Bullying and Cyberbullying Prevention Procedures

New Heights has adopted the following procedures for preventing acts of bullying, including cyberbullying.

1. Cyberbullying Prevention Procedures

New Heights advises students:

- a. To never share passwords, personal data, or private photos online.
- b. To think about what they are doing carefully before posting and by emphasizing that comments cannot be retracted once they are posted.
- c. That personal information revealed on social media can be shared with anyone including parents, teachers, administrators, and potential employers. Students should never reveal information that would make them uncomfortable if the world had access to it.
- d. To consider how it would feel receiving such comments before making comments about others online.

New Heights informs Charter School employees, students, and parents/guardians of New Heights’s policies regarding the use of technology in and out of the classroom. New Heights encourages parents/guardians to discuss these policies with their children to ensure their children understand and comply with such policies.

2. Education

New Heights employees cannot always be present when bullying incidents occur, so educating students about bullying is a key prevention technique to limit bullying from happening. New Heights advises students that hateful and/or demeaning behavior is inappropriate and unacceptable in our society and at New Heights and encourages students to practice compassion and respect each other.

New Heights educates students to accept all student peers regardless of protected characteristics (including but not limited to actual or perceived sexual orientation, gender identification, physical or cognitive disabilities, race, ethnicity, religion, and immigration status) and about the negative impact of bullying other pupils based on protected characteristics.

New Heights's bullying prevention education also discusses the differences between appropriate and inappropriate behaviors and includes sample situations to help students learn and practice appropriate behavior and to develop techniques and strategies to respond in a non-aggressive way to bullying-type behaviors. Students will also develop confidence and learn how to advocate for themselves and others, and when to go to an adult for help.

New Heights informs New Heights employees, students, and parents/guardians of this Policy and encourages parents/guardians to discuss this Policy with their children to ensure their children understand and comply with this Policy.

3. Professional Development

New Heights annually makes available the online training module developed by the California Department of Education pursuant Education Code section 32283.5(a) to its certificated employees and all other New Heights employees who have regular interaction with pupils.

New Heights informs certificated employees about the common signs that a student is a target of bullying including:

- Physical cuts or injuries
- Lost or broken personal items
- Fear of going to school/practice/games
- Loss of interest in school, activities, or friends
- Trouble sleeping or eating
- Anxious/sick/nervous behavior or distracted appearance
- Self-destructiveness or displays of odd behavior
- Decreased self-esteem

New Heights also informs certificated employees about the groups of students determined by New Heights, and available research, to be at elevated risk for bullying. These groups include but are not limited to:

- Students who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or questioning youth ("LGBTQ") and those youth perceived as LGBTQ; and
- Students with physical or learning disabilities.

New Heights encourages its employees to demonstrate effective problem-solving, anger management, and self-confidence skills for New Heights's students.
