to move at my own pace and track my progress as I go."
— Daniel, Gr. 10

INVESTING IN THE GROWTH OF OUR STUDENT-ATHLETES

Wrestling is a growing sport at Collingwood. This year, thanks to your generosity, our athletes now train on professional-grade, school-branded wrestling mats that support every takedown, sprawl, and hard-won match.

"Wrestling has dramatically improved my confidence and even my academics. The values I've learned here are a huge part of who I am." — Benny, Gr. 11

WENTWORTH MUSICAL

This year's Junior School musical, Matilda Jr, lit up the stage with talent, laughter and heart. With your support, students were able to explore storytelling, self-expression and the joy of performance in a full-scale production.

"Each rehearsal gave me a chance to build skills, connect with new people, and most importantly, have fun."
— Chloe, Gr. 6

LAND-BASED LEARNING

Outdoor learning is a powerful way that our students build confidence, resilience and form a deeper relationship with the natural world. This year, the Tartan Fund's support ensured that land-based experiences, such as Explore 9 and Outdoor Education, remained a vibrant part of student life.

"These trips pushed me out of my comfort zone and helped me become more openminded, social and willing to take on new challenges." — Raeka, Gr. 9

THE ROAD TO NEW POSSIBILITIES

The Tartan Fund not only made off-campus programs possible, but it also funded the purchase of three new school buses, ensuring that students can travel to and from these excursions with safety and comfort.

"I'm grateful for the new buses because they've opened the door to unforgettable experiences. From Shawnigan with Girls Rugby to Whistler with Humanities." — Mackenzie, Gr. 9

Project Excellence

Inspired learning spaces that are propelling students to pursue their passions

Made possible through the generosity of our community, Project Excellence was a strategic investment in the future of teaching and learning at Collingwood. One year after completion, the Centre for Excellence in STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) & Entrepreneurship (STEEM) and the Learning Commons are working exactly as we had envisioned. These dynamic learning environments foster innovation, independence and deeper engagement across disciplines. These are spaces where students build prototypes, pitch ventures, collaborate on real-world problems and take ownership of their education. Thanks to your support, Collingwood is preparing students to lead a changing world.

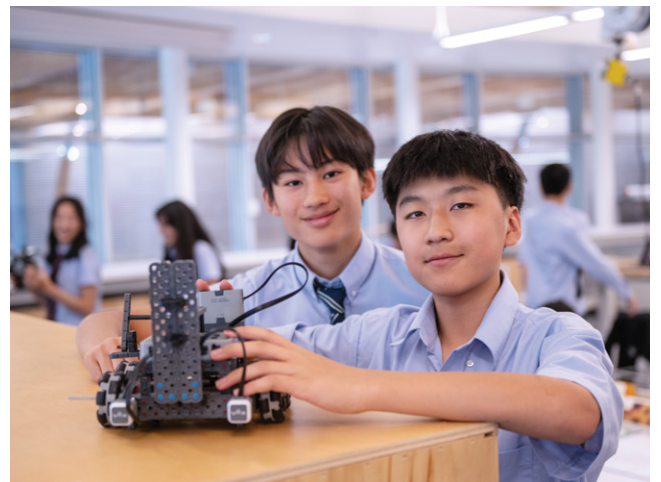

CENTRE FOR EXCELLENCE IN STEM & ENTREPRENEURSHIP (STEEM)

The Centre for Excellence was designed to empower students to become confident, resilient innovators. With a focus on entrepreneurship, robotics, and makerspace learning, this learning environment offers an exciting array of resources, equipment and materials and has had a profound impact on student learning in curricular courses, elective courses, AP courses and co-curricular clubs.

“I didn’t think of myself as someone who could invent something. But now I see how ideas grow and that I can lead something real.” — Gr. 11 student

Educational Impact:

- Builds future-ready competencies such as collaboration, design thinking, entrepreneurial mindset
- Integrated into STEEM curriculum and extracurricular pathways
- 85+ student-led ventures developed
- Dozens of original products prototyped using 3D tools
- Robotics embedded into coursework and competitions
- Mentorships and real-world placements provide post-secondary bridges

LEARNING COMMONS

The Learning Commons is a flexible learning space that embodies the evolution of our pedagogical approach. Designed to promote inquiry-based learning, interdisciplinary collaboration, and student agency, this learning environment enables teachers to move beyond traditional models and engage students in dynamic, real-world instruction.

“When I come here, I’m in charge of how I learn. I always find the support I need. It’s made me more independent and more prepared.” — Gr. 12 student

Educational Impact:

- Enables cross-curricular collaboration and team-teaching
- Supports inquiry-driven and project-based learning in all subject areas
- Used by 15+ student clubs and leadership groups
- 220+ academic classes taught
- Daily touchpoint for independent and supported learning
- Builds key competencies such collaboration, critical thinking, self-direction

Why we give

The Ahamed family

When the Ahamed family first visited Collingwood School, something just felt right. “We sensed this was a place where our children could feel safe and supported,” they reflect. “That sense of security allows students to explore, take risks and ultimately find their path.” Their support of the Tartan Fund reflects a long-term perspective. “The more innovative learning experiences the School can cultivate, the better off each generation of graduates will be,” they explain. “The compounding effect of Tartan Fund programs enhances every dollar we’re able to donate.”

One such educational experience came unexpectedly when a visiting author ignited a passion for reading in their child. “Having the chance to hear directly from the author and walk away with a signed book made it personal,” they explained, “It was a spark we’ll never forget.” Spring Fair is also an annual reminder for them of what makes Collingwood so special.

“It’s such a joyful day — parents volunteering, grads reconnecting, students showcasing their maker market creations,” they share. “Every part of the School comes together. It reminds us that Collingwood is more than a school. It’s a shared effort.”

A culture of giving

The Paterson family

For the Paterson family, supporting Collingwood is about honouring what inspires their children and ensuring those experiences remain possible for future students. “We’re so grateful for the passionate, high-calibre faculty and staff who create unique and innovative learning experiences,” they share. “Our contributions to the Tartan Fund help them take their vision for academic, athletic and artistic excellence to the next level.”

Since joining the Collingwood community six years ago, the Patersons have seen their daughter (’24) and son (’27) thrive — growing into confident, resilient learners while building strong connections with classmates, teachers and coaches. “It’s been incredibly meaningful to see our children pursue their interests and develop a strong foundation for life beyond Collingwood,” they reflect. In addition to supporting the Tartan Fund, the family was proud to give to Project Excellence. Lydia Paterson, who serves on Collingwood’s Board of Governors, sees their gift as a natural expression of leadership. “As parents and community members, we all have a role to play in upholding the Collingwood tradition of excellence,” she says. “We’re grateful for the families who helped build this culture of giving — and we want to do our part to carry it forward.”

Their giving reflects not just appreciation, but a belief in the School’s long-term vision. “Collingwood is a place that embraces potential,” the family shares. “The more we can support innovation in teaching and learning, the more we can prepare students for a future that demands creativity, adaptability and heart.” Looking ahead, the Patersons hope

Collingwood remains a place where students are inspired to explore their passions and challenged to grow — not just academically, but as thoughtful, capable people. “When we give, we’re investing in the kind of environment that brings out the best in each student,” they say. “And we’re proud to help shape a school community that will continue to thrive for years to come.”

Thank you for your generosity in 2024–25

We believe that each name that follows represents more than simply a gift. Every donation reflects a trust, partnership and a shared commitment in Collingwood's mission. Many Collingwood families continue to give over many years. We believe this is a reflection of the deep-rooted generosity that strengthens our School and inspires what's next. This is why we recognize donors who have given consecutively for 3, 5 and 10+ years as indicated. You'll see the heart only in the year you reach that milestone; it will appear once again when you reach the next one. Thank you.
